hit a home run over the left field fence. As he rounded third, he shook hands with teammate Hershel Martin. Umpire Pat Pfohl then ruled Foster out due to Martin's interference, negating the home run. Bloomington's bench exploded in disbelief and anger over the decision to invalidate the homerun. Yet despite the apparent righteousness of their cause, the Cardinals failed to file a formal protest until the game was over. Three hours after the last called strike, a flustered Three-I League President L. J. Wylie ruled the game replayed. Coleman refused, and Wylie, with no other option, declared Bloomington champions by default.[44] The Springfield skipper complained that league officials, viewing the game from box seats, could have immediately overruled the interference call. Yet they did no such thing, and Springfield continued the game, oblivious to the fact that the results would prove meaningless.[45]

Thus, the league's post-season showpiece ended in the whimper of disqualification, not the bang of late-inning heroics. The final attendance figures added to the pervasive gloom. The Cardinals, despite strong play, drew about 20,000 for the entire season.[46] No doubt the economic crisis slowed ticket sales, but other factors, such as poor weather, played a role.[47] Springfield fared even worse, drawing a meager 16,000. The resultant $8,300 in gate receipts fell far short of operating costs, including salaries, travel expenses, and upkeep of the park. Both club's had drawn significantly higher in past Three-I League seasons. In 1919 and 1920, the Bloomington Bloomers averaged 70,000

[45] Coleman directed most of his bitterness at Bloomington. "They couldn't have beaten us anyway," he said. "And then they said they wouldn't play the seventh game in Springfield if it was needed. We would have to play in Bloomington. If that's the way they want to win pennants, it's all right with me. I've had my fill of the whole outfit." See Illinois State Journal, 18 September 1935, p. 12.

[47] The cold and rain wrecked havoc with the league's early schedule in general and Bloomington's in particular. A June 19 washout at Peoria marked the Cardinals' sixteenth postponement of the season. See The Pantagraph, 19 June 1935, p. 10.

paid attendance, and Springfield had set back-to-back Class B attendance records in 1925 (113,000) and 1926 (123,000).[48]

After the botched post-season playoff, the Illinois-Indiana-Iowa League was unable to organize for the 1936 season. The Depression still loomed large for the low minors, and the Three Eye's on-again, off-again status continued through the end of World War II.

As the Three-I League struggled to remain solvent, Grimes left the relative obscurity of Class B ball for the relative obscurity of livestock farming.[49] Yet before too long he was back in baseball. For two seasons (1937-1938), he managed the Brooklyn Dodgers, concluding his brief tenure with an unimpressive .432 winning percentage (130-171). He struggled under the accumulated weight of shortstop Leo Durocher's disaffection and first base coach Babe Ruth's disinterest. After the disappointment of Brooklyn, Grimes returned to the minors to coach for another decade.

Bob Coleman left Springfield for the warmer, drier climate of San Antonio and the Texas League. In 1938, he returned to the old Three Eye to pilot Evansville, where he would spend 16 of the next 20 seasons. Between extended stays in Evansville he managed the Boston Braves for a year-and-a-half. When Coleman stepped down in late July 1945, the perennial second-division Braves were 42 and 51, with 20 defeats occurring by 1 run or in extra innings. Explained Coleman: "When even the batboy in Brooklyn says: 'That guy is going nuts,' it's time to let somebody else take the rap."[50]

Across the board, the key players for Bloomington's 1935 pennant-winning club fared poorly in the big leagues. Catcher Paul Chervinko appeared in 30 Games (26

[48]"I-I-I League History," p. 6.

[49]"I like to ride and train blooded horses," Grimes remarked during the 1935 season. "I have raised some fine animals for the show ring. Baseball has been my business for 20 years but I tell you there is nothing like a well stocked farm to restore one's vigor." See The Pantagraph, 16 May 1935, p. 14.

behind the plate) for Grimes' 1937 Brooklyn club. After returning for 12 more games the following year, he was finished as a Major League player.[51] Outfielder Eddie Morgan's career was even more fleeting. He appeared in 8 games for the 1936 Cardinals and 31 games for the 1937 Dodgers. From 1936 through 1940, Bill Cox appeared in 50 big league games (12 as a starter) for the Cards, White Sox, and Browns. Lou Scoffic, Grimes' most dependable hitter, played 4 games for the 1936 St. Louis Cardinals. Lefthander Max Macon appeared in 38 games for the 1938 Cardinals, winning 4 and losing 11. He then went 13-8 over three seasons with the Dodgers before ending his career with the Boston Braves.[52]

Although veterans of the 1935 Bloomington Cardinals struggled in the big leagues, several of their Three Eye opponents enjoyed long and productive careers. Big Frank McCormick of the Decatur Commies spent thirteen years in the Majors, including a 1940 N.L. MVP season when his Cincinnati Reds captured the World Series. Terre Haute's Dizzy Trout went on to win 170 big league games in 15 seasons. Chet Laabs of Fort Wayne spent most of his 11 years in the Majors in the St. Louis Browns outfield. Springfield Catcher Birdie Tebbetts recorded exactly 1,000 big league hits in a 14-year career that included 3 seasons lost to military service. He then managed three different big league clubs over the better parts of eleven seasons.

The postwar era proved a boon to the minor leagues. In 1945, there were but a dozen circuits in the nation. Four years later, there were a record 59 leagues in 448 communities. In 1950, the Three Eye set an all-time attendance record of almost 783,000.

[51] Although Chervinko's career was unremarkable, he enjoyed an auspicious debut. On Memorial Day 1937, more than 61,500 were on hand at the Polo Grounds to cheer on the New York Giants. Chervinko lined a bases-loaded triple to play a prominent role in ending Carl Hubbell's 24-game winning streak. Later, he returned to the Three Eye to manage Danville and Quincy.

During this period, big league powerhouses were well represented in the Class B loop. Danville was an affiliate of the Brooklyn Dodgers, Decatur received much-needed backing from the St. Louis Cardinals, and Evansville enjoyed a profitable relationship with the Boston-Milwaukee Braves.[53] Yet by the late 1950s, the Illinois-Indiana-Iowa League had lost several leading clubs to the Class D Midwest League. With the end approaching, the league was the Three Eye in name only, as teams from Minnesota, Kansas, and Nebraska joined its ranks. The league suspended operations after the 1961 season, marking the end of the nation's oldest Class B league.

In 1964, the veterans committee selected Burleigh Grimes for induction into the Baseball Hall of Fame. The last big leaguer to legally throw a spitball passed away in 1985 at the age of 92. Nearing the end of his life, he was the honored guest at a local high school banquet. During his speech he caught notice of a banner that read, "Humble in Victory, Gracious in Defeat." Declared Grimes: "Folks, that's a great motto—when you're playing for free."[54]

[52]Macon returned to the minor leagues, and by 1954 he was manager of the International League's Montreal team, instructing a then-unknown outfielder by the name of Roberto Clemente.

[53]In addition, Terre Haute provided several key players to the 1950 pennant winning Phillies, and Waterloo was an affiliate of the Chicago White Sox during the early "Go-Go" era.

Plumbers, Monticello Beaten in Twin Bills

Red Sox Top Royal, 7-6, Win Pennant

The Cornbelt league season is history—the Champaign Red Sox clinched the pennant Sunday, beating Royal 7-6 as Gibson City triumphed over Fisher 9-0 to take second place—but there remain three weeks of strife in the Eastern Illinois circuit before its pennant issue is settled.

Both the Champaign Plumbers and the Monticello Cowboys lost double-headers Sunday as second-division teams hit hard and often in surprise uprisings. Leverett, which has been struggling along near the cellar since it lost its ace pitcher, Don Pearson, introduced a new flinger, Ed Hansen, Sunday, and proceeded to down the Plumbers 6-4 and 11-8.

Monticello missed a chance to take the lead by dropping two games to Ivesdale, 3-2 in 10 innings and 6-3 in a regular nine-inning struggle.

Hansen Wins Two

Ed Hansen pitched both games for the Leverett diamondeers as they knocked over the Plumbers, who committed 19 errors in the twin offering. Warren Buswell, the Plumbers' regular flinger, and Harry Combes, hard-hitting shortstop, did not play.

Joe Alexander, who beat the Plumbers two weeks ago, tossed Ivesdale to victory over the Cowboys in the first game of the program at Monticello, allowing only four hits, and Jack Masters gave up only six blows as Ivesdale won the second. Masters allowed only one hit until the ninth inning.

Red Pace led Tuscola hitting as the Merchants blasted Thomasboro 17-11 as the participants got 32 hits between them, and Buckley remained in a contending position by stopping Thawville, 6-1. Lefty House fanned 18 batters as Buckley triumphed. Seymour and Flatville were rained out.

Win in Ninth

To clinch the Cornbelt flag, the Red Sox were pushed all the way by Royal and scored their winning runs in the ninth frame. Elsa Utley, the colored boys' hard-hitting shortstop, got four for four, including a homer and a double. Thurman Fonville, Jr., pitched for the Sox. Henry Osterbur hurled good ball for the Josers and Harm Frericks and Dixon led the hitting attack.

Gibson City won its 11th game, blanking Fisher 9-0 as Pete Wagner and Leo Ferri hurled air-tight ball. Wagner allowed only two hits and Ferri, who relieved him in the seventh, allowed none. Ferri struck out the first six batters who faced him.

Ludlow downed St. Mary's 9-4 with Glen Custer getting five for five. One of Glen's hits was a homer, the longest ever hit at the St. Mary's park. Philo and LeRoy were rained out.

Bees Can Beat Reds Anyhow; Sox Lose Two

By SID FEDER
Of The Associated Press

For the sake of old Casey Stengel's thinning hair, it's a good thing the Cincinnati Reds are still in the National league.

And, for the sake of those World Series bubbles currently being inflated in the Rhineland, it's quite fortunate for the Reds that misfortunes have been dogging the Brooklyn Dodgers—misfortunes like the "beaning" of Ducky Medwick back in mid-June, which finally has led to the benching of the muscles man for weak hitting.

On the one hand, there's old Casey tearing his hair out in bunches at the woeful ways of his Boston Bees against the other clubs in the National league, only to paste it back on again whenever his club tangles with the Reds.

On the other hand, you have the Reds, who came East July 22 with a five game lead in the National league, dropped eight of 18 starts, and are now on the way home with a 6½-game lead over the second place Dodgers. This is largely because the Brooklyns could only win six while losing nine to the western invaders.

Bees Win Four of Six

Old Casey is only sorry the Reds' Boston stay wasn't longer than the three double header program over the weekend. In that time, his Bees put only look four of six, including a split in yesterday's finale, but climbed out of the loop cellar. The Bees, who show an edge over only the Phillies in the season series with the other clubs, belted Bucky Walters 5-3 in the opener yesterday for Bucky's third straight defeat, and forced the Reds to go all out to take the nightcap, 12-8.

Since the Phillies lost two to the fast-moving Pittsburgh Pirates, 8-1 and 8-4, the Bees' split dropped the Phils into the cellar.

The Dodgers didn't have a chance against the Chicago Cubs in their opener and dropped it, 11-3.

The Cubs kept right on prowling in the afterpiece and shot six runs across in the first three frames. But the Dodgers tied it up on Pee Wee Reese's ninth-inning homer and won out 7-6 in the 11th when Dolph Camilli clouted one over the right field fence.

Cards, Giants Split

The St. Louis Cardinals wound up a high-flying Eastern swing by splitting with the Giants, losing 3-2 and winning 6-3.

With the possible exception of Washington's Senators, the Eastern half of the American league limped home today, glad the trip was all over. Only the Nats came through with an edge in the invasion, and they had to knock off Jimmy Dykes' Chicago White Sox twice yesterday to do it. Dutch Leonard was carried 10 innings before chalking up his fifth straight win over the Sox 4-3 in the opener. Ken Chase turned in the day's hurling masterpiece in the afterpiece, a three-hitter for a 1-0 decision.

The New York Yankees, rapidly waning world champions, wound up in the West with the doubtful honor of not having taken a series. Bobby Feller lassoed the Cleveland Indians in a 3-1 win yesterday.

Grove Tames Tigers

This victory boosted the Tribe to within half a game of the league leading Detroit Tigers, who fell victims to the ancient but still powerful pitching mastery of old Mose Grove. Mose helped himself to his third straight win with an eight-hitter for a 7-3 victory.

For the What's The Use Dept., the St. Louis Browns stayed out of the cellar by trimming the Philadelphia Athletics 5-4, on a three home run attack, and 8-4, on Elden Auker's steady hurling.

Red Sox Top Royal, 7-6, Win Pennant

The Cornbelt league season is history—the Champaign Red Sox clinched the pennant Sunday, beating Royal 7-6 as Gibson City triumphed over Fisher 9-0 to take second place—but there remain three weeks of strife in the Eastern Illinois circuit before its pennant issue is settled.

Both the Champaign Plumbers and the Monticello Cowboys lost double-headers Sunday as second-division teams hit hard and often in surprise uprisings. Leverett, which has been struggling along near the cellar since it lost its ace pitcher, Don Pearson, introduced a new flinger, Ed Hansen, Sunday, and proceeded to down the Plumbers 6-4 and 11-8.

Monticello missed a chance to take the lead by dropping two games to Ivesdale, 3-2 in 10 innings and 6-3 in a regular nine-inning struggle.

Hansen Wins Two

Ed Hansen pitched both games for the Leverett diamondeers as they knocked over the Plumbers, who committed 19 errors in the twin offering. Warren Buswell, the Plumbers' regular flinger, and Harry Combes, hard-hitting shortstop, did not play.

Joe Alexander, who beat the Plumbers two weeks ago, tossed Ivesdale to victory over the Cowboys in the first game of the program at Monticello, allowing only four hits, and Jack Masters gave up only six blows as Ivesdale won the second. Masters allowed only one hit until the ninth inning.

Red Pace led Tuscola hitting as the Merchants blasted Thomasboro 17-11 as the participants got 32 hits between them, and Buckley remained in a contending position by stopping Thawville, 6-1. Lefty House fanned 18 batters as Buckley triumphed. Seymour and Flatville were rained out.

Win in Ninth

To clinch the Cornbelt flag, the Red Sox were pushed all the way by Royal and scored their winning runs in the ninth frame. Elsa Utley, the colored boys' hard-hitting shortstop, got four for four, including a homer and a double. Thurman Fonville, Jr., pitched for the Sox. Henry Osterbur hurled good ball for the losers and Harm Frerichs and Dixon led the hitting attack.

Gibson City won its 11th game, blanking Fisher 9-0 as Pete Wagner and Leo Ferri hurled air-tight ball. Wagner allowed only two hits and Ferri, who relieved him in the seventh, allowed none. Ferri struck out the first six batters who faced him.

Ludlow downed St. Mary's 9-4, with Glen Custer getting five for five. One of Glen's hits was a homer, the longest ever hit at the St. Mary's park. Philo and LeRoy were rained out.

Bees Can Beat Reds Anyhow; Sox Lose Two

By SID FEDER
Of The Associated Press

For the sake of old Casey Stengel's thinning hair, it's a good thing the Cincinnati Reds are still in the National league.

And, for the sake of those World Series bubbles currently being inflated in the Rhineland, it's quite fortunate for the Reds that misfortunes have been dogging the Brooklyn Dodgers—misfortunes like the "beaning" of Ducky Medwick back in mid-June, which finally has led to the benching of the muscles man for weak hitting.

On the one hand, there's old Casey tearing his hair out in bunches at the woeful ways of his Boston Bees against the other clubs in the National league, only to paste it back on again whenever his club tangles with the Reds.

On the other hand, you have the Reds, who came East July 23 with a five game lead in the National league, dropped eight of 16 starts, and are now on the way home with a 6½-game lead over the second place Dodgers. This is largely because the Brooklyns could only win six while losing nine to the western invaders.

Bees Win Four of Six

Old Casey is only sorry the Reds' Boston stay wasn't longer than the three double header program over the weekend. In that time, his Bees not only took four of six, including a split in yesterday's finale, but climbed out of the loop cellar. The Bees, who show an edge over only the Phillies in the season series with the other clubs, belted Bucky Walters 5-3 in the opener yesterday for Bucky's third straight defeat, and forced the Reds to go all out to take the nightcap, 12-9.

Since the Phillies lost two to the fast-moving Pittsburgh Pirates, 6-1 and 6-4, the Bees' split dropped the Phils into the cellar.

The Dodgers didn't have a chance against the Chicago Cubs in their opener and dropped it, 11-3.

The Cubs kept right on prowling in the afterpiece and shot six runs across in the first three frames. But the Dodgers tied it up on Peewee Reese's ninth-inning homer and won out 7-6 in the 11th when Dolph Camilli clouted one over the right field fence.

Cards, Giants Split

The St. Louis Cardinals wound up a high-flying Eastern swing by splitting with the Giants, losing 3-2 and winning 6-3.

With the possible exception of Washington's Senators, the Eastern half of the American league limped home today, glad the trip was all over. Only the Nats came through with an edge in the invasion, and they had to knock off Jimmy Dykes' Chicago White Sox twice yesterday to do it. Dutch Leonard was carried 10 innings before chalking up his fifth straight win over the Sox 4-3 in the opener. Ken Chase turned in the day's hurling masterpiece in the afterpiece, a three-hitter for a 1-0 decision.

The New York Yankees, rapidly waning world champions, wound up in the West with the doubtful honor of not having taken a series. Bobby Feller tossed the Cleveland Indians to a 3-1 win yesterday.

Grove Tames Tigers

This victory boosted the Tribe to within half a game of the league leading Detroit Tigers, who fell victims to the ancient but still powerful pitching mastery of old Mose Grove. Mose helped himself to his third straight win with an eight-hitter for a 7-3 victory.

Courier (Urbana, IL) August 5, 1940 Page 6

four hits, and Jack Masters gave up only six blows as Ivesdale won the second. Masters allowed only one hit until the ninth inning.

Red Pace led Tuscola hitting as the Merchants blasted Thomasboro 17-11 as the participants got 32 hits between them, and Buckley remained in a contending position by stopping Thawville, 6-1. Lefty House fanned 18 batters as Buckley triumphed. Seymour and Flatville were rained out.

Win in Ninth

To clinch the Cornbelt flag, the Red Sox were pushed all the way by Royal and scored their winning runs in the ninth frame. Elsa Utley, the colored boys' hard-hitting shortstop, got four for four, including a homer and a double. Thurman Fonville, Jr., pitched for the Sox. Henry Osterbur hurled good ball for the losers and Harm Frerichs and Dixon led the hitting attack.

Gibson City won its 11th game, blanking Fisher 9-0 as Pete Wagner and Leo Ferri hurled air-tight ball. Wagner allowed only two hits and Ferri, who relieved him in the seventh, allowed none. Ferri struck out the first six batters who faced him.

Ludlow downed St. Mary's 9-4 with Glen Custer getting five for five. One of Glen's hits was a homer, the longest ever hit at the St. Mary's park. Philo and LeRoy were rained out.

All-Star Poll Comes to End

Chicago (AP)

It's all over but the counting in the nationwide poll to select a staff of coaches for the All-Star football game in Soldier Field Aug. 29.

The voting ended last night at midnight, but final tabulation of results will not be completed until Wednesday.

However, the head coaching job will go to Eddie Anderson of Iowa, barring a tremendous last-minute spurt by Don Faurot of Missouri. The staff will consist of the head coach and four assistants, each from a different section of the country.

Opposing the All-Stars in this year's game will be the Green Bay Packers, champions of the National league.

The one-two leaders in each section follow:

East — Tad Wieman, Princeton, 843,898; James Crowley, Fordham, 527,509.

Midwest—Don Faurot, Missouri, 2,436,987; Frank Hood, Rockhurst college (Kansas City), 1,467,158.

Far West—Buck Shaw, Santa Clara, 702,869; James Phelan, Washington, 474,193.

South—Lowell Dawson, Tulane, 709,764; Harry Mehre, Mississippi, 606,929.

fast-moving Pittsburgh Pirates, 8-1 and 6-4, the Bees' split dropped the Phils into the cellar.

The Dodgers didn't have a chance against the Chicago Cubs in their opener and dropped it, 11-3.

The Cubs kept right on prowling in the afterpiece and shot six runs across in the first three frames. But the Dodgers tied it up on Peewee Reese's ninth-inning homer and won out 7-6 in the 11th when Dolph Camilli clouted one over the right field fence.

Dutch Leonard was carried 10 innings before chalking up his fifth straight win over the Sox 4-3 in the opener. Ken Chase turned in the day's hurling masterpiece in the afterpiece, a three-hitter for a 1-0 decision.

The New York Yankees, rapidly waning world champions, wound up in the West with the doubtful honor of not having taken a series. Bobby Feller tossed the Cleveland Indians to a 2-1 win yesterday.

Grove Tames Tigers

This victory boosted the Tribe to within half a game of the league leading Detroit Tigers, who fell victims to the ancient but still powerful pitching mastery of old Mose Grove. Mose helped himself to his thirtl straight win with an eight-hitter for a 7-3 victory.

For the What's The Use Dept., the St. Louis Browns stayed out of the cellar by trimming the Philadelphia Athletics 5-4, on a three home run attack, and 8-4, on Elden Auker's steady hurling.

Reds Lose, 5-3, To Charleston

Charleston (Special)

The Champaign Reds dropped a 5-3 decision here Sunday to the Charleston Redbirds in an interesting game. The winners took a 4-0 lead with a three-run splurge in the fifth. Champaign came back with runs in the sixth and seventh but couldn't get a rally going after that. Max Armantrout led the losers, hitting with three for four. The box score:

Manufacturers tell us that over ninety per cent of all bait casting rods now are made of steel. Fishermen find the steel ones are less expensive than bamboo, are less likely to set or warp, never dry out, and have more spring and power.

For trolling, which is popular in some sections, a shorter, heavier rod is desirable, but we prefer bait casting with the light rods. Then we can drop an attractive ⅜ ounce lure into some little side pocket in a stream or lake where the fish is most likely to be lurking. We get more action and fun that way.

of the double header.

"There was a swinging bunt that Hershy could have fielded himself," he said, "but he let it roll and the pitcher had to field it."

"Afterwards, I put my hands on his shoulders, and his eyes were just popping out of his head.

"I said to him 'Hershy, d'ya see that tuft of grass? That's where Moore had to field that ball. Anything wrong? And he said to me 'Yes, Bill there's plenty. I'll tell you tonight.' "

And Bill could remember, he said, how he took "Hershy" into the grand stand after the game when the fans had gone home and tried to get the story. But no dice.

"He didn't tell me until last night just before dinner," said Bill. "He cried like a kid. Seemed he cried like an hour. And then he told me

Cornbelt Ends League Season

Gibson City gets its last chance to grab a share of the Cornbelt league pennant today as the circuit brings to a close its 1940 campaign.

Gibson needs a win over Fisher today to finish with 11 victories and three losses. The Champaign Red Sox, who have held the lead alone for all but one week of the campaign, meet Royal and a Sox victory will clinch the pennant for the colored team. If the Sox lose and Gibson wins, the two will share the crown.

Royal and St. Mary's will meet Tuesday night at Royal to play off a rained-out game of May 26. The game is scheduled for 8 o'clock.

The schedule of games for today:

Cornbelt League

Red Sox at Royal.
Fisher at Gibson City.
Ludlow at St Mary's.
Philo at LeRoy.

Eastern Illinois

Champaign at Leverett.
Thomasboro at Tuscola.
Thawville at Buckley.
Ivesdale at Monticello.
Seymour at Flatville.

Sickle T. and Attention Win

Saratoga Springs, N. Y. (AP)

The first Saturday of the Saratoga meeting was a howling success yesterday—for everyone except the favorites.

A crowd of 15,500 turned out to send $574,898 through the mutuel machines and to see the favorites beaten in both big races, the United States Hotel stakes and the Saratoga handicap.

Mrs. B. F. Whitaker's greatly improved Sickle T., running right back to the form he showed at Empire City, captured the handicap in easy fashion as George D. Widener's heavily backed Eight Thirty

Red Sox Top Royal, 7-6, Win Pennant

The Cornbelt league season is history—the Champaign Red Sox clinched the pennant Sunday, beating Royal 7-6 as Gibson City triumphed over Flafier 9-0 to take second place—but there remain three weeks of strife in the Eastern Illinois circuit before its pennant issue is settled.

Both the Champaign Plumbers and the Monticello Cowboys lost double-headers Sunday as second-division teams hit hard and often in surprise uprisings. Leverett, which has been struggling along near the cellar since it lost its ace pitcher, Don Pearson, introduced a new flinger, Ed. Hansen, Sunday, and proceeded to down the Plumbers 8-4 and 11-8.

Monticello missed a chance to take the lead by dropping two games to Ivesdale, 3-2 in 10 innings and 8-3 in a regular nine-inning struggle.

Hansen Wins Two

Ed Hansen pitched both games for the Leverett diamondeers as they knocked over the Plumbers, who committed 19 errors in the twin offering. Warren Buswell, the Plumbers' regular flinger, and Harry Combes, hard-hitting shortstop, did not play.

Joe Alexander, who beat the Plumbers two weeks ago, tossed Ivesdale to victory over the Cowboys in the first game of the program at Monticello, allowing only four hits, and Jack Masters gave up only six blows as Ivesdale won the second. Masters allowed only one hit until the ninth inning.

Red Pace led Tuscola hitting as the Merchants blasted Thomasboro 17-11 as the participants got 32 hits between them, and Buckley remained in a contending position by stopping Thawville, 6-1. Lefty House fanned 18 batters as Buckley triumphed. Seymour and Flatville were rained out.

Win in Ninth

To clinch the Cornbelt flag, the Red Sox were pushed all the way by Royal and scored their winning runs in the ninth frame. Elsa Utley, the colored boys' hard-hitting shortstop, got four for four, including a homer and a double. Thurman Fonville, Jr., pitched for the Sox. Henry Osterbur hurled good ball for the losers and Harm Frericks and Dixon led the hitting attack.

Gibson City won its 11th game, blanking Fisher 9-0 as Pete Wagner and Leo Ferri hurled air-tight ball. Wagner allowed only two hits and Ferri, who relieved him in the seventh, allowed none. Ferri struck out the first six batters who faced him.

Ludlow downed St. Mary's 9-4, with Glen Custer getting five for five. One of Glen's hits was a homer, the longest ever hit at the St. Mary's park. Philo and LeRoy were rained out.

Reds Anyhow, Sox Lose Two

By SID FEDER
Of The Associated Press

For the sake of old Casey Stengel's thinning hair, it's a good thing the Cincinnati Reds are still in the National league.

And, for the sake of those World Series bubbles currently being inflated in the Rhineland, it's quite fortunate for the Reds that misfortunes have been dogging the Brooklyn Dodgers—misfortunes like the "beaning" of Ducky Medwick back in mid-June, which finally has led to the benching of the muscles man for weak hitting.

On the one hand, there's old Casey tearing his hair out in bunches at the woeful ways of his Boston Bees against the other clubs in the National league, only to paste it back on again whenever his club tangles with the Reds.

On the other hand, you have the Reds, who came East July 23 with a five game lead in the National league, dropped eight of 16 starts, and are now on the way home with a 2½-game lead over the second place Dodgers. This is largely because the Brooklyns could only win six while losing nine to the western invaders.

Bees Win Four of Six

Old Casey is only sorry the Reds' Boston stay wasn't longer than the three double header program over the weekend. In that time, his Bees won only four of six, including a split in yesterday's finale, but climbed out of the loop cellar. The Bees, who shqw an edge over only the Phillies in the season series with the other clubs, belled Bucky Walters 5-3 in the opener yesterday for Bucky's third straight defeat, and forced the Reds to go all out to take the nightcap, 12-9.

Since the Phillies lost two to the fast-moving Pittsburgh Pirates, 5-1 and 5-4, the Bees' split dropped the Phils into the cellar.

The Dodgers didn't have a chance against the Chicago Cubs in their opener and dropped it, 11-2.

The Cubs kept right on prowling in the afterpiece and shot six runs across in the first three frames. But the Dodgers tied it up on Pervee Reese's ninth-inning homer and won out 7-6 in the 11th when Dolph Camilli clouted one over the right field fence.

Card-Giants Split

The St. Louis Cardinals wound up a high-flying Eastern swing by splitting with the Giants, losing 3-2 and winning 6-3.

With the possible exception of Washington's Senators, the Eastern half of the American league limped home today, glad the trip was all over. Only the Nats came through with an edge in the invasion, and they had to knock off Jimmy Dykes' Chicago White Sox twice yesterday to do it. Dutch Leonard was carried 10 innings before chalking up his fifth straight win over the Sox 4-3 in the opener. Ken Chase turned in the day's thriller masterpiece in the afterpiece, a three-hitter for a 1-0 decision.

The New York Yankees, rapidly waxing world champions, wound up in the West with the doubtful honor of not having taken a series. Bobby Feller tossed the Cleveland Indians in a 3-1 win yesterday.

Grove Tames Tigers

This victory boosted the Tribe to within half a game of the league leading Detroit Tigers, who fell victims to the ancient but still powerful pitching mastery of old Mose Grove. Mose helped himself to his third straight win with an eight-hitter for a 7-3 victory.

For the What's The Use Dept., the St. Louis Browns stayed out of the cellar by trimming the Philadelphia Athletics 9-4, on a three-home run attack, and 8-4, on Elden

Custer, Utley Tie for Cornbelt Bat Title

Sluggers Set New Marks With .550 Averages.

Elsa Utley, Champaign Red Sox shortstop, and Glen Custer, a member of the Ludlow squad, tied for the 1940 batting championship of the Cornbelt league with averages of .550, according to final figures released yesterday by the league statistician.

The portly .550 averages compiled by the pair of heavy hitters constitutes a new record. Previous high was the .527 chalked up in 1937 by Don Cribbett of Philo. Other former champs were Leary of LeRoy, .475 in 1938, and Houston of LeRoy, .492 in 1939.

Utley was at the plate 60 official times, hit 33 times and scored 22 runs. Custer was up 60 times, scored 27 times and got 33 hits.

The champion Red Sox walked off with pitching honors. Ray Thomas and James Nelson won three each and Powell won two. Other 1.000 pitchers were Martin Hedrick of Fisher and Pete Spratt of LeRoy. Pete Wagner of Gibson City paced the more active pitchers with seven victories and one loss. Henry Osterbur led the hurlers in strikeouts with 98. Wagner, in eight games, had a remarkable average of only one walk per game.

Carvel Rowell Leads Major Batting Battle

New York (AP)

Carvel Durant Rowell, who appeared among the National league's batting leaders last June, is at the top of the heap yesterday while other hitting leaders in both major circuits are riding the toboggan.

Rookie Rowell smacked out 13 hits in 24 times at bat for the Boston Bees during the past week to push his average from .327 to .338. At the same time New York's Hank Danning dribbled [illegible]

Most of the other National league leaders also showed losses so that Dixie Walker of Brooklyn and Ernie Lombardi of Cincinnati have advanced several notches by adding only a couple of points to their averages.

Rip Radcliff of the St. Louis Browns remained on top of the American league heap although he hit safely only eight times in 28 attempts and his average slipped from .360 to .355. Boston's Lou Finney took a clear hold on second place by maintaining his .348 average while Barney McCosky dropped back a point. Further down the list there was general improvement with Luke Appling and Joe DiMaggio making the biggest gains.

Alice Marble Easily Wins Essex Net Title

Alice Marble, of Beverly Hills, Calif., the world queen of women's tennis, scored a clean sweep in the Essex County club's 16th annual tournament yesterday, winning her fourth Essex singles title and then pairing with Sarah Palfrey of Reno, Nev., to win the doubles.

The defending champion had an easy time winning the singles over Pauline Betz of Beverly Hills, Calif., 6-2, 6-2, but she and Miss Palfrey had to fight two full hours and 18 full games before they could overcome the Pauline Wightman Cup tandem of Mary Hardwick and Valerie Scott, 10-12, 6-3,

ED HINES, 74, CHAMPAIGN NEGRO BORN A SLAVE

BY F. W. HILLS.

It has been 61 years since Henry Hines, 74 years old, a pioneer colored man of Champaign, left his old home, his "master" and the old Missouri plantation in Cape Girardeau county, to go "on his own." Yet the memory of those old slave days remain vivid in his imagination.

Mr. Hines owns his home at 511½ South Water street, where he and his wife, also born in slavery, have lived a number of years. They were married in 1858 in Champaign, sixteen years after Mr. Hines, a freed slave, came north.

Mr. Hines was one of a family of six children, five boys and one girl, all born in slavery, as were their parents. Two brothers, one of them living in Champaign, and the sister, remain. Their father died ten years ago down in the southern part of Illinois at the estimated age of 105 years.

Mother Sold at Age of Six.

Henry Hines' mother died when he was only 17, and because of poverty he was unable to remain at home longer. It was then he started out for himself. His mother was born in West Virginia and to the best of her recollection had been sold into slavery first when she was about six years old. She was sold from plantation to plantation time out of mind and finally had been sold, a young woman, in Missouri.

Mr. Hines explained that the surname was not that of his own family but of his master, adopted by his father. He explains that most negro family names are thus derived.

When the Civil war broke out, Henry, his mother and father, and brothers and sisters were at work on the Hines plantation in southern Missouri. They plowed the fields and harvested tobacco. In only one year does Henry remember that a crop of cotton was raised "experimentally" on the plantation.

Father Was Overseer.

His father was at this time in charge of all the slaves on the plantation and there were 20 or 30 employed there in addition to white laborers. The white men were paid $8 a day, Henry remembers. The owner of the plantation dealt largely in cord wood for the river steamers, as the plantation fronted on the Mississippi.

Many a rail did the young slave boy split even before he reached his teens. At this labor Henry must have surpassed most slaves for later, after he was freed and was working for another master, he split 285 rails in one day.

Henry grew up with hard work, he declares, and yet all the slaves on the home plantation were well treated, he says. The "boss" wouldn't have an overseer, but superintended his plantation himself. When he allowed a neighbor to hire out one of his slaves, he cautioned the planter not to treat the slave brutally.

When freedom was declared, Henry's master told his father that he and his family could go free, but offered them a cabin and work if he desired to stay on. Hines' father accepted work and the cabin and Henry helped to rebuild the tenant house they occupied for several years after the war ended.

Started to School at 19.

It was not till several years later, after his mother died, that Henry left the plantation. He was 19 years old before he attended school. However, when he did get the opportunity, he made the most of it. He attended school only a month or so the first time. Later an employer helped him "connect his letters," as he says. When he came to Champaign in 1872, he worked on several places, among them the Harris farm. While there, he earned enough to provide board and lodging for a whole winter and attended school.

Since then Mr. Hines has worked in many occupations, but became an expert plasterer. He has about retired from active labor because of rheumatism, but for all his 74 years is alert.

Floyd Collins, Buried Cave Hero, With Dr. Honn As Guide

Dr. W. M. Honn of this city related an interesting experience with Floyd Collins the ill fated man in the sand cave at Cave City, Ky. who has been imprisoned for the past nine days. Dr. Honn, while attending a medical meeting in Kentucky in May, 1923, spent two days visiting in Mammoth, Great Onyx and Crystal caves with Floyd Collins as the guide.

Collins is described by Dr. Honn as an unusually man of more than six feet in heighth, a true native of his mother state and lacking somewhat in education but nevertheless full of wit and humor. Collins takes great delight in guiding tourists through the caves and explaining his numerous adventures among the treacherous openings in the various caves. Dr. Honn stated that he and Collins were the only ones in Crystal cave on this particular day. Collins pointed out a crevice about four feet wide in the rocks in the interior of the cave and told of how he erected a windlass on the old running gears of a wagon and with the aid of another man was lowered 80 feet down in this opening where he said he discovered a roaring river many more feet below him.

Collins is said by Dr. Honn to be a fearless youth, having spent the greater part of his life in the hills of Kentucky exploring on his farm where a number of these caves are in existence.

Interested in Tax Law to Support City Bands

About 75 active members of the local chapter of the American Federation of Musicians are interested in the measure recently introduced by the parent organization into the state legislature calling for a two-mill tax for the support of municipal bands for public concerts. Following the passage of the bill it will devolve upon cities and towns to vote the levy for their particular communities.

Champaign Local Has 300.

The Champaign local of the federation numbers 300 members, of which 75 or 80 are active, and are available for summer band concert work. The membership is so large because University bandsmen join the local, and even after their four years at school continue to pay dues here. A secretary hired at $300 a year keeps the accounts of members all over the country, from Seattle, Wash., to Miami, Fla., according to W. M. Ewing, local band conductor.

"The two-mill tax asked in the bill will be sufficient to pay a director and members of a band for summer band concerts," Mr. Ewing states. "The Champaign Ad club and Chamber of Commerce bore the expense of the concerts last summer.

The proposed bill does not obligate any community to make the levy, but leaves it up to the separate communities to vote the levy themselves.

TAKES FIRST TRAIN RIDE

Colored Man, 102 Years Old, Makes Trip Alone From Cape Girardeau, Mo., to Champaign.

"That trains shake one all to pieces," was the verdict given by George Hines, aged 102 years, after riding alone from his home near Cape Girardeau, Mo., to Champaign to visit his son, Henry Hines, on South Water street. It was the first time Mr. Hines had ever been on a train, and he says it was pretty good riding.

Mr. Hines will remain in Champaign until Sunday, when he probably will return to his 70-acre farm in Missouri. He is crippled with age and says he has spent all of his life in Missouri.

He was born in slavery and served as such in three generations of the Hines family. His birth place is near St. Charles, Mo., and since the civil war liberated him has been a farmer. He used to raise grain crops, but reports that he is no longer attempting much in the agriculture line.

His last master, Mort Hines, is the

Vern C. Lewis, 1916-1970

Played for Colts in 1941
Won E'town League title

Vern Lewis didn't finish high school. In my discussion with his son, we assume he may have seen the Chicago American Giants when they appeared here in 1934, because his son said Vern ran away to Chicago to try to join the team. He had to have his father's approval and his father wouldn't sign for him. His father, who worked for the railroad, had no interest in sports and wanted his son to get a real job. So Vern had to return home. He had started playing baseball at an early age and we see him pictured as the Captain and Catcher of Leroy Barnes' Red Sox in the 1940 picture noting them as Champions of the Corn Belt League. Vern would have been 24 at the time.

Vern didn't talk about playing ball with his sons, but their mother, Muriel, told them he could really run – his nickname was "Zip" because he was so fast. She said he was a great short stop.

Vern had 5 other brothers who probably played ball as well, but it was Vern who had the passion and excelled. Their sister, Mae, was a good baseball player too. She was left handed. She could hit a ball as far as any guy!

Although Vern's passion turned to his work, he never lost his love for baseball. He would come home from work and listen to the ball games on the radio – he might be listening to several games on several radios at the same time – and he could tell you what every player was doing. When TV came out, he would bring several TVs together and even a radio, if necessary, to make sure he didn't miss anything. His wife, Muriel, said all that noise could drive you crazy.

Vern, Jr., never saw his father play ball – other than to throw the ball around with the boys. He said his father's passion turned to his work. He was a plasterer and took on a lot of extra jobs to take care of the family. He did not want his wife to work. He wanted her to be there for the kids. They did, however, spend many a Sunday afternoon at Douglass Park watching the Eagles play. Vern, Jr., said if he ran, he could get to Douglass park in 5 minutes – so they lived close. He also said there was food at the concession stand – things didn't cost much and it was fun. They didn't have a car so they didn't follow the team to other towns.

Vern Lewis didn't care what sport his sons played, but once they committed themselves to something, they were told they must follow through – They should not be quitters – his father felt this would help guide their attitude in other things in life.

Vern Lewis had a stroke and he died at age 54.

John Cleo "Snapper" Johnson, Sr.

March 26, 1916 – May 8, 1983

Born in Fernwood, Mississippi, a son of Arthur and Gladys (Tillman) Johnson, "Snapper," as he was most often called by family and friends, moved to Champaign in 1922. He attended Champaign schools and was a member of the Champaign Senior High School Letterman's "C" Club. After serving in the Navy during WWII, he attended the University of Illinois where he majored in Recreation and Physical Education.

Before becoming a Letter Carrier for the U.S. Postal Service, "Snapper" worked for many years as a laborer and helped with the building of several major construction projects in the Champaign-Urbana area, including the U of I Assembly Hall.

Over the years, he was involved in the community in many ways. "Snapper" enjoyed baseball as recreation as well as a way of life. He was involved throughout east central Illinois as a baseball player for numerous teams. After his playing days ended, he continued to stay involved in baseball and basketball as an umpire and referee. He also participated in the organization of a boxing club in Champaign and the surrounding area.

He was especially interested in youth sports and recreation. During the 1950s, he served as Assistant Director of the Frederick Douglass Recreation Center and taught Physical Education in the Champaign public schools. He was a past Commander of the American Legion Post #559 and served as Scout Master for Boy Scout Troop #11, one of the first all-Black troops in Champaign.

He served as a Little League Coach and official for over 30 years from the 50s to the 80s. His sons and grandsons often recall that he was the "toughest coach they ever played for." During his coaching and officiating days, even when players and parents did not agree with him, they frequently commented on their respect for him because of his fairness and his ability to keep "control" of the game.

He was married to Helen Elizabeth Scaggs for 39 years until her death in 1976. Together they raised six children: two sons, John Jr. (Bud) of Yuma, AZ; Kenneth of Atlanta, GA, and four daughters, Carol Lynn Nunn, Catherine Hogue and Ella (Sissy) Knox Coleman of Champaign, and Rosalind Lewis of Urbana.

"Snapper's" love for people and his unselfish giving to the community has influenced the lives of his children in many ways. His love for sports has extended over to both of his sons and has helped to shape and influence their careers.

HINTON NAMED SECRETARY FOR CENTRAL ZONE

Lin Hinton, Urbana, was elected secretary of the Central Zone Illinois Federation of Sportsmen's Clubs, at the zone meeting held Friday night at St. Nicholas Hotel, Springfield.

Hinton, along with Royal B. McClelland, Champaign, state federation executive secretary and a half dozen other local sportsmen, attended the session. Hinton is a former secretary, and long active in work of the Urbana Sportsmen's Club.

Other Central zone officers chosen are:

Stanley Sturm, Springfield, re-elected president; Joe Gearhart, Taylorville, vice president; and Walter Rienke, Taylorville, re-elected treasurer.

Thirty-two clubs in the Central zone area of mid-Illinois, were represented at the meeting.

Discuss Hunting Future

Discussions centered chiefly on the future of hunting in the state, McClelland reported Saturday.

Various viewpoints were expressed, with some expression to the effect that the idea of "hunting free to all" may have to be altered in the future, due to large increase in the number of hunters and the supply of game birds and animals available.

One of the major problems brought out, McClelland said, was that of recompensing the farmer so that his help in providing cover for and helping raise wildlife crops "can bring him some

Good morning, Alicia,

I have worked to organize my thoughts over the weekend. Can we brainstorm on how and who to get involved to get this done.....

Strike outs.....
I can't seem to get Cynthia Utley to answer the phone. I told you she called to say she gave a lot of things to Ernie Westfield and that I could call her in the evening – but then I have called at least 4 times and she doesn't answer nor does she call me back.

Phyllis Clark's father was a ball player – I called and left a message for her and she has not returned my call either.

I just called and left a message at Phillip and Linda Abernathy's house last night – it would be her husband's father that we are looking for information on.

I sent a letter to Penny Wood at Stratton Elementary and told her I would need to rely on her contacting me, but have not heard back from her.

I emailed Al Griggs after Minor forwarded his email that he knew people on our list – but he hasn't returned my email.

Runs.....
I have talked to Rosalind Lewis and her husband and they are looking to see if they have any pictures and all – including her brothers – are putting together their recollections of the days when Snapper Johnson played and officiated games

I talked to Hattie Paulk and she said she has talked to her brothers to see if they have any information – I need to get back to her. She asked what my deadline was and thus I think she is on board. She is the one who also talked about putting the players pictures in a sidewalk setting.

I talked to Patricia Lewis last night and Vern Lewis is her husband's father. She is going to talk to her husband and his brother about meeting with me. They don't have any pictures past the one we have, but they can share recollections. Their other interest story is 6 boys from one family that served in WWII

We know Ernie Westfield is willing to help in any way he can – Will he be in the area that we can meet with him to see how best to use his influence? Can we also see what pictures and articles he might have to contribute to help us with our local story? As an aside, we do have a commitment from the ISU professor to do the presentation on August Wilson's play Fences for June 10th – don't know the time yet and this is the same day as NCNW so I need to talk to Rita. Walt says we can do a game at Douglass Park on June 18th and we need to talk to Pete McFarland who coaches First String – I think this would be the time to have Ernie present.

I haven't followed through on Pirtle yet, but thought Lynn Randall could help us there.

I also need to contact Lynn Davis – father Al Shelton, but I think she will be receptive.

What is our approach?
These players represent the fabric of our community. Those who played in the 40s also left here to serve in the war – some were business leaders – they belonged to service organizations – some coached baseball for boys – and girls – some officiated – they served the community through their churches.

What are we looking for?
Articles and pictures of their baseball days. For family members of early players and for those who played in the later years, we are looking for stories and recollections.

Why are we looking for articles?
They will help us reflect the teams and the games in the broader picture of the E I League and encourage a broader conversation of memories shared about family attendance at the Sunday afternoon through the years.

What should we be asking? Are people willing to be interviewed?
I will put together some standard questions to ask in an interview – these can be varied and more can be added, depending on the people we talk to and the direction our conversations take.

What is my time frame?
I would like to have all my information collected by the end of March so we can be putting this together in April. I would like to have the newsletters in the mail by mid-May so we can announce what is happening in June.

I would also like to see if Barbara Gillespie Washington would help me put the newsletter together – or more importantly, help with the development of curriculum for elementary school teachers to support the newsletters.

What else can we get others to help us do now?
Revise and reconstruct the newsletter mailing list

So, partner – what do you suggest?? Cheryl

Hi Walt, Catherine, Patricia and Alicia,

First, Alicia,
Walt Smith – an original African American History Committee member, called to see if we could talk about reviving the work of the African American History Committee. We met yesterday, along with Catherine Hogue, another African American History Committee member and Patricia Avery, one of our Legacy women and their enthusiasm was overwhelming. I shared our discussions and your desire to see the newsletter revived as well – so here we are with our committee!

For all,
Following are the minutes of the meeting. Please review them carefully to make sure I have correctly reflected our discussion. I did not include our brief discussions about using Champaign-Urbana Days for a fundraiser nor that we plan to officially designate our work in honor of Doris. Nor have I included my comment that NCNW had expressed support of this work as well.

My heartfelt thanks to each of your for your interest and willingness to get this off the ground. Doris would be so excited to know her dream was actually taking shape. Please "reply to all" so we can make any corrections, share any new ideas and continue our discussion. Again, thanks. Cheryl

African American History Committee 2006 Work Plan

Committee Members: Walt Smith, Patricia Avery, Catherine Hogue, Alicia Lowery, Cheryl Kennedy

Legacy exhibit
The museum will feature the exhibit at Parkland College, and the Champaign City Building in February

Thought: How about taking some to Douglass Library as well to begin the rotation schedule? Someone might visit our website www.earlyamericanmuseum.org now to see who we have included in this exhibit and request who they might want featured so they could develop some programming. They could also develop their plan for changing who they are featuring so they could consider other opportunities for programming. We would be pleased to meet with you if you like to do some brainstorming on activities.

Through the Years newsletter – target for publication: May and October
Begin publishing the newsletter twice a year with the long term goal of a quarterly publication. First newsletter will introduce the new committee and their plan to carry forward Doris' work as well as ways people can help out. Committee members will take responsibility for bringing together a component of each newsletter. For example, Patricia stated that she would be responsible for compiling and contrasting significant dates in history with local events each time.

June 18th event
The first newsletter will feature information on the June 18th program proposed for Douglass Center. Professor Kim Pereira (Illinois State University) will give a presentation about August Wilson's play Fences and have students perform a few select scenes from the play. Pereira is the author of August Wilson and the African American Odyssey.

Museum staff still need to contact CPD to reserve Douglass Center. Please advise – this is a Sunday program – what time should we set for this program to begin?

Walt agreed to talk to Ernie Westfield about participating in this program – could we have him set up a display and interact with participants? Suggestions?

Mailing list

Cheryl needs to get current mailing list to the committee to make corrections and additions. The Committee will review/correct/add to the distribution points for those hand delivered in the past. This will help us determine the number to print and related costs.

Committee members will work together to seek funding for the printing and mailing of the newsletters.

Through The Years* Lesson Plans for Grades 4-8

Committee members will work together to seek funding to produce a teacher's guide entitled, History in Your Hands: Local African American History. This binder includes ten lesson plans and copies of the newsletter which those lesson plans employ. Due to more requests than funds would allow, the Museum's request for funds from the Community Foundation of Central Illinois was denied. The grant amount requested includes: $240 for 1 inch ring binders, 948 for duplication of the newsletters, $750 for duplication of the lesson plans and $600 for reproducing 300 CDs with the lesson plans.

Cheryl will duplicate this binder for each of the committee members.

Baseball positions

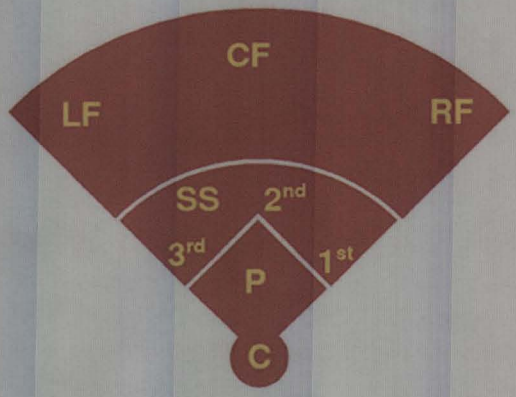
From Wikipedia, the free encyclopedia
(Redirected from Baseball fielding positions)

There are 9 fielding positions in baseball. Each position has an associated number (from 1 to 9) which is used to score putouts. For example:

- If the third baseman fields a ball and throws it to first, it is recorded as a 5-3 out.
- A double play where the second baseman fields, throws to the shortstop at second base, who throws to the first baseman is recorded as a 4-6-3 double play.



The fielding positions in baseball are the basis for the famous comedy routine Who's On First?, created by the team of Abbott and Costello.

Roles of fielders

- P: Pitcher (Position "number" 1). While the primary role of a pitcher is to pitch the ball, he must also be able to field his position. This consists of fielding ground balls and bunts up the middle of the diamond, and running to cover first base on any batted ball that pulls the first baseman out of position.
- C: Catcher (2). Wears protective equipment: mask, special helmet, shin guards, chest protector. Uses special glove designed as a padded target. He must catch, or at least block, all the pitches to prevent baserunners from advancing, in addition to preventing stolen bases with a strong throwing arm. He must also catch pop-ups into the foul territory behind the baseline, and tag out runners who are attempting to score, while blocking their access to home plate. Backs up first base on all plays where a runner is not a risk to score.
- 1B: First Base (3). The first baseman's job, in addition to fielding balls hit in his direction, is primarily to catch throws from the other infielders (2B, 3B and SS) in order to retire the batter and prevent him from getting on base. When a runner is on first base, the first baseman will tend to stand on or near the bag, holding the runner close to prevent the runner from stealing second base.
- 2B: Second Base (4). The second baseman has the important defensive role to field ground balls hit toward him and, if necessary, start a double play. When the ball is hit to the shortstop, the second baseman will help "turn" a double play by stepping on second base, fielding the throw from SS, and throwing to first base, to retire both the batter, and the runner on first.
- 3B: Third Base (5). Third base is known as "The Hot Corner", since most right-handed hitters will tend to hit the ball hard in this direction. The third baseman must be able to field ground balls and throw strongly to first base, as well as cover fly balls in fair and foul territory.
- SS: Shortstop (6). Shortstops, like the second baseman, must field ground balls and start or turn double plays. In addition, they need a stronger arm as the throw to first base is farther from the shortstop side.
- LF: Left Field (7), CF: Center Field (8), RF: Right Field (9). The role of the outfielders is to chase down and catch any ball hit into the outfield and, if necessary, make a rapid and accurate return throw, either to a base or to the "cut-off man", an infielder who has moved into a position specifically to make a relay throw.

New Champaign Nine Joins EI

By E. W. Hesse

A new Champaign team is in and venerable Gifford-Flatville is apparently out of the Eastern Illinois Baseball League, which drew up another six - club lineup for its 35th season at an organizational meeting at Bailey & Himes in Urbana Thursday night.

The Rantoul Merchants, regular - season co - champions and winners of the EI tournament last year; Champaign's Eagles, league co - champs and tourney runners-up; Buckley, third in both competitions; St. Joseph; Tuscola — these are the holdover entries from 1966.

Gifford-Flatville, one of the loop's charter franchises, was unrepresented at the meeting. Ralph Loschen, G-F co-manager (with Harm Frerichs) for the past decade and a longtime player, sent word that he did not plan to continue. "I've lost interest with my son, Norbert, off in the service," explained Loschen. "And Harm doesn't seem to want to handle the team by himself."

The new Champaign entry, represented by Lynn Sweet, seemingly will be a revival of the Mayor Dexter outfit —though not so named or sponsored — which ruled the EI in 1963 and 1964 but did not compete the past two summers. Sweet indicated that he will comanage with Fred Schooley, and that the team probably will use Centennial Park for home games.

The league voted to move up its 15 - Sunday season proper one week — therefore will begin play May 7 and finish Aug. 13 this year, leaving Aug. 20 and 27 for the annual tourney.

Last year's board of commissioners was re - elected: Al Ellsworth, president; E. W. Hesse, statistician and secretary; Virgil Scheiwe, treasurer; John Radmaker; John Franzen.

Representing the various teams at Thursday's meeting were: Dick Phillips and Phil Quinlan, co - managers for Rantoul; Wardell Jackson, manager, Eagles; Jim Varner, manager, and Marlin Hilgendorf, Buckley; Derald Meier, manager, St. Joseph; Tom Wilks, manager, and Terry Clark, Tuscola. Len Hull attended for the Central Illinois Umpires Association, whose services will be retained.

A pre - season meeting was set for May 1.

Al Ellsworth, president of the Eastern Illinois Baseball League for the past 26 years, resigned last month. His declaration wasn't unexpected. He's been trying to bow out for several years, but until this Spring was always talked out of doing so. This time he insisted.

"It's about time I quit," he said. "I'm going to be 65 in May. I really should have left office last year because I never wanted to top the record set by Jack Waldron, the league's first president. He served 25 years. I think the E.I. should be directed by younger men."

When E.I. treasurer Phil Quinlan of Rantoul echoed Ellsworth's statement, announcing that he, too, was resigned, the league suddenly found itself in need of two replacements.

Fortunately, two highly qualified potential successors were found in the wings: Marty Kirby, former Thomasboro outfielder and manager who also did a stint as Parkland College's baseball coach, was handed the presidency...and Gary Buhr, former Gifford-Flatville and Rantoul shortshop, was named treasurer...both by acclamation.

Mention of Jack Waldron sent my thoughts back over the years...back to my first year of writing sports for the Champaign-Urbana Courier. That was in 1949. My boss was sports editor Bert Bertine, and it was he who gave me my very first E.I. assignment.

Bailey & Himes sporting goods store, and aging Doc Leedy, proprietor of a little restaurant at Ogden.

The E.I. League actually evolved from the Champaign County League of the 1920s, which featured spirited competition between certain town teams of the county. Flatville and Royal were strongholds. Buckley, considerably north of Champaign County, was allowed in the field once the word "County" was stricken from the name of the new league. Youths from the towns and farms of the area, some still young enough to be pro baseball prospects, some with obvious playing ability but already too old to dream seriously about diamond careers...plus increasing numbers of college players intent upon honing their talents during an otherwise idle summer — these were the ones who filled the lineups of the town teams. Summer Sunday afternoon games played on town diamonds were the rule. Intense rivalries between the better teams developed, some attracted sizeable crowds, and the caliber of play was often quite good.

In 1949 I was in my mid-30s, but because I had played semipro ball in Chicago before World War II and service ball in the States and China-Burma-India during the war, I got the crazy notion that I might be able to cut it for a few final seasons in the E.I. "Say, Emil," he ventured. "So long as you're putting out E.I. stats on a regular basis for the Courier, how would you like to do it in an official capacity for the league? I'm sure the teams of the E.I. would be willing to pay for such a service. Then, of course, the News-Gazette would want a copy. But I could forget messing around trying to get out releases — I really don't have the time."

I agreed such an arrangement made more sense. Thus I became the E.I.'s official statistician and its only paid officer.

While my contributions to Seymour baseball were minimal, my joining its squad seemingly affected the rest of my life. I became a teammate of a '49 graduate of Monticello High School, one Loren Tate, who showed promise

My personal coverage of E.I. Baseball spanned 35 years for two newspapers, and must have placed me in attendance at more than 700 games. That provided the makings of countless memories. Some of the best — not necessarily all of the best — are these:

open a Works Progress Administration office to find employment for about 6,000 able-bodied men.[37] The day after Hopkins' visit, Bloomington honored Grimes with an appreciation day. Unfortunately, the announced crowd of 1,200 watched the aging spitballer struggle through his poorest start of the season, a 5-2 home loss to the Solons.[38] On August 11, Grimes redeemed himself in Springfield, going the distance in a 4-2 win over ace Clyde Smoll. He also drove in two runs with a double and base hit. Observed Young: "They refer to him as old Burleigh Grimes. And there is a maxim in baseball that youth must be served. But it's all bunk."[39]

Thanks to old Burleigh, the Cardinals finished the season's second half atop the league standings with a 43-25 record. The 38-28 Solons were the only other club to finish the second season above .500.[40] Thus the stage was set for the league's two best teams to meet in a best-of-seven playoff. Unfortunately, the Solons were hobbled with late-season lineup changes. Coleman, who lost an estimated $11,000 during the season and struggled with cash flow problems, sold several key players before the series.[41]

Despite the loss of key starters, Springfield manhandled the Cardinals in the first three games by scores of 9-0, 3-2, and 6-0. In the September 11 series opener, the Cardinals committed 5 errors as Bloomington hurler Bill Cox proved no match against Springfield's Don French. Grimes spent much of the game dispensing Major League vitriol from the dugout. "How Burleigh likes to talk!" commented Illinois State Journal columnist R. A. Drysdale. "You'd have thought he was president of the league to see him tell it to the umps before the opening game."[42] In the second game, Clyde Smoll out dueled Cardinals reliever-turned-starter Al Sherer. After dropping the third game, the shaken Cardinals returned home to Fans Field. In order to boost disappointing attendance (the first three games drew an average of only 900 fans), league officials decided to play the Saturday, September 14 contest the following day. The hope was a huge Sunday crowd would provide much-needed revenue for both clubs.

Grimes, who four year earlier had played a crucial role in the St. Louis Cardinals World Series triumph over Connie Mack's Athletics, started the fourth game of the Three Eye playoff. With an announced crowd of 2,200 in the stands, "Ol' Stubblebeard" surrendered 3 runs in the opening frame, and 2 each in the seventh and ninth innings. But led by catcher Paul Chervinko's 4 RBIs, Bloomington's dormant bats came alive, and the Cardinals scored 10 runs to extend the series at least one more day. Bloomington then captured the fifth game, a "wild and wooly" 6-5 affair culminating in an eighth inning "scrap" when Springfield's Clyde Smoll climbed into stands and punched a loudmouth fan.[43]

With the Solons still ahead three games to two, the Cardinals needed to win the final two contests to capture the post-season crown. Or at least that's what everyone thought. "Take New Year's eve, election night, the Fourth of July, old home week and a world series crowd, roll them into one, and you'll have something approximating the mob, hysteria and noise that centered about the final act of the Three Eye league baseball campaign," declared Fred Young in a summation of game six. At first, it appeared that Springfield finished off Bloomington by winning the Tuesday afternoon contest 5-2. But the victory proved chimerical. In the third inning, Cardinals first baseman Julian Foster been as fast as he was when he was the most feared pitcher in the National League but what he lacked he made up in smartness," commented Young.[33]

On June 9, Springfield completed a three-game sweep of visiting Bloomington, leaving both clubs tied with 18-11 records. Two days later, the Solons gained sole possession of first place after taking both ends of a doubleheader from the Decatur Commies. "Burleigh's Boys" (a favorite Young appellation, as was "Grimesmen") spent the remainder of the month chasing, but never catching, Coleman's nine.

As the Cardinals failed to gain ground on the Solons, Grimes worked out his frustrations on the underpaid and overworked umpires.[34] On June 12, in a losing contest against the visiting Tots, umpire Pooch Sommers "chased" Grimes for the second time in less than two weeks. At game's end, hostile fans surrounded the two umpires, and someone even threw a sucker punch at Sommers.[35] On July 1, Grimes earned another trip to the showers during a key contest with first-place Springfield. Fred Young credited the timely arrival of three deputies in preventing a mob action against the umpire crew. "There was enough fireworks Monday to last the average fan a lifetime," he remarked.[36]

[33] Ibid., 26 May 1935, p. 1; 12 August 1935, p. 8. On the same day Grimes enjoyed a successful (if not overpowering) debut, Babe Ruth dazzled the baseball world for one final time. In his last hurrah, he clobbered 3 home runs at Pittsburgh's Forbes Field. His third blast cleared the right field grandstand, the longest drive in the park's history.

[34] Ibid., 22 May 1935, p. 10. In the early 1930s, National Association President William Bramham sought to clean up vestiges of the game's unruly past. He enforced Major League's minimum penalty for physically assaulting an umpire (a suspension of ninety playing days), and on occasion handed down more severe penalties if league presidents proved unable or unwilling to punish offenders. See Story of Minor League Baseball, 28-32; and Robert Obojski, Bush League: A History of Minor League Baseball (New York: Macmillan Publishing Co., Inc., 1975): 19-22.

[35] Ibid., 12 June 1935, p. 10. Fred Young was duly impressed with Grimes' sand-kicking footwork. "If Messrs. Ziegfield, Shubert et al could have visited Fans field Wednesday they would have been supplied with enough talent to last them all summer. The Cards did some of the finest plain and fancy kicking seen in many a day, and Mr. Grimes let Sommers know in very definite way."

[36] Ibid., 2 July 1935, p. 12. In late July, Grimes and Eddie Morgan were thrown out of the first game of a twin bill against Decatur, and Commies skipper Bud Knox and two of his players were given the boot in the second. "A new record for players banished in this league was probably established," remarked Young. See ibid., 29 July 1935, p. 8.

On July 2, league officials and club owners agreed to split the season, giving Bob Coleman's Solons the first-half title. It was thought that starting anew would boost attendance, especially among the league's weaker clubs. For instance, the Peoria Tractors finished the season's first half with a dismal 12-41 record. Consequently, their only hope of competing for a pennant was to start over. The winner of the league's second half (barring a repeat) would then challenge Springfield to a post-season playoff.

Bloomington suffered an inauspicious start to the second season by dropping both games of the Independence Day twin bill to visiting Fort Wayne. The next day, President Roosevelt signed into law the Wagner Act, a landmark measure designed to protect workers' rights to form unions and bargain collectively. Still, there was baseball to play, even if Bloomington was having a difficult time selling tickets. Many area residents viewed the forty-cent general admission ticket as a luxury they could ill afford. In front of more empty seats than fans, Grimes played with a single mindedness befitting his Hall of Fame credentials. At the end of July, the Cardinals, sparked by their skipper's league-leading 9 wins, stood atop the standings with a 19-8 record. Right behind were the Springfield Solons at 18-11. Despite the turnaround, area residents never warmed to Depression-era baseball. Even with the obviously inflated attendance figures proffered by club officials and The Pantagraph, it was clear the Cardinals were falling short of pre-season projections.

On July 31, federal relief administrator Harry Hopkins delivered a rousing defense of New Deal programs at Illinois State Normal University. Before a sweltering crowd at Capen Auditorium, Hopkins declared that relief clients were not "tramps and bums." He championed existing work programs and the need for unemployment and old age insurance. Meanwhile, in downtown Bloomington, preparations were underway to

In only his second year of professional ball, Macon was said to have the league's best curve ball. "Get me four runs and I won't ever lose a game," he declared.[27]

Macon was one of several standouts for Grimes. Cleveland sandlotter Eddie Morgan was a wisecracking outfielder who called umpires "Blind Tom." Signed in 1935 by Branch Rickey's brother Frank, he spent his off-field hours listening to the radio and smoking cigars, sometimes as many as fifteen a day. Lou Scoffic, a twenty-one-year-old outfielder, spent part of his teenage years working in the coal mines of southern Illinois. Outfielder Herschel Martin, a four-sport athlete at Oklahoma A&M, spent his summers working as oil field "roughneck." Nicknamed "Speed," he finished the 1935 season with a league-leading 36 stolen bases.[28]

Minor league rosters were forever in flux. Players were signed, released, promoted, and demoted at a startling pace. Grimes, comfortably ensconced in the Cardinals well-organized and well-financed farm system, never had the worries of meeting payroll common to many Class B organizations. Other Three Eye skippers were not as fortunate. In an effort to balance his books, Bob Coleman sold highly regarded outfielder Roy Cullenbine, even though Springfield was in the midst of a pennant race.[29]

Although the rosters of Three-I League clubs featured players from vastly different social, economic, and ethnic backgrounds, in matters of race, the minor leagues were no different than the Majors. African-Americans were barred from competing at all minor league levels, though the Three-Eye hypocritically welcomed an occasional Native American or light-skinned Latin. For example, Decatur's Charles "Pancho" Cuellar was \an eighteen-year-old Cuban pitcher from Tampa, Florida.[30] It also appears that black fans were barred from Three-I League contests, at least in Bloomington. "They did not allow Negroes to go to those games," recalled Twin Cities resident Willie Tripp. "Most of the time, after the games got started and if there weren't too many security people on the outside of the fences, then we would sneak up and look through the holes in the fences. But you couldn't go into most of the games."[31]

An estimated 3,000-plus attended the May 12 home opener against Terre Haute, an 11-7 come-from-behind victory. "One thing that made a great hit here Sunday was the fact that Business Manager Joe Mathes did not raise the [ticket] price for opening day," commented Young. "Every other club in the league whooped the ante up to one dollar for opening day but Mathes insisted that the fans get a break, and 40 cents was the price for both bleachers and grandstand—the same as every other day of the season."[32] After losing 4 of their first 6 games, the Cardinals went on a tear, winning 16 straight from mid-May through early June. To his credit, Grimes shouldered a considerable share of the season's burden, both in the dugout and on the mound. On May 25 in Fort Wayne, the ex-big leaguer earned his first Three Eye victory. Although the Chiefs pounded the wily veteran in a 4-run fourth inning, Bloomington's hitters scored enough runs to keep their skipper in the win column. Clearly, Grimes struggled at times, no longer the dominating presence of the 1920s. Still, he won more often than not. In mid-August, Grimes notched a complete-game victory over second-place Springfield. "Old Burleigh might not have everyone expressed such enthusiasm. For example, Decatur manager Johnny Butler initially opposed the reintroduction of the spitball to his league.[20] Yet the potential boost in gate receipts throughout the league led Three Eye President Ledru "Genial Gene" Wylie and others to welcome Grimes and his archaic pitch. "Unquestionably he will bring considerable glamour to the old league and prove a real box office attraction," observed Fred Young, sports editor of the Bloomington Pantagraph.[21]

The second principal figure of the 1935 season was Springfield manager-owner Robert "Carpet Slippers" Coleman, arguably the most influential figure in Three-I League history. Coleman spent twenty-four seasons in the Class B loop, earning a record nine championships, all but one with Evansville.[22] Big leaguers seasoned under Coleman's watchful eye included previously mentioned hall of famers Hank Greenburg and Warren Spahn. His minor league managerial career included stops in the Texas League and American Association, and he is one of only two managers in baseball history with more than 2,000 career minor league wins.

The 1935 season also brought a host of changes to the Bloomington organization. The team dropped the traditional nickname Bloomers in favor of Cardinals. Not only did this identify the club with a popular big league team, but it saved money, since the Bloomington Cardinals donned the frayed uniforms of the 1934 World Series champions St. Louis Cardinals. Club officials also looked to spruce up Fans Field, the longtime home of minor league baseball in Bloomington. The local group that operated the facility reconditioned the field, built new bleachers, and renovated the grandstand.[23] Although the club supported remodeling, it balked at the more-expensive plan to install new lights. Bloomington officials believed the expense of installation (estimated at $1,800) and the electricity required to run those lights (about $30 per game) outweighed the potential for increased ticket sales. To break even with lights, the Cardinals would need to draw an additional 400 fans each game, an unrealistic expectation given the economic climate.[24]

After a month of spring training in Springfield, Missouri, and a separate open tryout of 220 sandlotters and semi-pro veterans back in Bloomington, Grimes and the Cardinals extensive scouting operation winnowed the pool down to twenty.[25] Before 2,000 shivering fans at Terre Haute's Municipal Stadium, Bloomington dropped its May 5 opener. The Tots winner was Lancelot Yank Terrry, a young right hander out of the semi-pro ranks.[26] Very early in the season, the Cardinals appeared rather sluggish, losing both games at Terre Haute and splitting a four-game set at Springfield. Faced with the disappointing start, Rickey vowed to improve the team with an infusion of talent from the high minors. "We'll give you a ball club, regardless of the cost," he told a local reporter. "We intend to give you a winner and will make such changes as are necessary. Never fret about that." As promised, Rickey called down a pair of nineteen-year-old hurlers from Rochester, New York of the International League. One of the newcomers was Max Macon, a lefthander from New Albany, Indiana, who would win a league-high 19 games.

the league's standard complement. The Decatur Commodores (known as the Commies), Fort Wayne Chiefs, Peoria Tractors (also referred to as the Trax), Springfield Senators (though usually called the Solons), and Terre Haute Tots joined Bloomington. In a demonstration of collective obstinacy rather than profitability, all six finished the season.

In the spring of 1935, Bloomington was a city visibly frayed at the edges. Just two years earlier, Streets Superintendent Thomas J. Clark had organized jobless men in work gangs to clear and straighten Sugar Creek. In exchange for this labor, the city excused delinquent water bills.[12] Yet the community had also benefited from an infusion of New Deal investment. In May 1934, the Civilian Conservation Corps established a camp east of Bloomington in LeRoy.[13] In October 1934, the municipal airport, an ambitious project made possible through $90,000 in Civil Works Administration funding, opened to much fanfare.[14] McLean County farmers, weathering a prolonged slump in commodity prices dating to the end of the First World War, embraced New Deal assistance.[15] Finally, there is little doubt Roosevelt's New Deal provided an indirect boost to organized baseball. In his history of the national pastime during the 1930s, Charles Alexander noted that National Recovery Administration measures "made the five-day week the common work regimen, especially for wage earners. So for many baseball fans across the country, baseball had become both somewhat more affordable and a good deal more accessible."[16]

Bloomington player-manager Burleigh Grimes was the central figure of the 1935 Three Eye campaign. Prior to his season in the Class B circuit, "Ol' Stubblebeard," as he was known, was one of the finest Major League pitchers of his generation. He recorded 270 victories during a 19-year career that included stops with the Brooklyn Dodgers, New York Giants, and St. Louis Cardinals. Between 1920 and 1929, he won a remarkable 190 games. In 1920, as mentioned earlier, Major League Baseball outlawed "trick pitches," most notably the spitter. Seventeen practicing spitballers, including twenty-six-year-old Grimes, were granted a lifelong exemption from the ban. The cantankerous righthander, blessed with the triumvirate of ability, aptitude, and good fortune, outlasted the other sixteen.[17] His last great season was 1931, when the 38-year old Grimes won 17 games for the champion Cardinals. In the World Series, he went 2-0 with a 2.04 ERA as St. Louis defeated the Philadelphia Athletics 4 games to 3.[18]

Four years later, Branch Rickey believed a season in Class B ball would both prolong Grimes' playing days and launch a managerial career. The famed baseball visionary predicted Grimes would win 25 games for Bloomington, a formerly independent club now part of the St. Louis Cardinals' vast minor league empire.[19] Not [17]"To me, saliva was useless unless mixed with something like slippery elm," he recalled. "The elm created a film that kept the fingers from actual contact with the ball, much as oil prevents a piston from rubbing against the cylinder. I used to cut the elm bark myself in the winter and keep it in a box so it would dry out." The slippery elm irritated his skin, so on days he pitched Grimes never shaved—hence the nickname "Ol' Stubblebeard." Although known for the spitter, he maintained that "loading up" was effective only in combination with other pitches. See "Grimes Tells How He Threw It," Sports Illustrated (31 July, 1967): 17.

[19]Throughout the late 1920s and well into the 1930s, Rickey and Commissioner Kenesaw Mountain Landis engaged in an epic struggle over the morality and legality of big league dominion over the bushes. Landis viewed the Major's ownership of formerly independent minor league clubs as the antithesis of fair and open competition. From Rickey's standpoint, the system established order—financial and otherwise—where none existed. Despite repeated attempts by Landis to weaken the system, minor league affiliates were an entrenched part of baseball by the 1920s. See Neil J. Sullivan, The Minors: The Struggle and the Triumph of Baseball's Poor Relation from 1876 to the Present (New York: St. Martin's Press, 1990), 111. Peoria operated under an agreement with the Chicago Cubs and Springfield with the Detroit and the Mules earned a second place finish behind the pennant-winning Distillers of Peoria.[5]

Yet the Great Depression was a tornado that tore through not one but all communities, and the economic crisis played a significant role in remaking the game of baseball. In 1929, twenty-five minor leagues finished the season. The following year, night baseball proved a brief, high-wattage savior. On May 2, 1930, Des Moines hosted the first night game in professional baseball. Fifteen days later, Decatur of the Three Eye became the third minor league club (Lincoln, Nebraska was the second) to host a night game.[6] At first, "after-dinner" baseball proved wildly popular in the minor leagues. Decatur's attendance topped a franchise-record 70,000 for the season, and Bloomington, Danville, Peoria, and Quincy soon followed through with similar lighting schemes.[7] Still, the phosphorescence effect was as temporary as it was bright, and night baseball could not stem the precipitous decline in attendance during the early 1930s. In December 1931, the National Association of Professional Baseball (Minor) Leagues, imbued with New Deal ardor, formed a powerful executive committee to address the worsening crisis. The committee, espying the coming age of mass communication, established a centralized promotions department and press bureau. The following year, Association President William G. Bramham pushed through a series of overdue reforms, most notably the weeding out of fly-by-night operators.[8] Yet before the hoped-for turnaround, the minor league system weathered its most difficult period in history. Only a handful of minor leagues finished play in 1932, and by the end of the 1933 season, "the lower minors . . . had dwindled to only seven circuits, nine fewer than in 1930. Organized baseball had largely disappeared from small-city America."[9] The Three-I League was not immune to these difficulties. The 1932 season was halted in mid-July and the league was shutdown the following two years.

In 1938, Lou Boudreau, playing for Cedar Rapids, found night baseball disorienting. See Lou Boudreau with Ed Fitzgerald, Player-Manager (Boston: Little, Brown and Company, 1949), 32. In 1950, Collier's noted that the typical Three-I League lighting system produced 250,000 watts, roughly one-eighth the illumination available at Yankee Stadium. See Tom Meany, "Night Life in the Three Eye," Collier's (15 July 1950): 65.

In the spring of 1935, in defiance of the harsh economic times, a glimmer of optimism was in evidence. The previous big league season was the most successful since 1930, with the American League enjoying an increase in attendance of almost 1 million.[10] Although disposable income and capital investment dollars remained scarce, developments in mass communication, especially radio, were utterly transforming the game. In 1934, the Ford Motor Company parted with $100,000 for exclusive rights to broadcast the World Series. Other revolutions, less influential but nonetheless striking, were underway. For instance, thirteen of the sixteen big league parks featured loudspeaker systems "which resounded not only information about lineups and lineup changes but phonograph music and advertisements."[11] And despite protestations rooted in eloquent traditionalism, Commissioner Kenesaw Mountain Landis could not halt the Major League's first night game.

Thus in 1935, with whispers of brighter days ahead, the Three-I League reformed after a two-year hiatus. Yet only six cities were willing or able to field teams, two short

Minor League Baseball During the Great Depression: The 1935 Illinois-Indiana-Iowa League Season

By Bill Steinbacher-Kemp

In the spring of 1935, Babe Ruth, in an attempt to prolong his waning career, signed with the second-rate Boston Braves. The Babe's final trot around big league base paths "gave the start of the 1935 season a distinctive quality," remarked historian Charles C. Alexander. A second (though lesser known) milestone that spring, continued Alexander, was the end of the legal spitball. Forty-one-year-old Burleigh Grimes, the last of the original seventeen spitballers exempted from a 1920 ban, played his final Major League game the previous season.[1] Retreating to his 360-acre livestock farm in Missouri, his brief retirement ended with the coming warm weather. That spring, celebrated St. Louis Cardinals executive Branch Rickey sent the future hall of famer to the organization's affiliate in the struggling Illinois-Indiana-Iowa League. As player-manager, Grimes would lead the Bloomington, Illinois Cardinals to the league title. During the summer of 1935, when the WPA opened a local job office and President Franklin Roosevelt signed into law the Social Security Act, Bloomington residents had something else to cheer about.

Minor league baseball stands as one of the forgotten stories in American sports. During the first half of the twentieth century, the minors dominated the sporting life of communities throughout the nation. Before expansion, there were only ten cities with Major League clubs, and in an era before television and interstate travel, the box score in the local newspaper represented the closest most baseball fans would come to a big-time ballpark. The Illinois-Indiana-Iowa League (also known as the "Three Eye" or "Triple Orb") was a national force in minor league baseball for the first sixty years of the twentieth century.[2] Organized in 1901, the Three Eye was a Class B loop, the highest level of "low" minor leagues (classes B, C, and D).[3] In addition to Grimes, Cooperstown inductees that passed through the storied league include Mordecai "Three Finger" Brown (Terre Haute, 1901 and 1919-1920), Red Faber (Dubuque, 1909-1910), Red Ruffing (Danville, 1923), Carl Hubbell (Decatur, 1927), Hank Greenberg (Evansville, 1931), Lou Boudreau (Cedar Rapids, 1938), and Warren Spahn (Evansville, 1941).[4]

Although 1929 marked the beginning of the Three-I League's most difficult period, the Class B loop was no stranger to economic difficulties. Throughout its sixty-year history, hard times contributed to the regular upheaval of league membership. For instance, the circuit failed to organize in 1918 due to the shortage of both players and fans during World War I. Even natural disasters played a role in the league's continually shifting roll call. In the 1916 season, Decatur forfeited its franchise because a tornado blew off the roof of its ballpark grandstand. Hannibal, Missouri then replaced Decatur not far from New York City — where we used a manhole cover for hom and maple trees on either side of the street for first and third base. We' flat rock in the middle of the street as second base. As we got bigger an neighbors complained about baseballs banging into their yards we use "indoor" baseball or, later, an oversized softball. "Wanna play some ind was the standard invitation to such a street game. The "indoor" ball wa than a baseball and had thick raised leather seams. The softball was th a small melon. Both were difficult to throw and difficult to hit far, and switched to a rubber ball and played punchball in the street.

We also used the street to play games with bubblegum cards, which is called baseball cards. My generation knew nothing at all about baseball until 1933, when the Goudey Gum Company began issuing them with t gum. You paid one cent for a flat packet wrapped in wax paper; inside three sticks of bubblegum and a baseball card. The gum was important doubt we'd have paid a penny for the card alone — but the cards were desirable, no question about that. They became our passion. We carrie in our pockets, used them to play games with, tossed them for distance them for accuracy, flipped them in turn, and captured our opponent's c ours landed on his. We drew baseball diamonds on the street and playe baseball games with the cards. We used little pieces of wood (often the stick from an ice cream bar) to hit pebbles from home plate onto space field marked single, double, triple, home run, out, double play and so f We placed the cards of the fielding team in position on the diamond, a each player on the hitting team came to bat we put his card at home pl show who was up, and then moved it around the bases as he advanced. an occasional automobile came by we'd scramble to the side of the stre sometimes the auto would run over the cards. We didn't mind. We thou was funny. A marred card didn't matter much. We wrote on them, or c out the name of the team if a player was traded in real life. I imagine a card collector today would wince at the thought of those "mint state" c the early 1930s being abused that way, but we didn't think of it as abus cards were fun, something to play with for an hour or so. They stimulat interest in baseball and we loved them, and we put rubber bands arou and kept them in a shoe box or in bureau drawer. But they weren't sacr They weren't an investment as they are today. Baseball was not where t money was.

Major league teams in the 1930s were divided into the haves and have- The same teams generally finished near the top year after year. Others near the middle of the standings (the Cleveland Indians finished either or fourth ten times in eleven seasons). Some (the Browns, for example) almost always near the bottom. Now and then a team would rise or fall not often. The Yankees, the epitome of the haves, usually won the Ame League pennant, and in the World Series they always walloped the Nat League champion.

Things started to change as the 1930s ended. The onset of World War I stimulated defense production in America, which meant jobs, which m money, and the Depression began to disappear. The Brooklyn Dodgers perennial sixth-place finishers, rose to become perennial pennant cont a sure sign that times had changed. Fate stymied the Dodgers in the 19 World Series, when their effort to unseat the Yankees was thwarted aft game-ending third strike skipped past their catcher, Mickey Owen. In 1 Dodgers came on again and won 104 games but lost in the stretch to an resurgent team, the Cardinals, who won 106 games to take the Nationa League pennant for the first time since the Gashouse Gang's 1934 flag.

In the World Series that fall the Yankees were trouncing St. Louis 7-0 g into the bottom of the ninth inning of the first game when the undaunt Cardinals rallied, knocked the Yankees' star pitcher out of the game, an scored four runs before they were stopped. Undeterred by the defeat, t the Yankees the next day and, running the bases with wild abandon, m brilliant plays in the field, swept the next three games to crush the mig Yorkers four games to one, the first time the Yankees had lost a World since 1926. The times had indeed changed.

I went into the army the following spring and didn't get back to baseba after the war. For me, and perhaps for a lot of people, the St. Louis vict an apt finis to an era. The Depression was over. The Joads had good jo defense plants in California. The scrabbling Dust Bowl Cardinals were champions of the world.

Gingold, the wonderful British actress, was asked on a television talk sl what it had been like living and working in London during the Nazi air World War II. "Well," she said, "I suppose it's an awful thing to say, an knows it was terrible, but in some ways it was rather fun. People liked e other. We got along so well."

God knows the Depression was terrible, but there was a lot of joy arour Maybe it was misery loving company, or gallows humor, but people lau the face of adversity and enjoyed themselves even when they were scra for a living. Comedians like Jack Benny, Fred Allen, W.C. Fields, and th Brothers thrived in the 1930s. And I can't believe that a youngster play Little League ball today can have fonder memories of baseball than kid grew up in the 1930s, long before Little League took over boys' baseba played ball in one form or another almost every day. We might have on or three or four on a side, but we played for hours, paying no attention innings. The game ended when it was time to go home. Now and then v together a nine-man team and play a formal game with a team from an neighborhood, but more often we'd just play.

You didn't have to have a uniform or baseball shoes to play baseball the wore ordinary shoes ("Don't play in your school shoes!" mothers would Keds, the sneaker of the day, which sold for as little as seventy-nine cer pair. Keds were not a fashion statement; some boys (and some girls) w them because they were a lot cheaper than leather shoes.

We wore corduroy knickers — long pants for pre-high school boys didn in until late in the 1930s — and ordinary shirts and sweaters. An occasi wore a tie when he played. If he wore a hat it might be a baseball cap (a not one with a major league insignia on it) or, more often, a regular cap the kind Tom Joad wore.

We played ball on the uneven surface of open fields and empty lots (we called them sandlots) or sometimes on a real diamond used at other tir high school or semipro town teams. Even then the infield was mostly d the outfield clumpy grass. There was no home plate when we used the f pitcher's rubber, no cushion bases, and only a vestige of white chalk alc foul lines. We used rocks or chunks of wood for bases, and you felt ther you slid in hard.

When a dozen or so boys gathered to play ball they might have among t half a dozen gloves, a baseball or two, maybe a couple of bats. The glov used by both teams and retrieved by their rightful owners when the gar done. The gloves seem tiny now but felt impressive then, open in the ba a broad strap at the wrist that fastened with a flat brass button. There r a larger, first baseman's mitt in the collection of gloves but almost neve catcher's mitt; if there were, it would be big, rigid, round, and heavy, ar to be worn by someone playing in the field, since we didn't use catchers pickup games.

When we played a real game the catcher's mitt would be used properly there'd be a mask, though seldom shin guards or a chest protector and protective cup. I remember a talented kid catching one day without a n Yet I don't recall anyone getting hurt, at least not badly. Sometimes a fa would zap a catcher, but after a few minutes — during which he writhe pain and everyone on both teams gathered around to watch and offer a he'd pull himself together and crouch down again behind the plate, and game would go on.

The baseballs were scuffed and colored beige from previous travels on and dirt. After much use the threads along the seams would fray and bu and the leather cover would lift. As more threads broke the loose edge l larger, and after awhile it flapped when the ball was thrown and made fripping sound when the ball was hit sharply. Once in a while a powerf would belt the ball so hard that the leather would tear completely loose fall off — hitting the cover off the ball.

Sometimes we'd go on playing with the ball after the cover came off. Th of the tightly wound string of the ball's inside was glued down, and bec naked ball was slightly smaller and harder than one with its leather cov intact it was fun to play with for a while. You could throw it hard, and y could hit it a mile. Inevitably, the glued end would work loose and the s would unwind. I have clear memories of baseballs hit past the infield w thin white line of string trailing behind.

More often, when a baseball lost its cover, we'd take it down into somel cellar and find a roll of black tape and mend it. Sometimes we'd put on couple of longitudes and an equator on the naked ball, just enough to h down the errant string. That gave us a black-and-white baseball that wa to play with because the ball seemed to twinkle when it was hit or throw that sparse repair seldom lasted long, and we'd have to tape the ball ag time all over, until we had a solid black baseball. Solid in color, and sol heft. When you threw or hit a heavily taped baseball, it felt like a chunk iron.

Bats broke. They were wooden, of course — no metal bats back then — except for cheap "kid's bats" they were always Louisville Sluggers, with lovely Hillerich & Bradsby logo or "label" burned into the fat part of the and a major league player's autograph near the end. I don't remember bat break completely in half, the way they do almost every day now in t major leagues, but they did split, usually along the handle, and we repa them. We hammered small tacks into the wood to hold the cracked sec against the body of the bat, and we'd wind tape along the handle from l one end of the cracked part to beyond the other end. Sometimes we use of tacks and a lot of tape, and the bat thus repaired felt as heavy as lead stung your hands on a cold day when you hit a ball hard, especially a ta ball.

We sometimes played baseball in the street — I lived in a small suburb shocked when I read that Mack had sent two of his three outfielders an third baseman to the Chicago White Sox for nothing but money. A year with attendance down to a level 63 percent below what it had been four earlier, Mack sold his catcher, Cochrane, as well as his second baseman his three most prominent starting pitchers, including the incomparable Grove. I was befuddled, but as Mack continued to peddle his players I g cynical ("He needs the cash," I'd say knowingly). When he completed th destruction of his great team by selling Jimmie Foxx, my favorite non-Y player, I suppose all I did was shrug. He needed the money.

The Depression even affected Babe Ruth. The Babe had symbolized the twenties, with his big home runs and his outsized salary — bigger than president's, sure, but four times bigger than that of other stars and ten that of established veteran players. In the 1930s that salary plummeted the gross national product. After the 1931 season, in which he hit 46 ho runs and batted in 163 runs, Ruth was given a 10 percent cut in pay. In had 41 homers and 137 runs batted in and took another 25 percent pay 1933 he had 34 homers and 103 RBIs — and a 35 percent cut.

The Babe protested and held out each year, as did lesser players whose were being slashed. But there was no free agency then, no players' unio recourse. Eventually the Babe signed, and so did the others. Hell, it wa than not working. There was no unemployment insurance then, either. wife's uncle told me that in 1933, when he was making twenty-five doll week as a young married man with an infant son, everybody's pay was percent at the place where he worked. "But that didn't bother me," he s was in good shape. I still had my job."

It was discouraging, but it wasn't gloom and misery everywhere. In 193 Detroit Tigers, with the A's Cochrane now their player-manager, won th pennant for the first time in twenty-five years and in 1935 won it again. Red Sox, buoyed by Grove and Foxx, began to move up. Babe Ruth reti from the game, but Joe DiMaggio arrived. The Cardinals, led by the irrepressible Dizzy Dean, another rangy country boy, beat the Tigers in World Series and at about the same time picked up their unforgettable nickname, the Gashouse Gang. They had played a doubleheader in Bos second game in rain and mud. They were scheduled to play the Giants Polo Grounds the next afternoon, but they had only one set of road uni their train was delayed, and there wasn't time to have the mud-spatter flannels cleaned before the game in New York. Unfazed, the Cardinals swaggered onto the field in their dirty uniforms, tough-looking as ever, them needing a shave.

"Look at them," somebody said. "They look like the gang down at the gashouse."

A sportswriter picked up the line, put it in his story, and the nickname indelible. It fit the times. They were hard times, but good times, too, fu times, cheerful times, making do, getting along. In the 1970s Hermione

The St. Louis Browns were also in existence then but, with the exceptio one flukey war year, the Browns lost all the time. The Cardinals didn't. the Joads, they were resilient. They came back from defeat. They were tough, with country ways and country humor. During the down years o thirties they formed a clubhouse band, called the Mudcats, and banged country songs like "Birmingham Jail" and "Willie, My Toes are Cold" o a washboard, a harmonica, a guitar or two, and a country fiddle.

It didn't matter where the players came from — Frank Frisch, New Yor Durocher, Massachusetts; Joe Medwick, New Jersey — they all had the bitten, up-from-the-soil brashness of their outfielder/third baseman P Martin from Oklahoma. Martin was called The Wild Hoss of the Osage played without a jockstrap — sometimes he didn't even wear underwea stole bases with headlong slides, and fielded hard-hit ground balls with chest. In 1931 Martin ran wild against the Hall of Fame catcher Mickey Cochrane in the World Series, had a record-tying 12 hits off the superb Philadelphia Athletics pitching staff, and led the Cardinals to a stirring game upset of Connie Mack's A's, who had been favored to win their th straight World Series.

As a nine-year-old boy I heard those World Series games on our living- radio, which my mother, who was not even a fan, turned on and tuned before I came home from school (those old radios took a long time to w up, and tuning to the right station took patience and a deft hand), so th could begin listening the moment I got there. Around that same time t began appearing at our back door — hobos, men out of work. They'd as could do a job around the house or in the yard for a quarter or a half dc even a meal, just something to get them through the day.

There wasn't much money anywhere, and that was as apparent in basel was elsewhere. The big crowds of the Golden Age of the 1920s, when fo of the sixteen major league clubs then in existence set single-season attendance records, melted away as the Depression spread. By 1933, fo the eight National League teams were drawing fewer than 330,000 spe a year. Six of the eight American League teams together averaged 3,90 per game. In St. Louis, the Browns attracted 88,000 paying customers an entire season.

It was a different world. Gerald Holland, later a Sports Illustrated writ worked in the Browns' front office in the 1930s. Years later, sitting in a opulent press room with bar and restaurant in one of the modern stadi Holland laughed as he recalled what the Browns had for the press in th 1930s. "One desk in a secretary's office," he said, "two chairs, and a gal tin washtub with half a dozen bottles of beer floating in ice water."

The Athletics were the Yankees' biggest rivals at the beginning of the t but attendance at Shibe Park dropped 35 percent in 1932, and after tha season Connie Mack, sixty-nine and fearful of the future, began selling stars. To my ten-year-old mind they belonged in Philadelphia, and I w

In the late 1930s and early 1940s — from my early boyhood until I went into the army in World War II — I was more emotionally tied to baseball than I ever have been since, even though I've been closer to the game in these later years as both a fan and a sportswriter. Childhood discovery was a big part of that early devotion, of course, but so too was the nature of the times. There wasn't a lot of money around in the Depression years, and the lack of money gave the game a measure of intimacy, a kinship with the people that it hadn't had before and hasn't had since. More than ever, baseball reflected the times.

I was a New York Yankee rooter when I was a kid, and the Yankees won eight pennants and seven World Series in t 1930s and early 1940s. Yet when I remember baseball in those years I think first of the Yankees. I remember instead the scuffed baseballs, th cracked bats, and the rough fields of my own baseball experience, and faces of the St. Louis Cardinals. The Cardinal players didn't make muc — a regular had to have had a couple of really good seasons before he c expect to earn as much as $5,000 or $6,000 a year — but it went beyo St. Louis was the westernmost city in the majors then, the city closest t Dust Bowl that in the 1930s stretched from Texas and Oklahoma north the Dakotas. Drought and depression were blowing farms into foreclos the Dust Bowl, and people like John Steinbeck's Joad family were pilin belongings into rickety old trucks and heading toward what they hope be better times. The Cardinals seemed to represent that area of Depres America. Henry Fonda as the undefeatable Tom Joad in the film versio Steinbeck's The Grapes of Wrath looked like a St. Louis Cardinal; lean; hard; grim tight smile; defiance in adversity; spirit.

Jimmy Foxx is proving that the change from Athletics' to Red Sox uniform is not hurting the power of his swing any. When the deal was made many critics claimed Foxx would not be much help to the Boston club because he hadn't hit well in Fenwick park on previous appearances. However, Jimmy at present is tied with Hal Trosky of the Indians in the home run race with five and has been hitting the ball at better than a .300 clip.

New Hardball League Formed

Circuit to Be Known as Champaign Corn Belt League; Nine Teams Enter, Tenth to Be Named.

Plans which have been in the making for the last three weeks resulted in the formation of a new hardball league at a meeting in Bailey and Himes sporting goods store Monday evening. The new circuit, composed of 10 teams, will be known as the Champaign Corn Belt league.

Although the schedule is yet to be completed play will open May 10. Eighteen games will be played by each team thus providing for home and home tilts between each team in the loop. The same commissioners which rule in the Eastern Illinois league will also preside in the new league. They are Jack Waldron, president; Shelby Himes, vice-president; and Doc Leedy, treasurer and secretary.

Need Tenth Team

A tenth team is yet to be named but Shelby Himes says there are several applicants. The remaining member will be named at the next meeting which will be held next Tuesday night in the same place.

The nine members for the league named Monday and their managers are: Rantoul, Edgar Bryant, Jr.; Sidney, Forrest McGowan; Ludlow, W. E. White; Tolono, John Polk; Myra Station, O. B. Poore; St. Joseph, Harry Reese; Dewey, Russell Crowley; Champaign Independents, James Wilson; and Champaign Builders Supply, James Witherow.

Himes Explains Rules

The Dewey team will be known as the Deweyville Sluggers, a parody on the well-known bats, Louisville sluggers. At the meeting a constitution was drawn up and rules were explained by Shelby Himes to the officials and managers present.

The formation of the league is a result of plenty of work by Himes. Several weeks ago when the Eastern Illinois league was formed to supplant the Champaign county loop there were so many extra applicants for membership Himes decided another league could possibly be formed from the many towns who were disappointed by not getting in the Eastern Illinois league.

Consequently he wrote letters to the managers of these teams. The enthusiasm shown at the meeting Monday augurs well for the survival of the new circuit. It is now hoped a championship game or series may be played between the two champions of these leagues late in summer.

races. Tola Rose had to set a new track record to whip the late-sprinting Whirly in the Butler but if Warren Wright's famous thoroughbred had hit the barrier first in these events he would already be past Seabiscuit's $437,730.

Now he's $27,244 short. He'll have a chance to make that up, and more, in the $50,000 Massachusetts Handicap at Suffolk July 15. If his luck is good for the rest of the year, Whirlaway may become the first horse to win a half million dollars. And, if Wright elects to race him next year rather than put him in stud, Mr. Big Tail may boost his total to six or seven hundred thousand, a figure that should stand for many, many years.

Sun Beau Third

Whirly has made money faster than any horse in history (and some purses are not as big as they once were). He passed the $400,000 mark in his 44th race and it took Seabiscuit 89 races to gather that much cabbage.

Seabiscuit was seven years old when he won the last big stake that shot him ahead of Sun Beau in the cash column. Sun Beau now is third.

Whirly has many followers but the chances are he isn't, and won't be, loved as was The Biscuit by the horse players. Whirly has been a pampered pet, a widely touted racer from the outset, while Seabiscuit was little regarded and it wasn't until late in his three-year-old season that he began winning.

He was sold for a comparatively few paltry dollars. Remember, too, that Seabiscuit was twice beaten by a nose or so in the $100,000 Santa Anita Handicap. The Biscuit broke down in 1939 and came out of stud to win the rich Handicap in 1940. The war-time cancellation of the Santa Anita event last winter cost Whirly a chance at that big purse.

Bigger Than Biscuit

Whirly is often referred to as a little horse but actually he is bigger now, as a four-year-old, than Seabiscuit was at five. He weighs 1030 against Seabiscuit's 1046 and stands 15.3 hands against Seabiscuit's 15.2. Alsab, the three-year-old, weighs 960 and stands 15.2½. Whirlaway's girth is 72½, Seabiscuit's was 72 and Alsab's is 71½.

Through Independence Day, Whirlaway had had nine races. He had won four, finished second four times and third once. He picked up only a few hundred dollars finishing second in his first two starts at Keeneland in April. Here is his record since winning the Clark Handicap, his first triumph, April 25:

Clark Handicap, Churchill Downs (1), $2,150.

Dixie Handicap, May 6, Pimlico (1), $19,275.

Suburban Handicap, May 30, Belmont (2), $6,000.

Carter Handicap, June 13, Aqueduct (3), $750.

Mile and eighth race, June 22, Aqueduct (1), $2,275.

Brooklyn Handicap, June 28, Aqueduct (1), $23,650.

Butler Memorial, July 4, Empire City (2), $6,000.

Detroit Sees Bright Future for Blazing Virgil 'Fire' Trucks

Detroit (Staff)

Virgil Trucks doesn't possess a particularly dazzling pitching record and he obviously won't be the American league's rookie of the year, but you can't tell the Detroit Tigers that he won't be a big winner some day, perhaps one of the biggest.

Trucks, a husky right-hander, celebrated his 23d birthday last April 26 by capturing his first major league victory, and in the first [illegible] added four oth-

Flatville is Set to Halt E. I. Leader

Franzen Nine at Seymour Today; Buckley Plays Champaign Colts.

Third-place Flatville, boasting better pitching strength in Chuck Campbell, the Illinois flinger who stopped Chanute Field Thursday night, goes to Seymour today to take its turn against Dutch Young's well-balanced nine which has lost only one game in eight Eastern Illinois contests. Campbell, who is to pitch here Tuesday night for the Danville All-Stars against the Champaign Plumbers, may not work all the way against the league leaders however. Manager John Franzen, then, would rely on Henry Flessner who pitched some good ball early in the season, or Ehm Franzen, who has won two of three starts.

Seymour will pitch either Harvey Ditter or Harold Hall. Hall probably will get the assignment as he has won all four starts and Manager Young doesn't want to take any chances on dropping a game he needs to remain in first place.

Royal Is Idle

Royal, still in the running for the championship, has an open date. Urbana, sporting a brand new lineup, will go to Thomasboro in quest of its first win of the season. Fred Werts, former Urbana high football star, will make his debut as manager and Jack Larson, of Sioux City, Iowa, will bow as Urbana's new No. 1 pitcher.

In the third game, Buckley's Dutch Masters, who missed beating the league leaders last week by the margin of a put-out in the ninth inning, tackle the Champaign Colts at the Urbana softball park. All games are billed for 2:30.

Utley Leads Hitters

As the teams go into the ninth week of the season, Elsa Utley, Colts' infielder, leads the hitters with a .458 average, Herb Johnson of Flatville ranks second with a mark of .441, and Ed Knueppel of Buckley boasts a portly .429 average. Ed and Johnson are tied in most runs department with nine and Johnson leads in hits with 15.

Three unbeaten pitchers are listed in the latest averages. Jay Fletcher of Royal has won six, Hull of Seymour has won four, and Fonville of the Colts is credited with two victories. Fletcher has struck out 71 batters and walked only nine. Harvey Ditter and Franzen have won two and lost one. Fonville no doubt will start against Buckley this afternoon in the softball park.

Seymour leads the league in team batting with .284 and Flatville ranks second with .273. Royal has a mark of .264 and Buckley is hitting .253.

Team leaders are Gene Dunlap of Seymour, Utley of the Colts, Johnson of Flatville, Knueppel of Buckley, Bud Walters of Thomasboro, Ken Roll of Royal and Vaughn of Urbana.

The standings:

"I like Tami's chances of developing into a really great fighter," says the former heavyweight champion. "He is unafraid, the boring type, and he can punch pretty good. He's only 19 and weighs 180. He should grow to more than 190 and add more power."

Tom Nisbet will study at a coaching school this summer to better equip himself for a job he hopes to take in some Illinois high school. The ex-Illinois basketball star is in the market for a coaching position, and, coaches being few and far between these days, he ought to land a job.

Tom was a star among stars at Thornton of Harvey in the early 30s and later teamed with his old high school buddy, Lou Boudreau, at Illinois.

There's no busier man in organized ball than Fred Hartman, manager of the Newport club of the Appalachian league. Manager Hartman, only 27 years of age, delivers a U. S. mail route, runs a grocery store, filling station and restaurant, and is county judge. He never attended college or law school but acquired his legal knowledge by reading law books.

Planesmen End Sailor Series

Chanute Field (Staff)

Chicago Cubs and Great Lakes sailors play Chanute Field Planesmen here on successive days amid shouting and noise from thousands of soldier spectators, now looking forward to the biggest baseball treats of the season. Great Lakes will visit the post diamond for a tilt at 2:30 today and the major league nine will play at the same place, same time, the following day.

It will all be free to the soldiers, but civilians will pay the regular big league admission price for the Cub game.

Lieut. Glenn McEniry announced that his starting pitchers will be: against Great Lakes—Jim Walkup, once a member of the St. Louis Brownie staff; against the Cubs—Milton Goemer, former St. Paul chattel, who has already won five victories for the Planesmen.

The game with Great Lakes will conclude a three-game series. Planesmen have had the misfortune of facing Pitcher Johnny Rigney of Chicago White Sox fame in the two previous encounters, but they hope to salvage one victory from the heated Army-Navy rivalry.

The Chanute starting lineup against the Bluejackets and Cubs probably will include Charles Bushong, 2b; Frank Tominsek, 3b; Hugh Corbin, rf; Herb Scheffler, 1b; Frank Scalise, cf; Howard Haack or Erwin Allbritton, c; Linton Venable, lf; Vern Riha, ss.

Chanute Field Pitcher Hurls a Perfect Game

Chanute Field (Staff)

A pitcher in one of Chanute Field's three inter-squadron softball leagues recently hurled a perfect game.

Clifford Altishin of Los Angeles, Calif., gave no hits and no walks. He faced but 21 men in the seven-inning fray, fanning 14 of them.

HOT ON THE REST

Denver (AP) Bill Jelliffe, professional at the Lakewood course west of Denver, took a fat five on a par three hole, yet he set a new course record of 64, eight under par.

Pesky, the young shortstop, has tightened up the Boston inner defense considerably by his wide-ranging coverage, and grounders that went for hits last year are being gobbled up and converted into outs now. He has been hitting well, too, but his blows have not been of too great value to a team that also boasts such pounders as Ted Williams and Bobby Doerr.

Eight Homers

However, Fleming may have an edge over Pesky, for he is carrying the biggest hitting load for the Indians, out-batting and knocking in more runs than any of the other Clevelanders. He has more than replaced the ailing Hal Trosky of last year at first base.

While their averages are about the same—both in the league's upper bracket—fleming has batted in upwards of 50 runs, more than twice Pesky's production, and has blasted eight homers.

Pesky is quite an improvement over the older veteran, Joe Cronin, in the field, but he doesn't compare with his manager as a distance or clutch hitter.

Perhaps the best the National league has with which to challenge this pair are Stan Musial of the Cardinals and Willard Marshall of the Giants.

Musial Improves

Musial, a ballyhoed recruit last spring, was off to a slow start but has come along and is now one of the loop's batting leaders. Marshall, overlooked at the Florida training camps, has turned out to be one of the most dangerous hitters in the league with men on base. Only a half dozen sockers have driven in more runs than this young outfielder.

Nanny Fernandez of the Braves has leveled off after a flashy start. Ray Lamanno has batted well and been a big help to the Reds behind the plate. Babe Barna of the Giants hasn't played in as many games as the others but has shown considerable prowess at the dish.

As for pitchers, the best of the first year men are old Ray Starr, who has won a flock of games for the Reds, and young Tex Hughson of the Red Sox. But, although this is Starr's first full year in the majors, he was up for several trials some years ago.

Mathews Tops Chanute Staff in Strikeouts

Chanute Field (Staff)

Although he fanned 17 batters, George Mathews saw his Chanute Field teammates beaten 2 to 1 in a game with an Industrial league all-star team at Danville recently.

The former minor league hurling ace now has whiffed 71 men in 61 innings to lead all Chanute pitchers in this department. A Kenosha, Wis., product, big Matty was last with Huntington, W. Va., in the Mountain State league.

Most effective Planesmen hurler is Dave Hammes, who has permitted an average of only 1.8 earned runs per game. Used by the soldiers in relief assignment for the most part, this Bangor, Wis., resident was with Oklahoma City of the Texas league during the early part of the 1941 season.

Runners-up to Hammes in effectiveness are Jim Walkup of Havana, Ark., formerly with the St. Louis Browns, 2.89, and Burt Stover of Williamston, Miss., and Lansing, Michigan State league, 2.43.

ping the Boston Braves, 5-1 and 9-8, the first on a two-hit pitching job by Harry Gumbert. Walker Cooper led the Cardinal assault in both games, hitting a home run, three doubles and a single in seven times at bat.

In the American league, the first place New York Yankees also divided a double bill but boosted their lead to four and a half games with the help of the St. Louis Browns. While the Yankees were losing to the Detroit Tigers, 6-4, and winning, 3-1, in 13 innings, the Browns pinned a double defeat on the second place Boston Red Sox, 1-0 and 10-6.

Vander Meer Fans 13

Denny Galehouse blanked the Red Sox on six hits in the first game, but the Browns needed a six-run rally in the ninth inning, featured by Chet Laabs' three-run homer, to take the afterpiece.

Johnny Vander Meer matched the pitching exploits of French and Gumbert by tossing a three-hitter at the Philadelphia Phils as the Cincinnati Reds captured both ends of a bargain bill. Vandy struck out 13 men in winning, 2-0. Elmer Riddle pitched six-hit ball for the Reds in the nightcap, with Lonnie Frey doubling home the run that gave them a 2-1 triumph.

At Chicago, Lon Warneke made his first appearance since returning to the Cubs and was whacked soundly by the New York Giants, who captured the opener, 6-2, but the Cubs bounced back to square accounts, 8-3, with Hiram Bithorn doing the pitching and Lou Novikoff pacing the hitting.

Indians Sweep Pair

The Cleveland Indians took both ends of their twin bill from the Washington Senators, winning the first, 9-7, with a two-run rally in the 10th inning and the second, 5-0, on Jim Bagby's eight-hit pitching. Ken Keltner got four hits in the opener and started the game-winning rally with a single.

The day's best pitching performance in the American league was turned in by Jake Wade, who held the Philadelphia Athletics to three hits and contributed three blows himself, as the Chicago White Sox took the second game, 11-1. Roger Wolff pitched five-hit ball in winning the first game for the A's, 3-2, but snapped a 1-1 tie by walking in a run in the 10th inning and needed a walk, a triple by Elmer Valo and a single by Dick Siebert for two runs in the last half of the extra frame.

Flatville Nine Spanks Seymour in 7-3 Scrap

Idle Royal Takes E. I. Lead; Colts, Thomasboro Win.

Flatville unleashed a 12-hit attack at Seymour Sunday afternoon to score a 7-3 decision and bump Manager Dutch Young's squad from the Eastern Illinois league leadership. The feature game of the day found Chuck Campbell besting Seymour's best moundsmen, Harold Hall and Harvey Ditter, in the important scrap for the top rung of the ladder.

Manager John Franzen's youngsters helped Royal, which was idle, back into first place. The Hunter-Loeschen squad has won six and lost one, and Seymour has copped seven and dropped two. Flatville remained in third place with its sixth victory in nine starts.

Thomasboro protected its hold on fourth place with a double victory over the newly-organized Urbana club, Myron "Swede" Nelson playing the role of "iron man." Myron pitched both ends of the twin bill and was credited with both wins in the 9-1 and 16-4 contests.

At the Urbana softball park, Buckley's Dutch Masters employed four pitchers but could not halt Eddie Glover's Champaign Colts, who walked off with a 19-2 decision, earning the nod on 20 hits and several Buckley errors.

Art Busboom and Loeschen led the hitting attack against Seymour with three blows apiece. Dill Seymour had his best day of the campaign, hitting four for five off Campbell. The Franzen nine gave Campbell plenty to work on, scoring three in the first, but Seymour was right back with a pair in its half of the frame to tighten up the game. Three more in the sixth put the game in the bag for Campbell and the All-Stars.

Ray Thomas set the batting pace for the Colts with four for six, and Fonville, who pitched all the way for the locals, Williams, Pickens and Davis each had three hits apiece, Orval Klann and Steinberger got four of Buckley's six hits.

Thomasboro had no trouble with Urbana in either game and scored easily and early in both. Nelson allowed only two hits in the six-inning game and gave up only six in the seven-inning contest. He also led the hitting in the 16-4 scrap, getting four for five. Bud Walters and Kenny Marlin had three apiece.

Sailors Beat Chanute Nine Again, 4 to 2

Chanute Field (Staff)

Jim Walkup allowed Mickey Cochrane's Great Lakes team only six hits here Sunday afternoon but the Sailors coupled them with errors to score their third win over the Planesmen, 4-2. A crowd of 2,500 fans, including 100 guests from the U. S. Naval training station in Urbana, saw the well-played game.

Two of the Sailors' four runs were unearned.

The Planesmen scored their runs off Clint Clay, who relieved Russ Meers, former Danville pitcher who played with the Cubs before going to Great Lakes. In the seventh, with two out, Herb Scheffler scored after singling, coming home on Coleman Kays' infield hit. Herb scored again in the ninth, romping home on Hugh Corbin's single after poling a three-bagger down the right field line. He led the hitting with three for four, marking the 18th successive game in which he has hit safely.

The Planesmen were to play the Chicago Cubs in an exhibition game here this afternoon.

Red Sox Beat Ludlow, 13-10, In Tournament

Royal (Staff)

The first round of the Cornbelt post-season tournament was scheduled to be played here Sunday but in between rain showers only one game of the three on tap was completed although two games were started. In the morning Philo and St. Mary's were tied, 9-9, after eight innings before rain broke it up with no decision. Then in the afternoon Ludlow and Red Sox played a legal game of five innings before rain again chased the players with the Sox holding a 13-10 decision in a loosely played game.

What the commissioners will now do about the Cornbelt meet remains to be seen. There is a possibility of a special managers' meeting this week to straighten out the tangle. At any rate it's going to take two more Sundays of play to determine the champion instead of one more as planned.

The Sox pounded out 13 hits to accomplish their win over a Ludlow lineup studded with St. Mary's players, borrowed with the Sox' permission. The box score:

The National Hockey league will plug its vacancies with Canadian amateur players, according to President Frank Calder. The pros will be free, in the future, to take players of junior age at any time. In previous years they had to get formal permission in each case before the pucksters could be taken from their amateur clubs. Under Canadian rules, a junior hockey player "is one who is under 20 years of age on Nov. 1 of the season in which he wishes to play."

Royal Tops Thomasboro In 8 to 1 Tilt

Thomasboro (Staff)

Royal and Jay Fletcher scored their ninth victory in 11 starts in the Eastern Illinois baseball league here Sunday and fanned hopes of claiming a share of the pennant with Seymour and the Dean Thompson trophy in a subsequent play-off, date of which is to be set later.

Fletcher chalked up his ninth win in 10 starts and allowed only five hits in the 8-1 contest. Thomasboro, performing with a patched-up lineup, left 10 men on the bases and left six stranded on third. Royal collected 14 hits off Myron Nelson and Eldred Hadley, with Lober, Don Cribbett, Lacey, Henry Osterbur and Harm and Herm Frerichs getting two apiece.

But for a Royal-Urbana game, the league season is complete. Royal, when and if the teams meet, is a heavy favorite to win, which would pit the Hunter-Lopeschen entry against Seymour again, this time for sole possession of the championship and the Dean Thompson trophy.

Next Sunday, E. I. teams open their annual tournament. At Thomasboro, Joe Maier's club plays Urbana and Flatville takes on the Colts. First game—Flatville-Colts—is billed for 12:30 and Thomasboro and Urbana will play the nightcap. Royal plays at Buckley.

Four Bears Injured In Camp Grant Game

Delafield, Wis. (AP)

Four players nursed minor injuries yesterday as the Chicago Bears, National pro football league champions, went through a light workout in preparation for Friday night's game against the College All-Stars.

Bill Geyer, Ray McLean, Ray Nolting and Arnie Winters were injured when the Bears defeated the Camp Grant Warriors, 32 to 6. Owner-Coach George Halas said the injuries were not serious.

Maier, Riley Win Shoots

Jake Maier of Thomasboro and Frank Riley of Champaign won first places in 50-bird events at the Champaign-Urbana Gun club Sunday. Maier knocked down 47 of 50 in the 16-yard event and Riley broke 43 in the handicap. Ed Jackson of Champaign was second in the 16-yard shoot with 45-50 and Fred Swanson was second to Riley with 41-50.

In the 25-bird, 25-yard event, Ed Hord of Urbana was first with 19 and C. E. Pfeffer of Monticello placed second.

An unusually large field of shooters competed. Another of the popular shoots will be held next month if opening of dove season does not interfere with the clubs plans.

'Little Bears' Gird Stars for Big Bad Bears

Evanston (AP)

The man at the gate of the Dyche Stadium practise field stared suspiciously before saying:

"You can't go inside unless Bob Zuppke says you're all right."

College All-Stars, in their annual August battle with the National football league champions, have held "secret practises" before, at which half the Northwestern university campus often was in attendance. But they never before battened down the doors like they did this year.

Like Old Times

Inside, Zuppke, the former master mind of Illinois gridiron teams, stalked around as in olden days in a droopy pair of old pants.

He squinted around the field, where his coaching assistants—Lynn Waldorf and Burt Ingwerson of Northwestern, Homer Norton of Texas A. and M. and Lon Stiner of Oregon State—busied themselves.

"Hey, where's Stiner," Zuppke shouted at an equipment boy. "Tell him the Little Bears are waiting for him."

There's one of the best yarns out of the training camp:

In previous years the All-Stars coaches have been beset by a dozen or so collegians who couldn't measure up to the other three fourths of the squad. They were lads doomed almost from the first day to get no more than a few lines of type in the program. Usually they have been nothing but a pain in the neck to the busy general staff.

Little Bears Frolicksome

But this year Zuppke sorted out his lesser lights and dubbed them "the Little Bears." Lon Stiner was nicknamed "George Halas" and sent out to teach the Little Bears the T formation as operated by Owner-Coach Halas and his pro league champions. Their duties are to show the All-Stars what to expect Friday night in Soldier Field.

The Little Bears responded to their new role with unexpected gusto. Today they're the noisiest bunch—and the hardest workers—on the field.

"And that's something," Zuppke grinned. "Listen to those boys chatter out there. Been like that from the first day we got together."

Bob Moser to See Service With Stars

Chanute Field (Staff)

Lieut. Robert Derace Moser will "carry the mail" for Chanute field and the College All-American team in the game with Chicago Bears at Soldiers field next Friday night.

The Air Forces officer from this post is being groomed for a leading, passing, punting and running role in the offensive that Coach Bob Zuppke's team is readying at its Northwestern university training camp. Lieut. Moser scored one touchdown on a 60-yard run and set up another with two pretty passes in recent scrimmage games.

Red Sox Beat Ludlow, 13-10, In Tournament

Royal (Staff)

The first round of the Cornbelt post-season tournament was scheduled to be played here Sunday but in between rain showers only one game of the three on tap was completed although two games were started. In the morning Philo and St. Mary's were tied, 9-9, after eight innings before rain broke it up with no decision. Then in the afternoon Ludlow and Red Sox played a legal game of five innings before rain again chased the players with the Sox holding a 13-10 decision in a loosely played game.

What the commissioners will now do about the Cornbelt meet remains to be seen. There is a possibility of a special managers' meeting this week to straighten out the tangle. At any rate it's going to take two more Sundays of play to determine the champion instead of one more as planned.

The Sox pounded out 13 hits to accomplish their win over a Ludlow lineup studded with St. Mary's players, borrowed with the Sox' permission. The box score:

Thomasboro in Upset Victory Over Colts, 8-6

Rain wiped out three of the four games scheduled Sunday which were supposed to decide the Eastern Illinois baseball tournament champion. The only game played was the morning affair at Thomasboro in which the hosts upset the league champions, the Champaign Colts, by an 8-6 count. This was a first round game postponed from a week before.

The four survivors—Thomasboro, Chanute Field, Plumbers and Buckley—will get together next Sunday to finish the tourney. The games will be played at Hessell Park in Champaign. At 12:30 Chanute and Buckley will clash to be followed by the Plumbers versus Thomasboro. The two winners will then meet at 8 o'clock that evening under the lights for the title game.

Thomasboro made but five hits Sunday but made every one count against the Colts whose play afield was very ragged. On the eighth Thomasboro sewed up the decision by scoring two runs on an error, two stolen bases and hits by Nelson and Stevenson. The box score:

Colts Favored to Take E.I. Tournament Title

Glover's Club Boasts Hitting Plus Pitching

Eddie Glover's Champaign Colts went into the Eastern Illinois league tournament today with the role of favorite tucked away in their hip pockets, and the rest of the field out to "get" the league champion, as is always the case in these spirited battles for post-season tournament honors.

There is added incentive this year, as the tournament champion earns the right to represent the league at the annual state amateur tournament, along with the league champion. Should the Colts win the tournament, too, the second delegate will be determined on batting averages.

The prelims are to be played this afternoon at Thomasboro and Seymour. Ranked along with the Colts are Buckley and Seymour, which on occasions have shown championship form. Finals will be played next Sunday at Hessel park.

The Colts rank as favorites because of a combination of hitting and pitching which only two teams, Chanute Field and Buckley, have been able to match. The Colts dropped their first start of the season to the Soldiers, who have since slid to the bottom of the first division, and a couple of weeks ago Buckley took the measure of the colored club. For that reason, Buckley is the tournament dark-horse. Howard Martin's splendid hurling has boosted the Dutch Masters' stock considerably. In their last four starts they have been unbeaten, numbering the Colts and Plumbers among their victims. Ed Kneuppel and Gleason have been carrying the offensive loan for the Buckley club.

Deke Glenn's pitching for the Colts this year has been little less than superb. Deke has copped eight games in nine trips to the hill and has walked only 13 men. No strike-out artist, he allows the batters to hit and is supported by what is ordinarily a steady, fast defense. Glover's hitters are Jim Carter, who is pasting the pill at a portly .417 clip, Grimes, Pope, Harvey Glenn and Bud Day. The four last named are hitting over .300.

The Plumbers meet Flatville, an arch-rival, minus the services of three valuable men. Lonnie Scofield, No. 2 pitcher, left today for a vacation trip to Minnesota and John "Red" Pace, a .333 hitter, will not be available. Bud Larsen, third baseman, is out of the city

P. S.—Mrs. Carpenter also lost the match.

First School Evens Series

Chanute Field (Staff)

Pat Kernoski's single in the bottom of the ninth inning enabled the First School team to shade the post team 7-6 here Saturday afternoon and even the series at 1-1 in the battle for the post title.

John Relic, a Flying Cadet and new member of the First School nine, hammered out a triple to set up the winning run. On Kernoski's single over second base Relic scampered home with the deciding marker.

It was Kernoski's first pitching assignment in six weeks. He allowed 14 hits but the post team ran bases poorly to lose several scoring opportunities.

A newcomer in the post team line-up, Bill Vogt, former University of Iowa captain, hit a homer to account for one of the post team's runs.

Cowboy Ball Team Signed To Play Here

The Oklahoma Cowboy softball team of Enid, Okla., has been signed to play the Chanute Field Hornets here Aug. 20, Wilbur Zech, Urbana league secretary, announced Saturday.

The Cowboy-Hornets game is one of several top-notch exhibition games lined up for the late summer program at the Urbana park. On Aug. 22 the Chanute Bluebirds tackle the Peoria Caterpillars, one of the tractor city's finest teams.

The Cowboys leave Enid on Aug. 15 for a vacation trip to Toronto, Can., where they are slated to play three exhibition games at the National Canadian exposition. They have made several extended tours in the last few years, playing such teams as the Rochester, N. Y., Kodaks, Briggs of Detroit, Tru-Blu of Washington, D. C., and Bethlehem Steels of Baltimore. They have appeared in 24 states. Besides playing against the Hornets the Oklahoma team will stage a 30-minute program of cowboy songs, pistol shooting while blindfolded and a skit entitled "Case at the Bat."

Tonight's games at the park pit Mayview against the strong Lincoln Tavern team of Decatur and Butternut against Pepsi-Cola. There will be a small charge for admission.

Colts Defeat Seymour, Move Closer to Title

Plumbers Top Ivesdale for 10th Victory

Seymour (Staff)

The Champaign Colts, rebounding from their loss to second-division Buckley a week ago, scored a 3-0 triumph over Seymour here Sunday to move a step closer to the Eastern Illinois league pennant.

Meanwhile Champaign's Plumbers were trimming Ivesdale 11-5 for their 10th victory and a firm grip on the contenders' spot.

The Plumbers' play Buckley in their final league game Tuesday night at Hessel park in Champaign. The Colts still have one game remaining with Thomasboro and Buckley.

No Earned Runs

The Colts didn't earn a run against Dutch Young's club. In the first inning, Bud Kenner walked, went to second on Max Armantrout's error and scored on an infield hit by Jim Carter. In the second frame, two errors and an infield hit by Clay, and a long high fly to center field, netted two more runs. One of the markers was registered by Lewis, who had struck out but reached second when Catcher Armantrout lost the last strike. Three Colts reached first by that method.

Seymour got only two hits, singles by Bill Boedeker and Johnny White, off Deke Glenn, whose slow, fast-breaking curve tied local batters in knots. The Colts were given only three singles by Walt Numrich, U. of I. right-hander, who struck out 12 men. Eddie Glover's league-leaders, whose victory was their 10th against two losses, played great ball afield, coming up with two double plays to thwart the Seymour offense.

Chanute Wins

The Plumbers scored easily against Ivesdale after the first two innings, in which the latter took a 3-0 lead. Lonnie Scofield went the route for the Champaign nine, allowing 12 hits and whiffing six. Joe Pfeffer's record was the same. Bud Larson, third baseman, led the batting attack for the winners with a single, double and three-bagger in five trips.

In a free-hitting game at Chanute Field, the post team slugged Thomasboro 16-7 on 18 hits, nine of which were poled by Lawson, Gilonski and Ramer. Harry Manke, Anderson and R. Maier led the 11-hit Thomasboro attack.

At Flatville, Buckley won a 5-2 decision from John Franzen's club in a tight contest. Buckley garnered seven hits, Flatville six.

First School Wins 11th as Season Ends

Chanute Field's 1st School baseball team closed its regular season Sunday at Pesotum, beating St. Mary's 12-10 for its 11th victory in 12 games in the Cornbelt league, and became the second team in two years to win the league title in its first year of membership.

In beating St. Mary's the Soldiers were forced to the limit, Reid's homer in the top of the ninth—a three-run wallop—deciding the issue. St. Mary's had taken the lead in the last of the eighth after losing a 2-0 lead it had gained in the opening inning.

Patterson, Chanute catcher, enjoyed a perfect day at bat with five for five. Buddemeier got four for five for the Saints, including a home run.

Philo hammered Fisher's pitches for 25 hits, a single-game record for the season, to win 17-10, overcoming an 8-0 lead the losers notched in the second frame. It was the third straight victory for Philo, which plays St. Mary's at Philo next Sunday. Joe Scully, who started at short and then pitched when Fisher hammered Bob Claiborne from the hill in the second, hit five for five, including a triple and homer, to pace the winners. Johnny Worban hit four, giving him a record of nine hits in 10 times at bat in the last two games.

In the other game on the program, the Red Sox won 14-11 from Ludlow.

College All-Stars to Concentrate on Defense

Snavely drew a squad of more than 40 of last year's college gridders around him at Dyche stadium yesterday and told them he hoped they could meet the All Stars engaged in their initial workout.

Thomasboro's game with the Champaign Colts was called in the third inning when a heavy rain fell. In the first two innings the hosts and the Champaign colored team were deadlocked at 1-1, with the Colts pushing across a run in the top of the third.

Bud Merryman's three-bagger, Bob Sprinkle's hit and a sacrifice by Shag Rawlings accounted for the Plumbers' winning runs against Flatville. Franzen's outfit out-hit the Plumbers 9-7. The winners were playing without the services of two regulars. Bud Larson, third baseman, and John "Red" Pace, outfielder.

semi-final round of the Eastern Illinois league tournament here Sunday afternoon.

Gangling Mr. Martin's wallop, a long high fly to right center, nipped Seymour 6-5 in as thrilling a ball game as has been staged in the E. I. circuit all summer. The first nine innings, the regulation route, were packed with excitement, but it wasn't until the extra innings rolled around that the fun really began. It was not just a ball game as the first one was. Chanute Field came from the beating Ivesdale 13-6, one of the few blanks of the season.

Seymour went into the bottom of the ninth inning needing a run to break a 5-5 tie. Dutch Young's club had scored twice in the opening frame to earn a lead it held until the Dutch Masters pushed across a pair in the fifth to add to one they registered in the third. Buckley notched another one in the seventh to widen the gap but the locals got three in the same heat to hop out in front by a one-run margin. But the deadlock arrived again in the eighth when Manager Werner Janssen's hustling crew collected again.

What Pitching!

To get back to Seymour's scoring opportunity in the ninth, Young's boys loaded the bags with only one out. Martin went to work in earnest, however, and prevented what appeared to be certain defeat. Walt Numrich, Illinois lefthander who has been throwing for the locals this season, opened the home half of the inning with a clean single to right, his second of the day. Dutch Young popped to Charlie Klann between first and second. Dale Cline walked. Bob Finn followed suit and all bases were occupied.

The crowd edged toward the exits when Bill Boedeker, a murderous hitter strode to the plate. Martin took a couple of hitches in his belt and got down to business with a side arm delivery that produced a low fast ball that cut across Bill's knees. On three straight pitches, Boedeker fanned, swinging hard at all three. Coonie Young popped to Charlie Klann and the threat was smothered. It was a brilliant display of clutch pitching by long and lean Mr. Martin, who plans to return to Illinois State Normal for second-semester studies and baseball.

Martin had a big afternoon. After that masterful demonstration of hitting he was a hero for sure. A few minutes later he was the goat, hitting into a double play with the bases loaded, and then again he donned the hero's toga when he settled the torrid debate with his 12-inning triple.

Bunts Into Double

The Buckley right-hander went to bat in the tenth with three mates on the paths. Charlie Klann caromed a single off Numrich's glove and Tom Hull walked. Klann romped to third when Connie Young made a play on him at second, the ball getting away from brother Babe Young. Ed Knueppel was passed and the bases were crammed. Martin had the right idea, but his bunt went directly to Numrich, who tossed to Young for an out at the plate. Young threw to Boedecker at first and Martin was retired. Numrich then whiffed Francis Gleason and the inning ended.

Hitting star for Seymour was Numrich, who garnered three of the team's seven hits. The Klann clan, Orval and Charlie, hit three apiece to pace the scrappy Dutch Masters.

Putvin Stars

Chanute had no trouble ousting Ivesdale, which won the tournament championship last season at Thomasboro. A big second inning, in which the Fliers tallied eight runs, was too much a handicap for the Irish to overcome.

Putvin's four hits—two singles, a double and triple—was the spearhead of the winners' attack, and Gil Priestley and Starr Owen helped considerably by pounding out

Colts, Seymour Battle In E.I. Feature Today

Crucial Games Dot Schedule; Sox Play Here

The fate of contenders for the Eastern Illinois Baseball league pennant will be determined today in two games, one of which will be played at Seymour and the other at Ivesdale.

At Seymour, Dutch Young's third-place team, with Harvey Ditter doing the twirling, will tackle the Champaign Colts, league leaders and favorites to cop if the weather is right. The Colts, who bog down in damp weather, are hoping the heat wave continues until at least 5 p. m. Under a hot sun, Eddie Glover's outfit is tough to beat.

Today's Schedule

E. I. LEAGUE

Colts at Seymour.
Plumbers at Ivesdale.
Thomasboro at Chanute.
Buckley at Flatville.

CORNBELT

Ludlow at Red Sox.
First School at St. Mary's.
Philo at Fisher.

The Colts must win this one to take the title. Even then, they still have a postponed game with Buckley, one of the two teams that hold a decision over them, to play off. Should they lose one more game, the Champaign Plumbers will remain in a contending position.

The Plumbers travel to Ivesdale to tackle George Fallon's ever-dangerous nine. Long Joe Pfeffer, always tough on the Plumbers, is slated to chuck for the Irish, and Warren Buswell, who threw a three-hitter at Chanute Field last Sunday, will start for the locals.

The Colts have won nine and lost two and the Plumbers have copped nine and lost three. Seymour, in third place, is but a game behind the Colts with a record of nine and four.

All three teams are in the running for the title and today's games are crucial contests in one of the hottest and tightest finishes in the history of the circuit.

The Colts already have beaten Seymour one game and the Plumbers have beaten Ivesdale.

In other games, Thomasboro and Chanute Field battle for fourth place at the post diamond, and Flatville and Buckley tangle for the dubious honors of moving out of the cellar.

The Cornbelt league winds up its schedule with a three-game bill at the Urbana Softball park, where the Champaign Red Sox entertain Ludlow; at Pesotum, where St. Mary's plays the new champion, First School of Chanute Field, and at Fisher, where Philo appears.

It was a tough one to call. It might have gone down as a dead heat, but the judges, sitting right over the wire, picked Dunkin. There never was a closer race.

Corray said early in the week that his ambition was the promotion, somehow, of the Urbana grounds as year-around training quarters for harness horses. The week's program did much to spur interest in that project.

In a recent game with the Indians in Cleveland, Manager Jimmy Dykes of the White Sox was jarred from the bench when he saw Moose Solters tear from second to third, just after the batter had fouled out for the second out.

"What the hell's going on out there!" Dykes bellowed to Mule Haas, third base coach.

Haas motioned to a photographer, Herb Rebzman, and answered:

"The kid needed an action picture."

Fred J. Bendel in the Newark News:

"Some years ago, when Dusty Cooke joined the Yankees, a young writer who knew more about crickett than baseball took a dislike to the prized Southerner. Daily he devoted a special portion of his story to harpooning Cooke and his alleged shortcomings. Ed Barrow, the Yankee war horse, snorted fire from both of his ample nostrils back home in New York. Angered by an especially vitriolic barb at the rookie for whom Colonel Jacob Ruppert is said to have turned down a $100,000 Chicago Cub offer, Barrow wired Mark Roth, Yankee road secretary, at St. Petersburg:

" 'If Cooke is as bad as this article, he ought to be sent home at once. If he isn't, the writer, Joe Zommsich, ought to be put on the next train.'

"Two weeks later, at Birmingham, Ala., Cooke celebrated his first Yankee home run with three on. As he trotted over the plate, Bill Slocum, at that time New York baseball writer, without cracking a smile, dictated to his operator:

" 'Cooke hit a homer over the right field wall, sending home Combs, Gehrig, Ruth and the representative of the New York Morning Blurb'."

Etten Takes Batting Lead

New York (AP)

While Ted Williams continues to keep the American league ringing with his .400-plus batting average, a new hitting leader has popped up in the National league.

He is Nick Etten, first baseman of the Philadelphia Phillies, and he came along this week to oust Pete Reiser of Brooklyn from the rung he had occupied for weeks.

Etten lifted his batting average from .324 to .337 during the week while Reiser dropped from .333 to .331.

Williams, the raider of the Boston Red Sox, fattened his mark from an even .400 to a terrific .409. Joe DiMaggio of the New York Yankees clung doggedly to second with .379, a two-point advance.

Just as if the 99th Pursuit Squadron already hadn't captured enough sports honors, Major Harold R. Maddux, commanding officer of the all-Negro squadron, won the officers' golf championship.

Firing a sizzling 84 over the rolling Urbana Country club course, Major Maddux defeated Lt. W. F. Mandt of the 8th School Squadron to capture the championship. Lt. Mandt shot an 87.

Major Maddux advanced to the finals of the tournament with successive victories over Lt. A. D. Buckmaster, Major S. B. Mack and Lt. W. W. Snekow.

Lt. Mandt reached the finals by defeating Capt. E. F. Resek, Lt. R. W. Ryder, and Lt. Col. Alfred Lindeburg.

Buckley Plays Colts in E. I. Contest Here

The Champaign Colts, riding the crest of a nine-game winning streak, go after their 10th win in 11 games this afternoon, meeting Buckley, less potent than in 1940, at Hessel park at 2:30.

Eddie Glover's well-balanced outfit can clinch sole possession of the Eastern Illinois baseball league pennant by knocking off the Dutch Masters. Glover will send Deke Glenn to the hill. The Deacon already has chalked up seven victories.

Only the Champaign Plumbers are in a contending position now, and, if the Colts annex this afternoon, Andy Grierson's club, win or lose, will be out of the pennant picture. The locals have won eight and lost three and are a half game in front of third-place Seymour.

The Plumbers go to Chanute Field to tackle a rejuvenated Fliers team which has picked up considerable speed, thanks to Uncle Sam's draft law. Through the draft went Starr Owen and Gil Priestley to the Rantoul post and since they slid into Chanute togs, the Fliers have not lost a game.

Seymour plays at Thomasboro and Flatville travels to Ivesdale in other E. I. games.

In the Cornbelt, Leroy Barnes of the Champaign Red Sox promises to have his most powerful lineup of the season on the field when the ex-Cornbelt title-holders tackle a great 1st School team from Chanute Field. The game will be played at 2:30 at the Urbana softball park.

Barnes is depending upon such stars as Ray Thomas, Snapper Johnson, Leroy Pickens and John Baxter to aid the Sox in their attempt to avenge an early-season loss at the hands of the Soldiers, who can claim sole possession of the Cornbelt cup if they get past the Sox.

St. Mary's at Fisher and Ludlow at Royal round out the Cornbelt program.

Ted Resumes Hitting Pace

Back on regular duty after nursing an injured ankle, Ted Williams of the Boston Red Sox has taken up where he left off with his dead-ly bat and is hitting .400 again.

Janesville of the Wisconsin State league, is going great guns under Wallie Roettger at the Cubs' baseball school in Chicago, according to Shorty Burke, a fast friend and counselor.

Since Johnny joined the Cub camp he has pitched 10 innings, allowed no hits, given no walks and struck out 22 men. The students work out every day from 9 o'clock in the morning until 1 p. m., then attend the Cubs game.

Three thousand are enrolled when the course starts in the summer, and later the squads are cut to 300. During the last six weeks only a squad of 35 players is on hand for the grand finale.

Boyd Bartley, who played so sensationally at short for Illinois last spring, is a product of the school.

Bill Corray, superintendent of speed at the county fair, visions permanent and complete stables for large strings of harness horses at the fair grounds before many more years have passed.

"With a couple of new barns, and a good cinder track, we could get some of the best stables in the country here for year-around work," Bill contends. "A lot of owners and trainers like it here but during the winter months the barns would not be suitable. In the first place, we don't have enough room for any horses other than those that trained here all last winter."

Corray believes that construction of two new barns could shortly transpose the grounds from just average winter headquarters to one of the best training grounds in the country. "We already have started on a good cinder track," Bill said Saturday, "and perhaps before long we will have made enough money to erect the barns we need."

Riggs Takes Tennis Title

Sea Bright, N. J. (AP)

Bobby Riggs, a veteran of all the world's tennis classics at 23, wrote a new chapter into the records of the historic Sea Bright invitation tournament yesterday and did it with the ease of a true champion.

By polishing off Ted Schroeder of Glendale, Calif., in straight sets, 6-4, 6-4, 6-0, the former National champion became the first player in the tournament's 54-year history to win the coveted Sea Bright singles bowl for the fourth time — an achievement which escaped such stars as Bill Tilden, Vinnie Richards and Ellsworth Vines.

It took the smooth-stroking Chicagoan little more than an hour to dispose of the 20-year-old Schroeder, who had established himself as the giant-killer of the tournament by upsetting National champion Don McNeill and Wayne Sabin in his march to the finals. Riggs, whose string of triumphs here was started in 1937 and was interrupted in 1939 by Frankie Parker, held the upper hand from the moment he opened the match with a blistering service ace.

The women's doubles championship went to Mrs. Sarah Palfrey Cooke of New York and Margaret Osborne of San Francisco. They scored a 6-4, 5-7, 6-2 victory over the California team of Pauline Betz and Dorothy May Bundy.

First to qualify for the men's doubles final were Wayne Sabin of Reno, Nev., and Gardnar Mulloy of

When the Green Hornets, one of Chanute Field's softball representatives, won the right to advance to the state tournament last week it marked a personal triumph for one of the best liked sergeants at this big air corps technical training school. He is Master Sergeant Golden R. Davis, a big, jolly fellow whose past 24 years have been spent in the service.

While the Army has been Davis' life work since he enlisted for overseas service in 1918, his interest in baseball, and its offspring, softball, dates back even farther. He played outfield for Poplar Bluff, Mo., in the Southern league and was slated for a chance with the St. Louis Browns when war broke.

A dose of mustard gas, which badly burned his left leg, brought an end to Davis' active baseball career but didn't affect his interest in the game. He was gassed during the Argonne offensive. He also went over the top in the St. Mihiel attack.

In 1920 "Goldie," as he is affectionately known by officers and enlisted men alike, transferred from infantry to air corps while still in Europe. ## Mrs. Cooke Winner of Seabright Net Tourney

Sea Bright, N. J. (AP)

Bobby Riggs and Mrs. Sarah Palfrey Cooke are king and queen of the 54th annual Sea Bright invitational tennis tournament, and the experts are laying heavy odds that they'll march unmolested to the national throne.

Mrs. Cooke, the pretty New Yorker who captured her first Sea Bright title eight years ago, joined Riggs on the winner's pedestal yesterday by outfighting a rival New Yorker, Helen Bernhard, in a three set battle, 6-8, 6-2, 7-5. Riggs won his laurel on Saturday by trouncing Ted Schroeder in straight sets.

Today the titleholders parted ways, Riggs leading the men's field into the annual Southampton,

Buckley Tops Colts, Locals Beat Chanute

Buckley, which had won only three games in 10 starts, registered a startling upset Sunday afternoon when it defeated the Champaign Colts, E. I. league leaders, in an 11-7 duel.

The Champaign Plumbers, meanwhile, were soundly spanking Chanute Field, 15-0, behind the three-hit pitching by Warren Buswell. The victory enabled the Plumbers to move closer to a crack at the league pennant. The Colts meet Seymour here next Sunday and must win to take the title. The Plumbers play at Ivesdale.

The Colts were in trouble all the way as they tried in vain to halt the Dutch Masters, who chalked up 10 runs in the fourth and fifth innings. The Colts pushed across four in the ninth but the rally was cut short by tight play by Buckley.

Pope and Carter led Colt hitting and Earl Gehle hit four for six, including two doubles, to spark the Dutch Masters' attack.

Buswell was in complete control throughout the Plumbers' game at Chanute Field. He fanned eight, walked none and allowed only three hits. Bud Merryman, 16-year-old catcher, was the hitting hero with two singles, a double and three-bagger in four times up. Leon Shoaf and Red Pace hit for three apiece.

At Ivesdale, George Fallon's club got plenty of men on bases but *couldn't hit them home and Flat*ville walked off with a 4-3 decision, its second in 12 games. Ivesdale out-hit John Franzen's nine 18-11.

Bob Finn and Harvey Ditter hit and pitched Seymour to an 8-2 victory over Thomasboro in the other game on the E. I. card. Finn got a double and two singles in four trips to the plate and Ditter got two for three and allowed the losers only five hits. Joe Maier hit two for four to pace Thomasboro.

Royal Blasts Ludlow, 17-0

Royal (Staff)

Royal, behind the three-hit pitching of Jay Fletcher and an 18-hit batting attack, blasted Ludlow 17-0 here Sunday to chalk up its eighth win in 11 starts in the Cornbelt league.

Fletcher struck out 16 men and gave up only three hits, two of which bounced off the bat of Wayne Tolliver, Ludlow catcher. Hank Osterbur, up six times, hammered out five hits to set the pace offensively for the victors.

At Fisher, Manager Ev Hedrick's team enjoyed one of its best days of the season as it defeated St. Mary's 6-3. Fisher was out-hit 10-7 but Ward Mansely on the hill for

Leavitt Corp. Named by Gill In $10,000 Suit

Charging illegal use of his name in the manufacture and sale of athletic equipment, Harry L. Gill, veteran retired track coach of the University of Illinois, filed suit demanding $10,000 damages from Leavitt Corp., Urbana, in circuit court Saturday morning.

Mr. Gill also asked an injunction restraining the corporation from further use of his name in its business and that the firm account for and pay over to him all profits realized upon manufacture and sale of equipment during the period of alleged unlawful use of his name.

Also named a defendant in the suit was Clyde R. Elvis, president and manager of Leavitt Corp.

According to the complaint filed by Mr. Gill's attorneys, Dobbins, Dobbins and Thomas, on July 1, 1927, he entered into a contract with the Leavitt Manufacturing Co., predecessor of Leavitt Corp., giving the firm the exclusive right to manufacture and sell the "Gill Line of Athletic Implements" for a period of 15 years and to use his name, photograph and signature in connection with any of the articles manufactured.

Voidance Clause in Contract

However, Mr. Gill's complaint contends, the contract stipulated that it would be void in the event of the failure or insolvency of the Leavitt Manufacturing Co.

The complaint relates that Leavitt Manufacturing Co. became insolvent July 6, 1937, and had "insufficient assets to meet claims of creditors." The contract was then regarded as terminated.

When Leavitt Manufacturing Co. was adjudicated a bankrupt in federal court Aug. 13, 1937, certain assets of the company were purchased by Leavitt Corp., headed by Mr. Elvis.

Since that time, the complaint alleges, Leavitt Corp. has appropriated and used the trade-mark "Gill" patented by the predecessor firm, without authority of Mr. Gill.

Sets Up Own Company

For the last several years Mr. Gill has been engaged in the manufacture and sale of the "Gill Line of Athletic Equipment" through the Harry L. Gill Co.

Mr. Gill charges that the alleged continued unlawful use of his name "has and does mislead purchasers and consumers of the articles sold by Leavitt Corp., to believe that they were made under the supervision, requirements and specifications of Harry L. Gill."

The pieces of athletic equipment involved, according to the former Illini coach, include vaulting poles, vaulting standards, jumping standards, finishing posts, javelins, high and low hurdles, discus, batons, circles for shot putting, discus throwing and hammer throwing, toe boards, take off boards and vaulting boxes.

Chanute Field

The Champaign Red Sox' monopoly on Cornbelt league victories—they were unbeaten when they claimed the championship last year—appears to be headed for the discard. Leroy Barnes' colorful crew came up here Sunday afternoon with a string of four straight and dropped a 7-2 duel to the well-balanced 1st School team. It was the first loss the Sox had suffered since they joined the circuit in 1940.

By virtue of the triumph, negotiated before the largest crowd of the season, the Soldiers jumped into first place. Ludlow, which had a perfect record going into Sunday's round of games, dropped a 5-1 scrap to Royal and now sits in third place behind the Barnes Bombers.

Hall Breaks Up Game

This battle for the leadership was in some respects a dandy game, in others nothing but a sandlot display. Lefty Buickel, 19-year-old Indiana youth who was at one time the property of the Boston Bees, pitched the Soldiers from Victorville and Bert Hall, first baseman, broke up the game in the seventh with a screaming three-bagger that accounted for three runs.

George Bigham went the route for the Sox, pitching hitless ball for the first five innings. The new leaders stomped back to the bench after each jaunt to the plate, claiming loudly that Mr. Bigham had nothing on the ball. He had them swinging at everything he threw, however, and it appeared, going into the seventh, that the Sox were en route to their fifth straight.

Bigham Tires

Bigham tired in the seventh and the Soldiers, swinging slowly with no thought of killing the ball, put the game on ice. The Sox flinger walked the first man and hit the next two. Hall rifled his three-ply hit down the left field line and three runs came home. Earl Cornette knocked a single into center and Hall loped in with the fourth run of the inning. On singles by Reagan, Buickel and Welch and an error the winners scored two more runs in the eighth.

Most of the batting averages took a dive as the Sox hit Buickel for only six. Elsa Utley, the Sox' speedy shortstop, and Ray Thomas fattened their averages with three hits apiece. Elsa took four trips to the plate and hit a pair of singles and a double and Thomas connected for three singles in four tries. Cornette was the only Chanute batter to hit twice.

At Ludlow, Joe Fletcher limited the hosts to six hits as Bob Hunter's club scored its third victory. Fletcher struck out 15 men and collected one of the nine hits Royal got off two Ludlow flingers. Henry Frerichs led the winners' attack with three for four.

Fisher dropped its fourth game, 10-4, at St. Mary's.

Tuscola Club Quits Eastern Illinois Loop

Poor Support Reason Given By Bud Wiese

Baseball's demise in Tuscola, home of the Merchants of the Eastern Illinois league, was announced today by Manager Bud Wiese, former University of Illinois and Three-Eye league pitcher, who stated that the Tuscola club had withdrawn from the E. I. and would play no more baseball this season. Wiese added that Tuscola would make no attempt to gain membership in the E. I. in 1941.

Wiese's statement to The Evening Courier followed the league commission's announcement that Tuscola had been dropped from the organization.

Choppy financial seas and the rigors of weekly campaigns to attract crowds to Tuscola games were reasons advanced by Wiese for the withdrawal.

"No Crowds"

"We just can't make a go of it," said the former Illini flinger. "Cooperation from the Tuscola sports commission has been grand but we have been unable to get out the crowds. Financially we are even for the season and feel that the wise thing to do is quit."

Wiese also hinted that another E. I. team, one of the strongest teams in the circuit, would also be missing when the commission calls the first meeting in 1941.

Tuscola's was an expensive team this season. It cost the sponsors $17 to put a team on the field each Sunday, the money going to players imported.

"We knew it would cost us money to put a team on the field that would give fans a run for their money. But it's too expensive a project," the Merchants' pitcher-manager said. "We won the mid-season tournament and all in all it cost us $10."

Break for Seymour

The Merchants will forfeit games to Thomasboro, Ivesdale and Seymour. The forfeit to Seymour may allow Dutch Young's club to climb into a tie for the championship, providing, of course, that it whips its remaining foes, Buckley, Monticello and Flatville. With the season behind schedule now, it may be that Seymour will not ask for playoffs of Flatville and Monticello contests. The Flatville-Seymour game was rained out and the Cowboys tied Seymour, 4-4, in 14 innings on June 2.

Tuscola has won both its 1940 games with Seymour. In a regular league contest on June 16 the Merchants walked off with a 13-1 decision and the following week, in the mid-season tourney title game Wiese and his club repeated, 15-5.

Al Nelson, reporting for the three-man commission, also announced that rained out games of last Sunday with be played on Sept. 1. The next league meeting will be held Sept. 3.

Exciting Tilts Dot Wednesday Baseball Card

By BILL WHITE
Of The Associated Press

This major league baseball roundup could very well be turned over to the drama department.

Take the National league, for example, In three of the four games yesterday, a generally unsung hero came through with a crashing blow to win. Or the junior circuit, where top dramatic achievements were turned in by two winning pitchers and where a villain of deepest dye was uncovered.

Piece by piece, the National league's most exciting moments were these:

In Cincinnati, the New York Giants, still functioning well with that patch-work lineup, had Mickey Witek to thank for their 5-4 victory over the league-leading Reds. In the 11th inning, with Capt. Mel Ott on base, Witek drove out a sharp single to win the game and keep the Reds from getting too far out in front in the pennant chase. That handed Whitey Moore his third loss of the season to the Jints, who banged out a total of 11 hits—one four more than the Reds could manage off Hal Schumacher and big Walter Brown, who got credit for the win.

Pinch Homer Beats Cubs

In Chicago, Charley Frey, pinch hitting and by trade a righthander pitcher, slapped out a tenth inning home run with a mate on base to give the Phillies a 7-5 win over the Chicago Cubs. Zeke Bonura had tied the game with a ninth inning homer, also with a mate aboard.

At Pittsburgh, young Vince DiMaggio doubled in the eighth inning to send Teammate Arky Vaughan home from first base and that gave the Pittsburgh Pirates a 3-2 second straight victory over the Boston Bees. Young Ken Heintzelman scattered eight Boston hits for his fifth victory.

There was plenty of action — but not much drama—in the 7-5 victory the St. Louis Cards managed over the Brooklyn Dodgers. Bumping the Brooks for the third straight time, the Cards bunched five of their six hits with three walks and a stolen base to score six times in the fifth inning.

Dutch Leonard headed the American League's parade of leading men with a smartly pitched eight hitter that gave him his 13th victory and snapped the Senators losing streak at five straight. His victims were the St. Louis Browns and the score was 3-0.

Bill Beckman did a nice ing job for the the White Sox to five blanking them 3-0.

Glover's Club Boasts Hitting Plus Pitching

Eddie Glover's Champaign Colts went into the Eastern Illinois league tournament today with the role of favorite tucked away in their hip pockets, and the rest of the field out to "get" the league champion, as is always the case in these spirited battles for post-season tournament honors.

There is added incentive this year, as the tournament champion earns the right to represent the league at the annual state amateur tournament, along with the league champion. Should the Colts win the tournament, too, the second delegate will be determined on batting averages.

The prelims are to be played this afternoon at Thomasboro and Seymour. Ranked along with the Colts are Buckley and Seymour, which on occasions have shown championship form. Finals will be played next Sunday at Hessel park.

The Colts rank as favorites because of a combination of hitting and pitching which only two teams, Chanute Field and Buckley, have been able to match. The Colts dropped their first start of the season to the Soldiers, who have since slid to the bottom of the first division, and a couple of weeks ago Buckley took the measure of the colored club. For that reason, Buckley is the tournament dark horse. Howard Martin's splendid hurling has boosted the Dutch Masters' stock considerably. In their last four starts they have been unbeaten, numbering the Colts and Plumbers among their victims. Ed Kneuppel and Gleason have been carrying the offensive loan for the Buckley club.

Deke Glenn's pitching for the Colts this year has been little less than superb. Deke has copped eight games in nine trips to the hill and has walked only 13 men. No strike-out artist, he allows the batters to hit and is supported by what is ordinarily a steady, fast defense. Glover's hitters are Jim Carter, who is pasting the pill at a portly .417 clip, Grimes, Pope, Harvey Glenn and Bud Day. The four last named are hitting over .300.

The Plumbers meet Flatville, an arch-rival, minus the services of three valuable men. Lonnie Scofield, No. 2 pitcher, left today for a vacation trip to Minnesota and John "Red" Pace, a .333 hitter, will not be available. Bud Larsen, third baseman, is out of the city at the moment fulfilling an engagement made several weeks ago. Warren Buswell was sent to the hill Friday night to beat Peabody

Pat Kernoski's single in the bottom of the ninth inning enabled the First School team to shade the post team 7-6 here Saturday afternoon and even the series at 1-1 in the battle for the post title.

John Relic, a Flying Cadet and new member of the First School nine, hammered out a triple to set up the winning run. On Kernoski's single over second base Relic scampered home with the deciding marker.

It was Kernoski's first pitching assignment in six weeks. He allowed 14 hits but the post team ran bases poorly to lose several scoring opportunities.

A newcomer in the post team line-up, Bill Vogt, former University of Iowa captain, hit a homer to account for one of the post team's runs.

Speed Trials Set For 18th

Indianapolis (AP)

The 46 remaining entrants in the Indianapolis motor speedway's 500-mile race will begin eliminations May 18 to determine the 33 starters in the May 30 classic.

Speedway officials announced last night that qualification trials would be held May 18 and 19 and then on succeeding days as necessary.

Under specifications calling the 33 cars running the fastest 500 miles qualifying runs may "dip the lines" to qualify at an average of at least 110 miles an hour.

One Death Already

If past years can be considered as an accurate indication, no more than 35 to 36 cars actually will attempt to qualify.

One of the 46 entrants in the race, George Bailey of Detroit, was killed and his car destroyed by fire yesterday.

A few hours after the fatal accident two of the favorites for this year's race—Wilbur Shaw of Indianapolis and Rex Mays of Glendale, Calif.—were on the track for warm-up runs. Shaw is driving the same Italian-built Maserati with which he won last year's race.

Unofficial Record

Mays, driving the car which Louis Meyer of Huntington Park, Calif., drove last year, unofficially broke the track record for one lap. He wheeled the black-and-

Anyone who has been going to our summer vacation lands of the northern part of this country for at least a couple of decades must often think back on the good old days when there were no automobiles tearing along on the roads, no things and no thats.

One could walk along a country road in real peace. Deer could be seen almost anywhere, and the wild life hadn't been driven to cover by the roar of modern motors.

The fishing was better; the hunting was better; there were more trees; more Indians, there was more of everything except people and the noise which accompanies them. At least that is the way most of us think when we reminisce. Those were "the good old days."

Now what is the situation we suffer when in the same north country? Instead of the dandy, smelly kerosene lamps with wicks which had to be trimmed and which had to be filled regularly, we now have lights which may be turned on with a twist of the fingers. Instead of candles we have those terrible flash lights.

Instead of slow, safe, picturesque backboard wagons which were drawn by plodding horses and we six miles in ten minutes at the most, and do their zeeping over roads which are scarcely made regular by trees.

In the good old days a man could row a boat wherever he wanted to go and exercise all of his talent muscles on a windy day in a way that he would long remember. If the day was too stormy the boat could be pulled ashore in the shelter of some noble tree where the rain could sift through in romantic fashion.

Today this we have outboard motors and inboard motors and get none of that healthy exercise which blistered the hands and broke the backs. When a cloud comes threatening across the sky we can hie homeward at a fast rate and not get wet. Shucks, things aren't what they used to be at all.

In the good old days one didn't have to eat salads and get the right vitamins. He could dine on salt pork, bacon, ham and such, up with crackers and the like. None had to eat steaks from the refrigerator cars. Those good old days!

In the good old days a man could fight it out with the mosquitoes and sometimes have a netting around

Sluggers Set New Marks With .550 Averages.

Elsa Utley, Champaign Red Sox shortstop, and Glen Custer, a member of the Ludlow squad, tied for the 1940 batting championship of the Cornbelt league with averages of .550, according to final figures released yesterday by the league statistician.

The portly .550 averages compiled by the pair of heavy hitters constitutes a new record. Previous high was the .527 chalked up in 1937 by Don Cribbett of Philo. Other former champs were Leary of LeRoy, .475 in 1938, and Houston of LeRoy, .492 in 1939.

Utley was at the plate 60 official times, hit 33 times and scored 22 runs. Custer was up 60 times, scored 27 times and got 33 hits.

The champion Red Sox walked off with pitching honors. Ray Thomas and James Nelson won three each and Powell won two. Other 1.000 pitchers were Martin Hedrick of Fisher and Pete Spratt of LeRoy. Pete Wagner of Gibson City paced the more active pitchers with seven victories and one loss. Henry Osterbur led the hurlers in strikeouts with 98. Wagner, in eight games, had a remarkable average of only one walk per game.

Carvel Rowell Leads Nation's Batting Battle

New York (AP)

Carvel (Dutch) Rowell, who appeared among the National league's leading hitters last week, is at the top of the heap yesterday while other hitting leaders in both major circuits are riding the toboggan.

Rookie Rowell smacked out 13 hits in 24 times at bat for the Boston Bees during the past week to push his average from .327 to .333. At the same time New York's Hank Danning skidded 9 points to the .321 mark.

Most of the other National league leaders also showed losses so that Dixie Walker of Brooklyn and Ernie Lombardi of Cincinnati both advanced several notches by adding only a couple of points to their averages.

Rip Radcliff of the St. Louis Browns remained on top of the American league heap although he hit safely only eight times in 28 attempts and his average slipped from .380 to .355. Boston's Lou Finney took a clear hold on second place by maintaining his .348 average while Barney McCosky dropped back a point. Further down the list there was general improvement with Luke Appling and Joe DiMaggio making the biggest gains.

The 10 leaders in each league:

Alice Marble Easily Wins Essex Net Title

Manchester, Mass. (AP)

Alice Marble, of Beverly Hills, Calif., the world queen of women's tennis, scored a clean sweep in the Essex County club's 16th annual tournament yesterday, winning her fourth Essex singles title and then pairing with Sarah Palfrey of Reno, Nev., to win the doubles.

The defending champion had an easy time winning the singles over Pauline Betz of Beverly Hills, Calif., 6-2, 6-2, but she and Miss Palfrey had to fight two full hours and 48 full games before they could overcome the British Wightman Cup tandem of Mary Hardwick and Valerie Scott, 10-12, 6-3, 6-3.

The triumph stretched Miss Marble's three-year singles record to 27 successive sweeps in the

Red Sox Top Royal, 7-6, Win Pennant

The Cornbelt league season is history—the Champaign Red Sox clinched the pennant Sunday, beating Royal 7-6 as Gibson City triumphed over Fisher 9-0 to take second place—but there remain three weeks of strife in the Eastern Illinois circuit before its pennant issue is settled.

Both the Champaign Plumbers and the Monticello Cowboys lost double-headers Sunday as second-division teams hit hard and often in surprise uprisings. Leverett, which has been struggling along near the cellar since it lost its ace pitcher, Don Pearson, introduced a new flinger, Ed Hansen, Sunday, and proceeded to down the Plumbers 6-4 and 11-8.

Monticello missed a chance to take the lead by dropping two games to Ivesdale, 3-2 in 10 innings and 6-3 in a regular nine-inning struggle.

Hansen Wins Two

Ed Hansen pitched both games for the Leverett diamondeers as they knocked over the Plumbers, who committed 19 errors in the twin offering. Warren Buswell, the Plumbers' regular flinger, and Harry Combes, hard-hitting shortstop, did not play.

Joe Alexander, who beat the Plumbers two weeks ago, tossed Ivesdale to victory over the Cowboys in the first game of the program at Monticello, allowing only four hits, and Jack Masters gave up only six blows as Ivesdale won the second. Masters allowed only one hit until the ninth inning.

Red Pace led Tuscola hitting as the Merchants blasted Thomasboro 17-11 as the participants got 32 hits between them, and Buckley remained in a contending position by stopping Thawville, 6-1. Lefty House fanned 18 batters as Buckley triumphed. Seymour and Flatville were rained out.

Win in Ninth

To clinch the Cornbelt flag, the Red Sox were pushed all the way by Royal and scored their winning runs in the ninth frame. Elsa Utley, the colored boys' hard-hitting shortstop, got four for four, including a homer and a double. Thurman Fonville, Jr., pitched for the Sox; Henry Osterbur hurled good ball for the losers and Harm Frericks and Dixon led the hitting attack.

Gibson City won its 11th game, blanking Fisher 9-0 as Pete Wagner and Leo Ferri hurled air-tight ball. Wagner allowed only two hits and Ferri, who relieved him in the seventh, allowed none. Ferri struck out the first six batters who faced him.

Ludlow downed St. Mary's 9-4, with Glen Custer getting five for five. One of Glen's hits was a homer, the longest ever hit at the St. Mary's park. Philo and LeRoy were rained out.

Reds Anyhow; Sox Lose Two

By SID FEDER
Of The Associated Press

For the sake of old Casey Stengel's thinning hair, it's a good thing the Cincinnati Reds are still in the National league.

And, for the sake of those World Series bubbles currently being inflated in the Rhineland, it's quite fortunate for the Reds that misfortunes have been dogging the Brooklyn Dodgers—misfortunes like the "beaning" of Ducky Medwick back in mid-June, which finally has led to the benching of the muscles man for weak hitting.

On the one hand, there's old Casey tearing his hair out in bunches at the woeful ways of his Boston Bees against the other clubs in the National league, only to paste it back on again whenever his club tangles with the Reds.

On the other hand, you have the Reds, who came East July 23 with a five game lead in the National league, dropped eight of 16 starts, and are now on the way home with a 6½-game lead over the second place Dodgers. This is largely because the Brooklyns could only win six while losing nine to the western invaders.

Bees Win Four of Six

Old Casey is only sorry the Reds' Boston stay wasn't longer than the three double header program over the weekend. In that time, his Bees not only took four of six, including a split in yesterday's finale, but climbed out of the loop cellar. The Bees, who show an edge over only the Phillies in the season series with the other clubs, belted Bucky Walters 5-3 in the opener yesterday for Bucky's third straight defeat, and forced the Reds to go all out to take the nightcap, 12-9.

Since the Phillies lost two to the fast-moving Pittsburgh Pirates, 6-1 and 6-4, the Bees' split dropped the Phils into the cellar.

The Dodgers didn't have a chance against the Chicago Cubs in their opener and dropped it, 11-3.

The Cubs kept right on prowling in the afterpiece and shut six runs across in the first three frames. But the Dodgers tied it up on Peewee Reese's ninth-inning homer and won out 7-6 in the 11th when Dolph Camilli clouted one over the right field fence.

Cards, Giants Split

The St. Louis Cardinals wound up a high-flying Eastern swing by splitting with the Giants, losing 3-2 and winning 6-3.

With the possible exception of Washington's Senators, the Eastern half of the American league limped home today, glad the trip was all over. Only the Nats came through with an edge in the invasion, and they had to knock off Jimmy Dykes' Chicago White Sox twice yesterday to do it. Dutch Leonard was carried 10 innings before chalking up his fifth straight win over the Sox 4-3 in the opener. Ken Chase turned in the day's hurling masterpiece in the afterpiece, a three-hitter for a 1-0 decision.

The New York Yankees, rapidly waning world champions, wound up in the West with the doubtful honor of not having taken a series. Bobby Feller tossed the Cleveland Indians to a 3-1 win yesterday.

Grove Tames Tigers

This victory boosted the Tribe to within half a game of the league leading Detroit Tigers, who fell victims to the ancient but still powerful pitching mastery of old Mose Grove. Mose helped himself to his third straight win with an eight hitter for a 7-3 victory.

For the What's The Use Dept., the St. Louis Browns stayed out of the cellar by trimming the Philadelphia Athletics 5-4, on a three home run attack, and 8-4, on Elden Auker's steady hurling.

All-Star Poll Comes to End

Chicago (AP)

It's all over but the counting in the nationwide poll to select a staff of coaches for the All-Star football game in Soldier Field Aug. 29.

The voting ended last night at midnight, but final tabulation of results will not be completed until Wednesday.

However, the head coaching will go to Eddie Anderson of Iowa, barring a tremendous last-minute spurt by Don Faurot of Missouri. The staff will consist of the head coach and four assistants, each from a different section of the country.

Opposing the All-Stars in this year's game will be the Green Bay Packers, champions of the National league.

Big 10—Anderson, 3,404,068; Mal Elward, Purdue, 575,791.

The Champaign Reds dropped a 6-3 decision here Sunday to the Charleston Redbirds in an interesting game. The winners took a 4-0 lead with a three-run splurge in the fifth. Champaign came back with runs in the sixth and seventh but couldn't get a rally going after that. Max Armantrout led the losers hitting with three for four. The box score:

Manufacturers tell us that over ninety per cent of all bait casting rods now are made of steel. Fishermen find the steel ones are less expensive than bamboo, are less likely to set or warp, never dry out, and have more spring and power.

For trolling, which is popular in some sections, a shorter, heavier rod is desirable, but we prefer bait casting with the light rods. Then we can drop an attractive ⅜ ounce lure into some little side pocket in a stream or lake where the fish is most likely to be lurking. We get more action and fun that way.

"There was a swinging bunt that Hershy could have fielded himself," he said, "but he let it roll and the pitcher had to field it."

"Afterwards, I put my hands on his shoulders, and his eyes were just popping out of his head.

And Bill could remember, he said, how he took "Hershy" into the grand stand after the game when the fans had gone home and tried to get the story. But no dice.

"He didn't tell me until last night just before dinner," said Bill. "He cried like a kid. Seemed he cried like an hour. And then he told me he was worried about the club losing the games that he had caught.

Cornbelt Ends League Season

Gibson City gets its last chance to grab a share of the Cornbelt league pennant today as the circuit brings to a close its 1940 campaign.

Gibson needs a win over Fisher today to finish with 11 victories and three losses. The Champaign Red Sox, who have held the lead alone for all but one week of the campaign, meet Royal and a Sox victory will clinch the pennant for the colored team. If the Sox lose and Gibson wins, the two will share the crown.

Royal and St. Mary's will meet Tuesday night at Royal to play off a rained-out game of May 26. The game is scheduled for 8 o'clock.

Red Sox at Royal.
Fisher at Gibson City.
Ludlow at St Mary's.
Philo at LeRoy.

Eastern Illinois

Champaign at Leverett.
Thomasboro at Tuscola.
Thawville at Buckley.

Seymour at Flatville.

Sickle T. and Attention Win

Saratoga Springs, N. Y. (AP)

The first Saturday of the Saratoga meeting was a howling success yesterday—for everyone except the favorites.

A crowd of 15,500 turned out to send $574,898 through the mutuel machines and to see the favorites beaten in both big races, the United States Hotel stakes and the Saratoga handicap.

Mrs. B. F. Whitaker's greatly improved Sickle T., running right back to the form he showed at Empire City, captured the handicap in easy fashion as George D. Widener's heavily backed Eight Thirty came in third. The Hotel stakes, a two-year-old dash, went to Mrs. Parker Corning's Attention with the favored Overdrawn, also owned by

Seymour Throws New Lineup Int

Fry, Gordon Of Cornbelt League Enter Outfield; Henry, Cline Back; Pfeffer Pitches

(Seventh in a series)

By PAT HARMON

Pennants come in clusters in the Eastern Illinois baseball league, and the fans of the Seymour area are hoping to see their favorites follow the example of the Flatville All-Stars and the Champaign Plumbers, who got into the championship class and stayed there for a number of years.

Seymour last year shared first place with the Plumbers, who were enjoying their third consecutive year at the top. In 1934, 1935, and 1936 Flatville had a run of three titles. Now it's up to Seymour to keep the tradition.

The Seymours go into the 1940 race with more changes in the lineup than is customary among teams which are defending a share of a championship. The team has given up its pitcher, catcher, shortstop, and center fielder. Nonetheless, the replacements at these positions are capable, and Seymour expects to be in the pennant fight hard and long.

Shift Infield

Ernie Henry, a .315 hitter whom Manager Arnold Young rates as the best all-around first baseman in the league, will again hold down the initial sack. Dale Cline, who batted .291 down through the years, will be on third. The loss of Pete Naughtin means that Dill Seymour will move from second back to shortstop, his former position. Manager Young has already said, "I would't trade Dill for any other shortstop in the league," which is understandable, since he hit .453 to lead the E. I. last year. "I expect Dill to play better defensive ball at shortstop than he did at second last year," said Young, "and with a .300 hitter on second base, our entire infield will be a better hitting group than last year."

Young's second baseman will be either John Seymour or Maurice Abrams. The former has a lifetime average of .315 in this league, while Abrams has a career mark of .276.

Almost A New Outfield

In the outfield, where Dutch Young and Ding Young were regulars last year and John White, Forrest Young, Joe Pfeffer, and Abrams were alternates, the lineup will be almost brand new. Ding Young broke his leg in the last game of the season and will not be able to play this season. Don Gordon, who hit .458 for Fisher in the Cornbelt last year, will move into center field. Dick Young, who hit .297 the past three seasons, and Ivy White will alternate in left.

Reese: 'Good Field And No Hit'

By GEORGE KIRKSEY

NEW YORK, April 12—(UP)—Echoes from the spring training circuit: The Detroit Tigers weren't breaking their necks hustling when seen in exhibition games en route north . . . There was quite a lot of kidding going on among the Tigers when they stopped off to play the Knoxville Smokies of the Southern association . . . Once Del Baker stopped Dick Bartell at home plate between innings and after an animated conversation, was heard to say: "Well, try for the love of Mike, anyway . . ." Then when the Tigers got some of their signals crossed up Red Kress, coaching on first, muttered: "Looks like a meeting tomorrow."

Everybody says Pee Wee Reese is a fielding marvel but the tip is out he won't hit .260. . . . A veteran major league pitcher who pitched to Reese said: "Reese can't hit a curve ball at all but he can hit a fast ball. It's tough to throw a fast one past him . . .

Paul Dean, the Giants' refugee, isn't entirely washed up if he keeps up his courage . . . He doesn't have his old swift one but he can get something on the ball and he looks in good shape . . . Bill Terry might have picked up a sleeper in the younger Dean after all . . .

Saddest ball player in the land is Zeke Bonura . . . Bill Terry has wiped the smile completely off old Zeke's face and hurt his pride with that crack about "Bonura's phoney hustle" . . .

Zeke says he called Terry on that accusation when they were discussing salary terms in the winter haven conferences and Bill swore he never made the remark. . . . Despite the rough treatment Zeke's been subjected to, he is confident he'll be back on first base

Then this list, which is expected to total about 20, will be narrowed to four or five by the balloting of the coaches and managers. After that, members of the student body will be asked to vote to select the standout athlete.

It is probable that the selection will be announced Interscholastic week-end, May 17-18.

Among those present at Thursday's meeting was Arthur C. Willard, president of the University. He thanked the managers and the Varsity coaches for the work they did in making his load lighter at the University.

Umpires and managers of the Eastern Illinois and Cornbelt leagues have been called together for a meeting Wednesday, April 17. The meeting is tagged as an "umpires conclave" but is expected to prove beneficial to both the arbiters and the managers.

Coaches and principals are already making summer school Wesley T. Wooley, principal of Monticello, will take his family to Vermont while he attends summer sessions in the east, Bob Wilt, enterprising journalist of the Piatt County Journal, reveals. Sports fans around the state will be pleased to know that Bill Springer, well known as a basketball and football official, swept into the Republican nomination for state's attorney in Champaign county, polling 8,755 votes to his opponent's 3,375. In the future the writer of this column probably will be known as Bill Springer's roommate. We were afraid the association of four years might ruin his chances.

Royal lineup a year ago in the Cornbelt league, will take over right field.

Forrest (Coonie) Young and Max Armantrout will share the catching, the latter not being available until Champaign high school has ended its season. Young hit .314 last year, his best in three years, while Armantrout batted .143 at Homer. If either can give the club the all-around performance of Shag Rawlings remains to be seen.

Last, and far from least, is the situation in the Seymour pitching box. Long Joe Pfeffer, whom Seymour fans rate unequivocally as the No. 1 pitcher of the E. I. when he's in form, will be the hurler. A rapid descent from a hay loft interrupted his career last year, and he never reached the top until he beat Thomasboro, 1-0, in ten innings at the post-season tournament. Meanwhile, Wally Kimberlin pitched some great games for Seymour. But today Kimberlin is gone and Pfeffer is back. Long Joe says his arm feels fine, and Seymour hopes to see in him the same six-foot five-inch fireballer who set down the E. I. teams so handily in previous years.

Expects To Sign More

Manager Young expects to sign three more players before the season opens April 21. "We need a relief pitcher, for one thing," he said.

"When Ivesdale goes to Seymour April 28 for the champions' first home game, they'll find the diamond in excellent shape. It has been filed in, graded, and rolled. The outfield has also been manicured by a ten-ton roller, and Seymour is ready for the shout of 'Play ball!'"

Some fans are inclined to be a bit skeptical of a champion which has given up four of its regulars, but they should not overlook the fact that Seymour has as much (or more) natural talent in its own area as any town in eastern Illinois. Seymour has always been a contender in the E. I., and even before Henry, Naughtin, and Kimberlin arrived to make it a champion, it was good for third or fourth place, year after year. Kimberlin was the leading pitcher in the league last year, but he was also pitching for the best hitting team. Seymour batted .321, the highest average in the history of the E. I. In 1937 and 1938, Seymour ranked second to the Plumbers in hitting, and it does not expect to suffer in this respect in 1940.

for the Giants in a short while . . . "Terry cut me $5,000," says Zeke, "but promised me he'd give me a chance to win my job back and said if I had a good year I'd get all my money back . . ." Asked if Terry put that promise in writing, Bonura confessed, "No, he didn't. I had to take his word for it."

Despite the praise for Detroit's brilliant rookie pitcher, Dick Conger, from the U. C. L. A. campus, the best looking young hurler on the Tigers is John Gorsica, who had a record of nine victories and 17 defeats last year with Beaumont . . . He looks like he may develop into something . . .

Barney McCoskey, the Tigers' rookie outfielder whose brilliant work was overshadowed last year by Ted Williams and Charlie Keller, is driving a ball farther than ever this spring and is a good bet to exceed his home run production of last season when he collected only four round-trippers . . .

There are three stories, all different, circulating around on how Leo Durocher got the sore arm, and in addition, the report persists that Larry MacPhail and Durocher haven't been any too palsy-walsy this spring.

and if he says some team used a combination zone, man-to-man shifting overlapping California free style interzone, that's what they used . . . "Landis Lofdahl, the former Rockford high school hardwood artist, was having a big time for himself on the University of South Carolina basketball team in February when a tricky appendix began to cause trouble," writes Dick Day in the Rockford Register-Republic.

"Doctors ordered it out, but in the meantime a cold that Landy had contracted turned into pneumonia, and the idea of surgery was shelved until such time as he could regain his strength. Before that happened, however, scarlet fever developed, and Landy was a mighty sick boy for several weeks.

"He's out of the hospital now, however, and his parents have been notified that he's gaining strength rapidly. The appendix probably will have to go, but Lofdahl hopes he can delay the operation until summer so as not to lose any more time from classes."

Lofdahl was at Illinois for one semester.

...e the standings won't show it ... er the season starts tomorrow, but every club in baseball's two major leagues is stronger this year.

No less authority than the word of the 16 managers can be accepted for that statement and you will have to admit that they ought to know. The only fault with the managers' survey is that if each club has improved as much as they say, no team can catch the club ahead.

None of the managers is publicly picking his own club to win the pennant—which goes to show what cagey characteristics have been bred into the present pilots and perhaps explains how all but one of the managers who finished the 1939 season are back again for 1940.

No Pennant Predictions

There was a time when nearly every manager dutifully, if not particularly confidently, predicted a pennant for his charges, but last year only Bill Terry of the New York Giants and Gabby Hartnett of the Chicago Cubs were so venturesome and their experience may have served as a lesson.

This reluctance of the managers to commit themselves, you understand, is just strategy. All the clubs are stronger.

Take a look:

AMERICAN LEAGUE

Jimmy Dykes, Chicago White Sox—We'll have more power this year with Julius Solters and Taft Wright in the outfield. Bob Kennedy at third looks like a coming star and has one of the finest arms I've ever seen. If we hit consistently we'll make trouble and be hard to beat all the way."

Joe Cronin, Boston Red Sox—"If our pitching, which has looked good, stays that way, we're going to be a much improved ball club . . . . we'll all be in there trying to knock off the Yankees.

Joe McCarthy, New York Yankees—"The Yanks look as good as last year. No major league club ever won five straight championships, yet most everyone has picked us to perform that feat. My team is ready to meet any challenge."

Connie Mack, Phildelphia Athletics—"I'm quite satisfied the Athletics will be much stronger this season than last, although I can't predict where we'll finish. They only drawback, and this is most important, is our pitching.

Fred Haney, St. Louis Browns—"We have an improved ball club and hope to finish higher than last year. The addition of Walt Judnich in centerfield and Alan Strange at shortstop will tighten our defense and naturally also will help our pitching. If a couple of other clubs are no better than last year, I know we won't end up in the cellar."

Del Baker, Detroit Tigers—"I expect the Tigers to return to the first division this year. This opinion is based on the assumption that Charley Gehringer will be able to play second base for us."

Bucky Harris, Washington Senators—"We have one of the fastest teams I have ever seen. If our pitching holds up we'll be a good team."

OSCAR VITT, Cleveland Indians—"At no time have I had the entire squad in shape to play at the same time. How can I make predictions about a team that, in a sense, I

Leverett Looks For Big First Half In E. I.

Recall Strong Bid Team Made Against Tuscola, Plumbers Year Ago

(Eighth in a series)
By PAT HARMON

Remember the Leverett team of the first half of the 1939 E. I. season? That club gave Tuscola and the Champaign Plumbers all they could handle, won four of its first five games, and was challenging for first place right up to the time Pitcher Don Pearson left for a summer job in the east.

Comes 1940, and Manager Howard Eaton believes he has assembled a better ball club than the one which started the last season. Certainly, the man power, as it shapes up on paper, is superior, and Leverett again has Pearson. The latter will be available for the first nine games. After that, the former University of Wisconsin star expects to have completed work on his master's degree.

Eaton confided Monday morning that he had hope of being in the fight for first place throughout the first half. "Our second half depends upon whether or not we can replace Pearson." Most E. I. folks think Pearson cannot be replaced.

Dann On First

When Leverett opened its season Sunday by beating Ludlow, 2-0, Bob Dann, the former Illinois pitcher, was on first base and he made two hits. Charley Crowley, whose lifetime Eastern Illinois average is over .300, can also play first. Since Dann is left-handed, and Crowley right, the latter took over second Sunday. Later, Manager Eaton may move Dann to the outfield, but he is not sure.

Les Grierson, an old standby in the outfield, is moving in to second base, and Ed Hansen, one of the Leverett luminaries of three years ago, will be on shortstop. Hansen has also been a pitcher in his time. His playing experience includes varsity baseball at the University of Iowa. He is an instructor in agricultural engineering at the University of Illinois.

Eaton To Join Team Later

Third base at Leverett is wide open at present, but Don Barney will probably discourage all competition when he gets in stride. Tom Arie, Dann, and Bob Pinnow are the outfield possibilities. G. Wiegand will do the catching, and the reserves will be Walter Wilson, jr., utility, Chuck Hershbarger, infielder, Howard Eaton, outfield, and Dick Eaton, infield or catcher. The latter is now on the Illinois varsity squad, hence will not be eligible for this league until school is finished.

Eaton does his own summing up of the situation. "We're not afraid of anyone as long as we have Pearson."

No less an authority than Bud Wiese, the Tuscola manager, claims Pearson is the best pitcher in the E. I. "If he has a weakness, it's because his control is too good. The boys know they won't get hit if they crowd the plate." Pearson hurled seven innings against Ludlow Sunday and didn't walk a man.

Leverett Defeats Ludlow, 2-0

LEVERETT, April 15—Leverett defeated Ludlow, 2-0, here Sunday to open its baseball season. Don Pearson struck out ten, walked none, and gave four hits in seven innings.

Following the main fracas, Leverett played four innings against a combination of Champaign Plumbers and Ludlow players, taking a 3-1 edge as Al Warren shaded Pommer on the mound.

Bob Dann drove in Leverett's first run against Ludlow with a double, scoring Tom Arie.

furnishes some substance ... ner and his staff of workmen will have to provide some more bleachers, should the Roettgermen return with any victories from their tours of Iowa and Ohio in the next two week-ends.

Northwestern was not particularly impressive in its doubleheader stand here Saturday but the proceedings furnished some proof of the ability of the Illini and gave them valuable experience.

The coming week-end will furnish one of Illinois' knottiest problems of the year, for there is no question about the strength of Iowa's Hawkeyes, defending champions.

Former Illini Otto Vogel has seven lettermen available from the nine which won the first clear title in Iowa history. In Vogel's 15 years at Iowa, the Hawks have won 71 conference tilts and lost 64. Their record with Illinois is in favor of the Illini, 8 to 5.

Old Teammates Get Together

Coach Roettger will be taking his first team to Iowa City. Last year was the first time teams coached by the two Illini teammates in 1923 got together. The Hawks won the first game 12 to 2 behind Harold Haub, (who shut out Purdue last Wednesday), but lost the second to the Illini, 8 to 0. John Drish started and probably ended his Illini pitching career right there. He injured his arm and Roger Zeller finished the game in brilliant fashion.

The Hawks have as veterans Haub, who won four Big Ten games last year allowing only 16 hits and four runs; Outfielder Jim George, Second Baseman Erwin Prasse, Shortstop Andy Kantor, Third Baseman Frank Kocur, Catcher Norman Hankins, and Pitcher Fred Hohenhorst. Only losses were Ken Reid, pitcher, Elmer Bratten, first base, Art Manush, left field, and Bill Vogt, centerfield.

Hapac Catches Eye

To get back to the Illini, the fans have taken a fancy to this team. Bill Hapac has caught everyone's eye at first base. Bill Brewer is already a hero behind the plate. The return to form of John Pacotti is the most cheering news to everyone, including Coach Roettger. Allen Grant is having a little trouble with his control. Paul Milosevich probably rates third among the pitchers now but Joe Alexander is ready to jump in and do his bit.

Most pleasing to Coach Roettger was the way the boys dug in when Northwestern jumped out in front in the first inning, 3 to 0, and later took a 7 to 3 lead. It was a sight to please anyone to see the Illini battle their way into the lead in the sixth.

There is still competition for positions, as indicated by the fact that Liz Astroth took over right field late in the first game, replacing Len Kallis, who is in a batting slump. Liz held forth until the ninth of the second game, when Kallis came back in to add defensive strength and experience to the nine.

Coach Roettger plans to take the team to Iowa by bus this week. By travelling in a bus he can carry more players and return to the campus Saturday night. The jaunt to Iowa will be broken somewhere en route.

...get just what constitutes ... for example, on that particular play."

If the rank... would quit "calling" officials and give their confidence, whistle blowing would improve even more than it has, Mills believes. And if the rule book were allowed to go unchanged long enough for officials, players, and fans to catch up with the game the improvement would be even more marked, he added.

"The reason officiating ... leges and high schools was good this year is because the rule book was left alone," said Mills. "If we forget it for five years we'll get a chance to catch up, but if we start making the game over, taking away the black-board and such things, we'll be in for another bad time."

Mills thinks that Indiana was the best basketball outfit in the Big Ten this season although Purdue won the title . . .

Hoot Evers' percentage of successful free throws with which he won the Ralf Woods trophy, is the highest in the history of the award. The Collinsville sophomore displayed .700 accuracy in his Big Ten games to nose out Captain Bill Hapac by two percentage points. Their records at the foul line:

| | Made. | Missed. | Pct. |
|---|---|---|---|
| Evers ..... | 28 | 12 | .700 |
| Hapac ..... | 44 | 19 | .698 |

The award is four years old. It was won in 1937 by Harry Combes of Monticello, in 1938 by Tom Nisbet of Harvey, and a year ago by Lewis Dehner of Lincoln. It was put up by Rockford Illini in memory of one of their late members who had played basketball here more than 20 years ago.

Congratulations again to Hartley Price and all the gymnastic boys for bringing home another championship to Illinois. Two national championships in two years is a great record and a distinct tribute to the hard working coach. Fellow Champaign-Urbana folk, the rise of the gymnastic champions in the past two years has been the unique and courageous efforts of Harold Koehnemann, local boy. His heroic performance should be an inspiration to every boy in America and we hope that the story of his accomplishments can eventually be told to the boys of the nation.

The Illinois baseball players were very tired boys after the double header victory. Most of them complained that their arms were tired Sunday. Double headers are few and far between in the life of college ball players. Even pitchers like Drish, Evers, and Hapac, spent the winter pounding up and down the hardwood and are in good condition, admitted that their limbs ached.

Cornbelt League Managers Vote

MOULDEN PLANS INVITATIONAL ON JUNE 16

Few Changes Listed On Rosters Of Six Holdover Teams From 1939

By PAT HARMON

Managers of the Cornbelt baseball league, meeting here Wednesday night, voted against a midseason tournament of the type favored by the Eastern Illinois league. Several of the teams announced that they had scheduled games on June 16, open date, in preference to playing in a tourney.

Three years ago the Cornbelt held a midyear tournament with the four ranking teams of the first half playing at Bellflower. This has never been repeated, and the vote against it Wednesday night was five to two, St. Marys' not voting. Immediately after the result of the ballot was announced, Hugh C. Moulden of the LeRoy Cardinals said he would sponsor an invitational tournament on June 16 and would ask the four best teams available.

It was reaffirmed that every team must fill its schedule obligation of 14 games unless it is allowed to withdraw from an agreement by mutual consent of both parties. Thus, after the season has ended Aug. 4, all postponed games which have a bearing on the championship will be played; also, all postponed games which either party desires to be played.

Permission For Mapes

A letter from Principal Guy Lowman of Ogden high school was read in which Lester Mapes, a junior at Ogden, is granted permission to play amateur baseball this summer with Royal.

Managers of the teams for the season were announced as A. C. Reynolds, Gibson City; LeRoy Barnes, Champaign-Red Sox, a traveling team; Louis Reinhart, St. Mary's; John Corbett, Ludlow; Shirley R. Kidd, Fisher; Hugh C. Moulden, LeRoy; Walter Fiscus, Philo; and Robert Hunter (business manager) and Louise Loeschen (playing manager), Royal.

Red Sox To Fisher

Barnes announced that he will take his Red Sox to Fisher for a game Sunday. On the same day, Royal will play Flatville at Gifford. Ludlow is looking for a game on this date.

Managers submitted their player lists for the year. Outstanding on the rosters of the six teams which held their membership from 1939 was the lack of changes. LeRoy, the champion, has virtually the same roster as a year ago, although it may have to change its pitching staff. Paul Spratt, who pitched most of LeRoy's games last year, broke his leg in an automobile ac-

Penalties don't strike so far at the Indiana university baseball team.

One of Coach Paul (Pooch) Harter's biggest worries this spring was the building of a new infield around the one returning veteran, Don Danielson, second baseman.

Already two top-ranking sophomore infielders have been injured. Fr[illegible] (Flash) Gordon, Rochester, shortstop, and third baseball candidate, suffered a knee injury just before the team went south, and will be out of action another month. Bill Hacker, Paragon, one of the leading contenders for the third base assignment, suffered a broken leg after Indiana's first game at Ft. Benning, Ga., while participating in a sliding drill, and will be out for the rest of the season.

Douglas R. Mills, University of Illinois basketball and assistant football coach, has been informed by Mr. and Mrs. Culver Mills that they have named their baby son, born March 31, "Douglas" after him.

Culver Mills, better known as "Coke" in his basketball playing days at Illinois, is now coach in the high school at Abingdon, Ill.

Howard E. Waite, who has recently been appointed trainer at the University of Pittsburgh, was graduated from the University of Illinois in physical education in 1930.

Waite, a graduate of Urbana high school, also attended high school in Olney. His first position was in Colorado college after which he became trainer at the University of Colorado, a position which he is now leaving to go to Pitt.

For the second time this week University high's attempt to open its track season has been stopped by the weather. The triangular meet involving Uni high, Rantoul, and Ogden, scheduled for Thursday afternoon at Illinois field, was snowed out.

Three additions have been made to the spring athletic program at Champaign high school. Onarga military school will bring its trackmen to McKinley field May 6, while two games have been carded with Hindsboro in baseball. The Maroons will play at Hindsboro April 23, while the Douglas county school will come here May 14.

Weather permitting, the Champaign high school intramural track meet will be held Friday afternoon at McKinley field. Events on the program prepared by Roy Swindell, intramural director, and Bob Healig, practice teacher, are the 50 yard dash, broad jump, high jump, shot put, 70 yard low hurdles, 100 yard dash, 880 yard run and 440 yard relay. Ludlow has added several members of last year's Paxton Little Six champions, including Mike Sullivan, Bill Sullivan, Del Lundy, and Swede Nelson. The latter will be Ludlow's No. 1 pitcher, replacing Ike Yount. Ludlow has also dropped Shinker, Gullett, Jennings, and Good.

Champaign boys who played with Philo last year—Emmerson Dexter, Tyke Vriner, Carl Grolla and Hoot Beckett—are not listed this time. Philo still has hard-hitting Skeeter Roughton and has added Dale Dixon, Don Bell, and Pete Moomau from Urbana.

Royal has three Osterburs, four Frerichses, three Loeschens, but only one Meier. It has added Mapes and Keith McGee, Ogden high school athletes.

St. Mary's, from near Pesotum, is virtually the same as a year ago. One addition is Wilfred Pfeffer, formerly with Ivesdale in the E. I. league. Fisher, too, has made few changes, although it seems to have lost Don Gordon to Seymour.

'THIS IS TOUGH LEAGUE,' SAYS JOE MAIER

'Eastern Illinois Better Than Two Years Ago;' Grounds Replaces Freeman On 1st

(Sixth in a series)

By PAT HARMON

"This is a tough league," said Joe Maier, manager of the Thomasboro baseball club, when he looked over the prospects for the 1940 season. "Pitchers who could win in the Eastern Illinois two years ago don't have a chance now. The competition is getting better."

Speaking of pitching and that's an interesting subject as far as Thomasboro is concerned, there is a hurler named Charles Dixon from Georgetown whom Maier expects to be his No. 1 tosser this year. Dixon has never pitched in the E. I. league before, but for two years he was undefeated in the Twilight league at Danville. Right now, Dixon is working on Maier's farm, and he will be there all summer.

After Dixon, Thomasboro has Ed Birmingham, a left-hander who has been in the league for quite a few years. At that, Thomasboro is still looking for another pitcher to fill out the staff. The team has had its share of "name" pitchers in this league. Once Thomasboro, with Warren Buswell on the mound, was one of the feared teams of the circuit. Again, it was a leader when it had Pete Wagner and Bud Wiese. In 1938 and 1939, Thomasboro went to the wars with Soldier Jim Gotsch, but when the latter bought his release from the army and returned to Iowa, the club was without a regular tosser for awhile. Fred Leary, one of the best catchers in this area, took up the pitching one Sunday in a pinch and almost beat the champion Plumbers. Leary was later replaced by Metz, who finished the season as the regular thrower. Gotsch came back for the tournament and pitched for Thomasboro in its great, 1-0, ten-inning argument with Seymour, which the latter won. Gotsch is now with the Milwaukee Brewers.

Grounds On First

Jack Grounds, the old Billiard and McGuire Cornbelter, will take over the base for the Thomasboros this year. He replaces Kewpie Freeman, who has transferred to Monticello. Harry Manke, who never grows old and who, some think, gets better every year, will be on second base with Garrett Loeschen at shortstop and Charley Mitchell, a newcomer from Chanute Field, on third.

Outfielders will include Lawrence (Boots) Maier in left, Orviole Martin in center, and Ralph Maier or Rus Schaede in right. All this stacks up for a lot of power, as the outfielders are sluggers. Boots Maier has a career batting

The 1940 Illinois team has experience in at least a half dozen spots and new blood at two or three berths. A couple of shifts of position, a pair of rejuvenations, and the club appears much better off than in the two previous seasons.

Coach Boettger can shuffle two or three boys around as he pleases without any great embarrassment to his defensive strength. Late in the game, he had three men in the lineup who can catch capably. Brewer moved to left as Milosevich came in to catch, and there was Kucera (at third base) who can bottom back of the log without disgracing himself. On a trip such fellows as Milosevich and Kucera will come in mighty handy. The Illini coach has not given up the idea that Milosevich may be valuable on the mound.

Milosevich is one of the most graceful ball players we have seen in Illinois toggery for some time . . . He is one of several current Illini who swing a bat like they mean business. He has a powerful arm and all he needs is experience back of the bat.

Note the strong throwing arms of the Illini, count 'em . . . Drechsler, Evers, Kallis, Hapac, Drish, Pyrz, Kucera, Milosevich, almost every man on the nine . . . and that helps plenty.

Hoot Evers hit every ball on the nose Tuesday. Besides his two hits, he socked two terrific drives that were caught as the Bradley outfielders played him deep.

The scorers had a tough one to score in the fifth, when Kucera hit to Leonard's right and the latter chose to try to cut down Drish at third base. His throw was none too accurate but there was some question as to whether a good throw would have caught Drish. Normal procedure in such a play is to score a fielder's choice for Kucera and so we did. Such procedure assumes that Kucera could have been retired at first had Leonard chosen to make the play there. Here again there was some doubt as to whether a good throw would have retired him.

The crowd rose up to give Kallis a big hand after his throw to the plate in the fifth to complete a double play, retiring Case by a step. Kallis' throw was a strike throw from right field. There is no prettier play in baseball. Down south we saw Kallis cut off runners twice at third base with similar throws. Evers and Drechsler also nailed runners

DOYLE, MASTERS, WIERMAN HURL FOR IRISH

Fallon Banks On Young Men; Flowers Steps In At Shortstop After School

(Fifth in a series)

By PAT HARMON

Ivesdale is going local. Not loco, but local. The Irish are cutting their baseball importations to a minimum and will bank mainly upon home talent in the Eastern Illinois league this summer.

Authority for the above statement is George Fallon, who begins this season as the new manager of the club. The Irish may use one of their old standbys from Decatur, Masters, for a little pitching, but aside from him, their lineup will be mainly boys who live in or around Ivesdale.

Ivesdale will come up with a brand new first baseman in Hershal Harshbarger, cousin of the veteran Ab Harshbarger who has caught so many years for the club. Zing Tracy will perform around first base. Jay Flowers, the former Champaign high school player, will be at shortstop, and the third baseman will be Ollie Alblinger. "These boys are the best young players in the league," Fallon said Monday when he paid a visit to The News-Gazette sports department. "Best young players," he emphasized. "Look at Flowers, 18 years old. And Alblinger, only 16. Ollie's at St. Bede's academy in Peru now. Flowers is away, too, and I don't think they'll be with us the first few games. Watch this Alblinger get good, though. For a kid, he's all right. Played last season on third, and he never made a bad throw or an error."

Fallon's outfielders will be Raymond Tracy, Joe Doyle, the Sadorus basketball player, and Tommie Morris, who hit .379 last year to lead the club.

"Our catchers will be old reliable Ab Harshbarger and Tom McGuire. Tom, you'll remember, played some for Seymour in the E. I. and some for Tolono in the Cornbelt. He was a third baseman then.

"Joe Gauley will start as our pitcher, probably. Joe is the best early season pitcher in this league. Why, that guy could go out right now and pitch nine innings with a lot of stuff, and he wouldn't be bothered at all. Whoever catches us in the first few games of the schedule had better look out for him.

"Leo Doyle will also do some pitching. He's another of our new

WASHINGTON, April 9—(AP)— April came in appropriately with All Fools Day, for this is the month when the tall story tellers start spinning their tales . . . it's fishing season again. And no one but a fisherman is foolish enough to believe some of the fabulous stories about the one that got away.

Many states, particularly in the east and middle Atlantic sections, opened their lakes and streams to trout fishermen this month. In other parts of the land anglers are getting their rods and reels out of closets and readying them for the beginning of open seasons in their localities.

The fishermen are just as anxious and optimistic as ever, for the sale of fishing licenses probably will pass the 10,000,000 mark again this season.

For reserves, Ivesdale will have Manager Fallon himself, who can step in at first base or catcher; Barney Slevin, the popular Bement high school athlete, backing up the infield; and Bud Stode, a fourth outfielder.

In summing up, Fallon said, "We intend to use as many of the young local boys as we can. We're breaking in some new ones. Look at that roster. Eleven local boys. Watch our stuff this year."

THRASHER NEW PILOT; MEN ARE YOUNG

Return Of College Boys Will Bolster Lineup Around June 1; Await Pierce

(Fourth In A Series)

By PAT HARMON

If there is a team in the Eastern Illinois baseball league this summer to dispute the Champaign Plumbers' claim to being the youngest playing group in the circuit, that team is Thawville. Under a new manager, Bellas Thrasher, who will play center field for the second consecutive year, the Thawville club has lined up a squad of youngsters. In Thrasher's words, "These are youngsters who like to play and like to win."

All Thawville is expecting its club to be one of the best five in the league after June 1, if not before. The fans are not so sure where the team will stand before it gets all its youngsters into action, however. Some of the boys are away at college.

One of the youngsters of the Thawville crew is Earl Bryan, a high school youth who is breaking in this year. Bryan will open the season at second base, pending the appearance of Johnnie Harper, who is at college. After Harper returns, Bryan will probably have to contend for a third base assignment with Marv Schmohe.

Harper Puts Pep Into Infield

The appearance of Harper around June 1, perhaps a few days before, is expected to do things for the Thawville infield. He is accounted one of the better young fielders of the area and is a better hitter than [illegible] average which he sported onstrations of tumbling, pyramids, games, contests, and relays, along with the school championship matches in ping-pong, shuffleboard, wrestling and handball. As an added attraction to the two-hour program, Hartley Price is expected to bring his University of Illinois tumblers here to give an exhibition.

The boys sometimes think the coach is joking when he says, "Every position on the team is open." Coach Roettger probably has said that to his baseball team at one time or another this spring, and he wasn't joking a bit.

Right now many of the so called regulars on the Illinois team are wondering just who will lose his job of Dick Kucera keeps hitting the American apple. Dick has started but one game this year, and that was as a catcher. In other games he has appeared as sub shortstop, sub third baseman, sub first baseman, and sub catcher.

This senior, another Cicero product, has been at bat only ten times but he has amassed six hits for a .600 batting average. But the most amazing thing about his six hits is that he has driven in eight runs. Every hit that drives in a man scores a home run with the coach.

Captain Pyrz and Len Kallis have also driven in eight runs but they have been at bat 25 and 26 times. Four of Kucera's hits have been for extra bases, three doubles and a home run.

Probably no other player on the Illinois nine gives Coach Roettger such a feeling of security, for in Kucera he has infield reassurance, a possible outfielder, and a better than average catcher. In a sense, Paul Milosevich fills the same role, but he hasn't had the experience of Kucera.

Outstanding of the regulars so far has been Bill Hapac, who is starting out the 1940 baseball campaign in the same way he concluded his basketball career. His ten hits in 23 times at bat for .435 mark leads all hitters among the regulars.

A lad who hasn't appeared in a game as yet but who has caught everyone's eye is Laverne Astroth, the hard hitting halfback, who has been slugging the ball merrily in practice sessions and who might break into the lineup at any time.

So far the Illini have clipped the ball for a .269 average as a team and have fielded .935.

The Illini will run into one of the better college nines of the country when Bradley invades Illinois field Tuesday. The Peorians played a 4 to 4 tie with Wisconsin Saturday, the team which topped Normal Friday, 15 to 4. dealing with Louie Boudreau and written by E. W. Hesse, a student in the University of Illinois school of journalism.

The story leads off with the sale of Feb. 2, 1938, when the Western conference moguls put the finger on Boudreau. A verbal agreement with the Cleveland Indians, fortified with checks sent to Louie's mother, removed him forever from the ranks of the simon pures.

Hesse finds the silver lining, by showing how the ban put Boudreau a year ahead in professional baseball. Just under 23 years old now, Boudreau is being groomed for the shortstop and leadoff positions with the Indians.

Last summer Louie was recalled from Buffalo, and on Aug. 7 played his first major league game. This was not his first appearance, for he had gotten to perform in the late innings of a game the year before, and walked and grounded out in two appearances against Detroit's Tommy Bridges.

With Ken Keltner safely anchored on third base, Boudreau was converted into a shortstop and on his second trip up he made good. In over 50 games during the 1939 season, he batted .258 and fielded brilliantly to finish with an average of .953. He averaged 5.68 chances per game, .36 more than Frank Crosetti, peer of American league shortstops, over the full route.

Boudreau has showed remarkable foresight in spending the off season completing his work at Illinois. Taking a tip from his college coach Wally Roettger, Boudreau wants to be ready for a coaching position when his playing days were over. Right now his most ardent fans are Mrs. Boudreau and daughter Barbara Arlene.

Charles Jones, Champaign golf professional, has issued a call for all caddies to report for numbers next Saturday morning. Mr. Jones will be in Lafayette, Ind., Wednesday and Thursday, attending the golf clinic at Purdue university. Many of the big name golfers will be there for lectures and demonstrations.

Eddie Davis, national bait-and-fly casting champion, will present a free exhibition in George Huff gymnasium at 7:30 p. m. Tuesday. His appearance is being sponsored by the lectures committee of the School of Physical Education.

Davis, who holds two national titles and 14 Illinois titles, is instructor of the Jackson Park Rod and Fly Casting club, Chicago. His titles include: champion, national dry fly, unknown distance, 1929; champion, national ½ ounce accuracy bait, 1929; and world's fisherman's accuracy bait champion, 1932.

The speaker will answer questions and give free instructions after the exhibition.

Petey Zea will be the shortstop. He's the old reliable. Last year he hit .229 and was a tremendous asset in the field. Lindsey Blotcky is scheduled to do the first basing, as of a year ago, but he may not be ready at the start of the year, and Manager Thrasher has not indicated who will open the season on the initial sack.

Ed Bork in left, Thrasher in center, and Grohler in right, is the way the regular outfield will line up. Bork will pitch the first few games, after which Kenneth Pierce from Illinois State Normal will take over. Vivian Blakeley, Thawville high school coach, and Delane Barbour will also be available.

Thawville last year used Pierce, Earl Jones, and Krumwiede on the mound. After he found himself, Pierce was the most effective, even though he won but three games while losing eight. He struck out 90 men. His greatest trouble seemed to be wildness, for he walked 52, more than anyone else in the E. I. Inly Curly Hopkins of Monticello and Wally Kimberlin of Seymour fanned more than the youthful Pierce.

Zea, Zick Reserves

Clarence Shear will do all the catching this season, eliminating the necessity of importing anyone for this position. Veteran John Kusinski from Kankakee handled the job a year ago. Reserve players are Ed Zea, who works around the infield, and Wayne Zick, who may do some of the catching.

Thawville won five games in the E. I. last year. The spirit of youth is in the club this year, and it hopes to climb. Whether it goes far this year or not remains to be seen. It is essentially a team that is building for the future.

George Halas, who operates the Chicago Bruins' basketball team told Dick Gordon of the Chicago Daily News that he is seeking the services of Bill Hapac of Illinois and Ralph Vaughn of Southern California for next year's lineup in the professional league.

Halas said that Hammond was also after Hapac and Vaughn. The latter is a product of Frankfort, Ind., and the two of them would help make the Bruins a profitable venture. Halas said he would offer both boys fat contracts to play basketball with his team. Both Vaughn and Hapac were rated all-Americans this year. The Illini star is in the School of Education and is slated for graduation in June. Although he might be in line for a good coaching berth Hapac's basketball and baseball ability might be worth a considerable sum of money to him if he chooses to continue competition professionally.

"With Hapac and Vaughan and Kautz and Novak," Halas mused, "we should have plenty of scoring punch. That should mean a title."

"Which, although Mr. Halas didn't say it," comments Scribe Gordon, "might mean some financial profits for the Bruins, who finished 'just a little in the red' last season, as Chicago was represented in the pro cage field for the first time since 1931.

Willmer Alstrom's loss apparently will be Harry Combes' gain.

Word heard Saturday has it that Carl James, regular forward for University high last season, will transfer to Champaign next fall. James scored 18 points against the Maroons in the regional tournament at Fisher.

Not Charity To Netters

By LAWTON CARVER

NEW YORK, April 8—(INS)—The greatest racket in sports since time immemorial always has been benefit performances, and seemingly some events held in the name of the Finnish relief fund were no exception.

The professional tennis matches attracted gross receipts of $10,7[illegible] and turned over only $4,006.60 to the Finnish relief fund. The expenses, therefore, approach $7,000 for the appearance of professionals in an armory for abbreviated competition.

The figures on the sheet show that Bill Tilden received $400 for expenses and $300 for his services. Fred Perr's expenses were $31[illegible] and he claimed another $50 for winning an extra match with Budge, whose expenses were $195.73. Ellsworth Vines had an expense item of $213.20, while Bruce Barnes got by for a mere $284.50 and Berkeley Bell (of suburban New York) received only $50.

Total all that, then add the $407.86 for entertainment of the press, contestants and officials and you get a rough idea of where the Finns' money went, not mentioning sundry and numerous other items that whacked the total down.

It is interesting to note that the all-star baseball game at [illegible] attracted $21,913.06 and netted over $21,295.96 to the Finns, while the track meet at Madison Square Garden took in $20,282.95 and netted $13,172.88 to the Finns.

The campaign is over. I have personally contacted thousands of voters in the past few months. I have tried to place my qualifications and experience before each and every voter in the district, but it has been impossible. Lack of time has prevented me from personally contacting thousands of the voters and many of my friends. I am sorry that I could not contact everyone. ## Dennis Thinly Clads Seek 1st Title

By T. O. WHITE

SULLIVAN, April 5—There are four titles on the block each year in the Okaw Valley conference. Sullivan has won three of them at various times, but the fourth, a track title, has eluded the men of Clark Dennis.

Last year Sullivan came close, finishing second to Newman with 31½ points. Newman's total was 38. The Sullivan coach is making no promises this year, but he has scheduled an impressive number of meets, which all will tend toward the Okaw Valley at Monticello on May 14.

Freshmen Grow Up

Newman's superiority over Sullivan last spring was in the sprints. While Ronnie Harbaugh and John Underwood were picking up 13 points for the Indians in the 100 and 220, Sullivan was blanked. Ronnie is back, and Johnnie is gone. However, a Sullivan freshman relay team composed of Orris Punches, Warren Jenkins, Charles England and Earl Bragg toured the 440 yards distance in :50.3 to win and out of this group may come some points in the dashes.

Gene Hollenbeck who won the half for Sullivan last spring has graduated, but the mile champion, Paul Bolla, is available. Paul has been warming up under five minutes, and looks to be in great shape. Sam Selock, tied with his teammate Dwight Strohl of Sullivan for first in the high jump, is back, although Dwight graduated.

Punches, Peadro In Jump

The broad jump winner, Orris Punches, is back in the Sullivan camp, augmented by Bob Peadro. Dick Mills who fell out of the hurdles last year, is on hand. Too, there is Carl Barcley, football [illegible] weight man.

Champaign To Have 2 Teams In Baseball Again; Play All Games On Road

(Second in a series.)

By PAT HARMON

Four years ago, Champaign had no entrapt in either of the amateur baseball leagues which have flourished so successfully under the guiding hand of Dock Leedy, Shelby Himes, and Jack Waldron these many years. But in 1937 this city had three teams in the field, including the Plumbers, Billiard boys, and McGuire's Micks. Since then, the last two named have disbanded, but Champaign is still to have a representative besides the Plumbers in hardball circles this summer in the Red Sox, an organization of colored players assembled by Leroy Barnes. The Red Sox will play in the Cornbelt league as a traveling team, having no home diamond.

The Red Sox is essentially the same outfit which has done well under the direction of its leader, Barnes, in past years. Familiar names such as Utley, Webb and Pickens are listed on the roster.

Leroy Pickens is coach of the team, and Vernon Lewis captain. Sharper Hope has been signed as assistant manager under Barnes.

The players whom Barnes has lined up include Elsa Utley, Cleo Johnson, Lamon Powell, William Thornhill, William Baker, Carl Abernathy, Raymond, Clyde Pickens, James Webb, James Hagmon, Arnold Yarber, Elick Randle, Charles Hersey, Francis Hood, John Wyatt, Curtiss Cooper, and Rufous Utley.

At present, the Red Sox are trying to schedule a few exhibition games before the Cornbelt's opening date, April 28. Anyone interested in booking the club should write Leroy Pickens at 912 North Poplar street, Champaign.

MEMPHIS, TENN.—Irish Dan Dowling, 193, St. Louis, knocked out Tim Malone, 196, Canton, Ohio, (1).

ROCHESTER—Jackie Callura, 125, Hamilton, Ont., and Lou Salica, 119, New York, drew, (10).

Since then, Doctor Hutchins' only public utterances have been for his classes in Humanities, and sub-zero silence has greeted all attempts of Chicago newspapermen to draw him out. Neither, it is understood, has he made any explanation to Major John Grimth's office or the Big Ten recent years. John Drish, at second base is another coach's player and already seems improved over last year. Smartest of the Illini flock is Tony Pyrz, captain and shortstop. Third base is not definitely settled as yet, but Al Vitacco's work has been fairly satisfactory. Last year Coach Roettger was forced to employ five men at that position.

Kallis, Evers, and Drechsler give the Illini a good fly chasing corps.

Speed And Strength

Impressive about Illinois this year is its speed and strong arms. Not a poor arm is to be found in the infield or outfield, and the latter is particularly blessed with strong, accurate throwing whips.

Pitching, batting, fielding, base running, all should be a vast improvement over last year.

Newcomers making definite bids for jobs besides those mentioned are Liz Astroth, the footballer and Joe Scully, infielders, and Art Pellet and Bob Roth, pitchers.

Little is known about the State Normal baseball team. Howard Hancock, athletic director is the coach. Its first game was scheduled for Friday against Wisconsin. Saturday's game will start at 2:30 o'clock.

PLUMBERS LOOK TO

J. Fuzak, Colin Gone; May Revise Lineup After June 1 Shakeup

By PAT HARMON

In 1937 the Champaign Plumbers, new to the Eastern Illinois league, won 14 games and lost four and took the championship in a play-off with Flatville. Came 1938, the Plumbers won 13, lost five, and were undisputed champions. Last year, despite drastic changes in personnel, they won more victories than ever before, 15, and shared first place with Seymour.

While the biggest town has won the most victories year after year, other members of the E. I. have been perennially hopeful in April, wistful in August. The Plumbers have been too hard to beat, even if their rivals have worked harder against them than against any other contender. The old cry of "Beat the Plumbers" has been a consistent reminder that they were defeated only 12 times in 54 starts. This year, the Plumbers have lost several veterans from their 1939 champions and turned to youthful replacements.

Most serious losses in the Plumber squad are the three high school coaches—Bud Colin, who moved to Wheaton; Jack Fuzak, who went to Onalaska, Wash.; and Harry Combes, who has announced that he will soon retire from participation in athletics. "I will play with the Plumbers until school is out," Combes told The News-Gazette Wednesday. "By that time I think they will have their lineup established."

Around June 1

All this points to a change in lineup around June 1. Combes will probably leave then and may be replaced by Herb Ruby, when the latter is not pitching. Ruby is now at college in Virginia. Bud Larson, who will open the season on third base, is not sure that he will be here after the University of Illinois closes and he has a diploma in his pocket. Harold Grierson might replace Larson, as he will be free to play amateur baseball as soon as the University baseball team disbands.

Illini Turn From Court To Diamond

From basketball court baseball diamond, the Illini are regulars. They be seen in Illinois unifor when the Orange and B open its home sched against Normal Saturd At left is John Drish, wh captain-elect of the Illi basketball team and plays second base with baseballers. Above, Wa ter Evers, basketball for ward and now an outfielder. Below, Bill Hapac, captain of the cagers this past winter and now the baseball team's first sacker.

however. They shook up their team after winning two pennants in 1937 and 1938 and came back to have their best season in history. The new infield of Shoaf, Nelson, Colin, and Combes came through superbly.

Shoaf, first baseman, who has a lifetime batting average of .315 for this league, and Nelson, second sacker, who hit .320 and was a steady fielder last year, expect to go right on at their usual positions. Teaming with Combes and Larson the first part of the season and with Ruby and Grierson the latter part, they will probably give the Plumbers the youngest infield in the circuit.

Here's The Outfield

To start with, in the outfield, the Plumbers will have Bobby Blaisdell, who is fast, has had three year's experience in the league, and has a career batting average of .279. Blaisdell will perform in center, with Chick Bruns in left. Bruns, like Blaisdell, is quick afoot and he batted .475 against Cornbelt league pitching last summer. Bill Parks will be the third man in the outfield after the University has let out. Just who will handle the position until Parks is free has not been established yet, but don't be surprised if the reliable Bill Fuzak reports for a few games to help the Plumbers get under way. Fuzak hit .347 over the combined 1937, 1938 and 1939 seasons, is a good fielder and an all-around performer, and knows the weakness of almost every one in the E. I. league. He'll be a tremendous asset if he's available to help steady the youngsters.

Uncle Roger Van Duyn, onetime manager of the 106th Cavalry unit, will be the catcher. He replaces Jack Fuzak at this position. Pitching is going to be a problem from the start. Ed Fonner, the former Newman high school athlete, is the only hurler on the Plumbers' roster, although Parks and Ruby will be available for this duty after June

It's no secret that Grierson and Flanigan are looking high and low for a flinger. They had hoped to persuade Wally Kimberlin to come with them but John Franzen announced late Wednesday night that he had Kimberlin ticketed for Flatville. There was a chicken supper with trimmings at Flatville Wednesday evening.

If Bob Sprinkle is recovered from recent illness, he will come to the Plumbers' aid at almost any position. He can hold down shortstop, second base, an outfield post, or the pitcher's mound.

In summing up, the Plumbers look to be one of the youngest teams ever to take the field in the E. I. with a veteran to steady them and a pitcher to blaze the way, they could be hard to handle.

hearts of a million men leap and soar—only to fall.

For along with the flowers, royalty blooms in the spring in Georgia. And along with the flowers, royalty slowly dies. It dies usually on a Wednesday or Thursday, sometimes on a Friday, seldom on a Saturday or Sunday. It dies because Bobby Jones, king of a million Georgia hearts, is now a man instead of a machine.

There was the time when Jones wasn't a man. Call him automaton, robot or what you will, from 1925 to 1930 he wasn't human. He was a beautifully precise machine geared to drive golf balls 240 yards and putt golf balls 40 yards as easily as presses turn out valves in a Ford plant. He almost never lost, because in a machine there is no element of human error.

He's A Decade Removed

But that was years ago and today Jones is a decade removed from competitive golf. New names and new generations have passed him by in the course of the seasons so now he plays in only one tournament each year. That is the Masters, which began here in Augusta today, and which set all of Georgia to hoping again.

A man who has played in only a half-dozen tournaments in the space of ten years cannot be on edge. The Jones swing that once was smooth as fresh cream pouring from a bottle is little changed, but the famed Jones putting stroke has corroded with the rust of inactivity. In these past few Masters, Jones has bloomed on Wednesday and sometimes Thursday. Around about Friday royalty has died for lack of the putting touch and the heart of Georgia has slowed for another year.

Comes Back To Its King

But Georgia always comes back to its king in the spring. So last night in Augusta's magnificent clubhouse the name of Robert Tyre Jones sold for the second highest sum bid in the Calcutta pool. Only Sam Snead brought more, and Snead is a young man who is the closest thing we have to a Jones today.

All the good players are in this

ers capable of chopping par into matchwood. Yet Bobby Jones, who hasn't done better than 15th in the one tournament he plays each year, sold in the pool for almost $1,000.

That is because Georgia has seen the wisteria and the dogwood. Georgia has seen Jones shoot a 66 in practice the other noon and a 72 yesterday, and Georgia hopes that this is the spring in which royalty won't die.

Was King In Fact

Back in those misty years when Jones was king in fact, you remember how Georgians perched in trees and on fences and on telephone poles to watch him whip the links. Well, that was nothing to what you can expect this week should Jones just keep a'blooming.

If he is home today in the running, every man from Columbia, Richmond, and Jefferson county will be back in those trees on Thursday. If he stays in the running on Thursday, they'll came from DeKalb and Fulton to cheer him on Friday. If he is in striking distance on Friday, his people will come a'jogging from Date and Walker and Echols and Thomas on Saturday.

And if Jones can possibly win on Sunday, the people who are in these parts to take the census might as well join the national guard. In all of Georgia they'll find no one at home.

FLINT TAKES LEAD IN ABC

DETROIT, April 4—(UP)—The veteran Kling's Beer bowling quintet of Flint, Mich., stole the show from defending champion Goebel of Detroit last night before 5,000 fans at the American Bowling congress.

The unheralded Flint five toppled 2,983 pins for the first place in standings while Goebel, hoping to top its winning 3,151 total of 1939, threw 16 splits and landed in sixth place with 2,920.

Kling's games were 1,008-983-992, a score expected to qualify them for prize money although it probably will not land them among the final first ten—Goebel had 876, 957, then finished with 1,087, high game of the meet so far.

Europeans Tie Golden Glovers

Chicago (AP)

The best thing that big Olle Tandberg does is fighting, but he isn't interested in making money out of his fists.

Tandberg, 212-pound slugger with the European amateur boxing team which tied Chicago's Golden Gloves team last night, showed the 20,200 customers a two-fisted attack that probably would give him a running start in the pro game.

Tandberg, a sailor of Stockholm, Sweden, who is studying interior decorating in his spare time, defeated Cornelius Young, Chicago heavyweight, in the eighth and final bout on the program to give the invaders a tie.

In nine meetings with the Europeans the Americans now have won six and tied three.

Lajos Szigeti, 175 pounder from Budapest, Hungary, who lost to James Richie of St. Louis, suffered a broken hand in the first round of their fight but put up a game battle

Local Players With Philo

Champaign and Urbana are well-represented on Walt Fiscus' Philo team. Bob Clayborn of Champaign, who has had several years' experience in Tennessee leagues, will be the number two flinger, with Bob Mantle starting again this season. Wayne Bailey will catch for the Philo club, which finished second in the race last year. Infielders are Lyman Pitcher, one of the best fielding first sackers in this part of the state; Roy McCloskey, a new man, and Howard "Skeets" Roughton. Eddie Miller and Kenny Werts will play outfield positions with Moomau and Bell. Sub catcher is Don Silver.

Announcement by the Illinois State High School Athletic Association that the annual state interscholastic track and field meet finals would be run off Saturday morning, May 18, at Memorial Stadium, instead of in the afternoon, restores the traditional time of the competition.

Since the meet was established in 1893 the finals were held in the morning until 1938. The state association changed back to the original plan at the request of the track coaches who found that their athletes became restless during the morning hours.

"That's absolutely the longest drive I've ever seen on McKinley field," Coach Harry Combes of Champaign commented Wednesday after Vernon (Zip) Lewis had hit a home run against the Maroons. Lewis, a member of the Champaign Red Sox, was playing with a pick-up team against Champaign high in a practise game which the preps won, 7-5.

The colored shortstop drove his homer far over the right field fence. When stepped off afterwards the lengthy smack approximated 375 feet.

Eligibility of Prep Players Is Discussed

By EDDIE T. JONES

The Cornbelt baseball league, better balanced than in 1939 according to managers, transacted the usual pre-season business Wednesday night at Bailey and Himes with a minimum of squabbling. The only matter that called for thorough debate was a ruling on the play-off or cancellation of games called off during the regular season.

If there are postponed games to be played after the league season ends on August 4, the contests need not be played unless they are vital to the final standings or unless one of the two teams demands that the game be played. There will be no mid-season tournament sponsored by the league, but any team is permitted to stage an invitational tourney if it so desires.

Regarding future eligibility of prep players in the league, the commissioners stated they would write for full information from the state high school association in order that the status of several players in the league would not be endangered. There are a number of high school players on rosters of both Eastern Illinois and Cornbelt teams. Fred Lohman, Ogden high principal, wrote to the commission giving permission to include Lester Mapes, sophomore athlete at Ogden, on the Royal roster.

Spratt Injured

Comparison of rosters indicates H. C. Moulden's LeRoy club will be as strong as ever in the 1940 campaign. Moulden, whose teams were second in 1938 and champions in 1939, has signed Lynn Noker, veteran of 15 years in the Western league, to handle the third base chores, and owns league-leading hitters in 1938 and 1939. Captain Eddie Houston, second baseman, hit .425 last year to top the circuit in the blast department, and Lynn Leary, center fielder and brother of the Thomasboro catcher, set the pace the year before with a hefty .475 average.

Moulden has temporarily lost his number one flinger, Paul Spratt, but the veteran lefthander may be back in the lineup for the league tournament in August. Spratt suffered a broken leg recently while working as a telephone lineman in Missouri. Other flingers on the defending champs' squad are Earl and George Sprau. Earl won't be around until after commencement exercises at State Normal, where he is a student, so the pitching duties fall to George. Woodrow Downey and John Patterson will do the catching.

Newcomers Strong

Dean Billings, first; Houston, second; Frank McIntyre, short; Noker, third; Bob Kregor, left fielder; Delbert McFarland, centerfielder; and Joe Rutledge, rightfielder, round out the lineup. Subs are Tuck Lavey and Jim Hull.

Newcomers in the league, Leroy Barnes' Champaign Red Sox, a traveling team, and Gibson City,

Hal Trosky's Hand Not Seriously Injured.

By The Associated Press

Danville, Va.—The Cleveland In-injured hand was lightened today after an X-ray examination showed no broken bones.

REDS

Portsmouth, Ohio—Opening their four game skirmish with the Cincinnati Reds, the Detroit Tigers were ready today to face hard facts regarding their pitching. It's none too promising and the series with the Reds may show it up for what it is. The Reds came into the series on the heels of an 11-game duel with the Boston Red Sox and Manager Bill McKechnie planned to rest Paul Derringer until the opening game next Tuesday.

SENATORS

Washington—Old time fans who remember Ricardo Torres as a catcher for the Nats back in 1920-23 may see his son in action this year on Washington's twirling staff. Gilbert Torres, a tall, melancholy person, came to camp rated the best third-sacker in Cuba. But he went to work as a pitcher and demonstrated a good knuckle ball that has made Manager Bucky Harris heighten his interest.

WHITE SOX-PIRATES

Springfield, Ill.—Manager Frankie Frisch sent the Pittsburgh Pirates here in charge of Coach Mike Kelly and went to St. Louis for a further check on the throat ailment that kept him in bed last week. He also intends to see the St. Louis city series this week end. Today's game was the last between the Pirates and White Sox, with the latter taking up their old feud with the Cubs in Chicago tomorrow.

ATHLETICS

Nashville, Tenn.—A sound arm a new man out of Al the rookie third baseman the Philadelphia Athletics

CARDS

Tulsa, Okla.—The St. Louis Cardinals, who appeared to be in top form against Oklahoma City, closed their exhibition touring against the Tulsa Oilers. They've got a city series with the Browns before the season opens.

YANKEES

Lynchburg, Va.—That "break up the Yankees" business may have something to it after all. Joe Gordon's sprained ankle is worse than was thought and he may not be able to open the season at second base. Reserve Outfielder Jake Powell crashed into a steel fence at Ashland, Ky., and suffered a brain concussion. He'll be in a hospital three or four days. Lefty Gomez has a bruised knee.

GIANTS

Danville, Va.—The biggest worry the New York Giants have right now is Mel Ott, their veteran outfielder. One of the slugging champions of the National league for years, he has appeared considerably slower this spring and has an average of exactly .200 for 65 times at bat.

Five of the Gibson diamondeers are Guthrie, Ill., products who prepped at Drummer Township high. Joe Suter, who hit .358 and handled first base last year, is back for another campaign. Ferri's pitching aides are Bill Woodward and Everett Ryan, both righthanders. Bruce Cothern will do the catching with Glen Walker as reserve backstop. Larry Kors will play second, Walter Lee of Roberts will handle the shortstopping chores, and Loyal Crowe will be at third. Outfielders are Fred Zander, Warren Nally and Fred Gilmore.

Barnes already has the Champaign Red Sox lined up for their first campaign in the Cornbelt. Five pitchers, any of whom can play infield or outfield positions, form the largest mound corps in the circuit. They are Sharper Hope, "Smiling Jim" Webb, Raymond Thomas, James Nelson and Alphonso Cornell, all righthanders. # Favor Champs In E. I. League

Harry Combes To Play With Grierson Club

By EDDIE T. JONES

Eastern Illinois league managers, in session here Tuesday night, compared team rosters and without any sort of debate at all awarded the favorites' roles to the clubs that tied for the 1939 championship, Andy Grierson's Champaign Plumbers and Arnold "Dutch" Young's Seymour entry.

There was all the hustle and bustle of a major league meeting at the session in Bailey and Himes' emporium on Green street. All teams were represented and delegates were as optimistic as a politician on election eve. All 10 entries have teams ready to take the field, but the inaugural league games will not be played until April 21.

Combes to Play

The Plumbers, Grierson reported, are still undecided as to where they'll play their home games. The new field at the old Hessel airport was to get a thorough massaging today but Grierson is of the opinion that the work will be too expensive for the Plumbers' purse. They may play all their home games at the Urbana softball park, Grierson said. A decision will be reached today.

Harry Combes, despite reports to the contrary, will be at short for the Plumbers. A recent sports story had Harry hanging up his spikes for good but Grierson state Tuesday night that the Champaign high mentor will be in the Plumbers' infield again this season. He played third in 1939. Grierson angled successfully for a Paxton product, Bud Larson, and the U. of I. senior will take over the hot corner.

Scofield With Monticello

Other coaches on the teams' rosters are Red Pace of Dwight, with Bud Wiese's Tuscola team; Lindquist "Lonnie" Scofield, Weldon high skipper, who'll pitch for Noel Pike's Monticello club, and Wilbur Henry, ex-Illini, Wib, reported on the way out at Pontiac high, will patrol one-third of the Monticello outfield.

League commissioners voted to allow Ecus Vaughn, now claimed by both Tuscola and Monticello, to play with either of the two teams. He is to make his decision this week.

The rosters as released Tuesday by the managers:

Champaign Plumbers

Andy Grierson, manager: Roger Van Dyne, Bob Sprinkle, Leon Shoaf, Bud Nelson, Harry Combes, Bud Larson, Chick Bruns, Bob Blaisdell, Fonner, Herb Ruby, Ray Grierson, Harold Grierson, John Bartlow, Bill Fuzak, Bill Parks.

Behind the Scenes
BY BERTINE

Despite a recent report he was through with all athletics, Harry Combes, youthful Champaign high coach and former star Illini cager, does not intend to retire from all competition. Apparently he has made up his mind to give up basketball, his pet sport, but will continue his baseball playing whenever possible.

"I'm going to play with the Plumbers this spring and help out whenever I can during the summer," Harry said. "However summer school work plus handling my golf driving range is going to take most of my time so I won't be able to compete regularly."

As for basketball his duties as cage coach at Champaign will take too much of his time to consider further action during winter. "It's going to be hard to keep out of action though," he smiled. "And it's not because I fear injuries—just that I will be too busy."

Thawville's ball club is seeking a game for Sunday, April 14, Wayne Mikeworth announces. The Thawvilles would like to play at home. Mikeworth can be contacted at Gilman, or Manager Bellas Thrasher can be reached at Thawville.

Louie Boudreau can't be kept down according to the Sporting News. The Cleveland shortstop, who starred for Illinois in basketball and baseball, discarded his crutches recently against doctor's orders and insisted that the cast be taken off his injured ankle. He suffered a chipped ankle bone in a training game 10 days ago.

Manager Os Vitt then had X-rays taken of Boudreau's ankle and so well has it healed that the cast was taken off and a tape job is now supporting it. Vitt is elated by Louie's fast recovery for it may mean Lou will be there playing when the major leagues open on April 16.

It appears Boudreau better get in there, too, in order to protect his job. His sub, Russ Peters, has been going great guns lately.

Tony Mazeika, ex-Illini gridder and baseballer who is still on the campus in a trainer's capacity, is working out with the Illini nine these days. He intends to leave shortly for Appleton, Wis., where he will get a trial with that pro club. Appleton is managed by Eddie Dancisak, former Illini outfielder.

Milt Olander New Chairman Of A.A. Board

By BERT BERTINE
(Courier Sports Editor)

Milton M. Olander, former Illini football coach and player, was elected chairman of the board of directors of the University of Illinois Athletic Association Tuesday as that newly reorganized body met for the first time. Two weeks ago the personnel of the board revised with Harry Hall, Robert Hickman, and Prof. G. W. Goble replacing Prof. Fred Russell, Senator Cass Clifford, and J. P. Kratz. Olander succeeds Russell as chairman.

Other results of the election found Wendell S. Wilson, director of athletics, being made vice president; Prof. Frank E. Richart, Illinois faculty representative in the Big Ten, assigned the secretaryship; H. S. Capron of Champaign, again elected treasurer; and C. E. Bowen re-elected business manager.

Football Prices Set

Among the business matters settled was the setting of prices for Illinois football games here next fall. Tickets for the Southern California, Notre Dame, and Ohio State battles here will sell for $2.50, while the opener with Bradley Tech will bring $1.50. As usual seats in the south stands for all games will be available at $1.10 for adults and 40 cents for youths of high school age or under.

A plan to bring Chicago campus students to Champaign-Urbana for one game was discussed. Special train rates may be obtained, and if they are it is hoped a large delegation of the Chicago students will come down.

Baseball Bleachers Doomed

The baseball bleachers and the tennis courts situations were also discussed. It was decided to use only the lower half of the old bleachers at Illinois field this spring, and then the entire structure will be torn down this summer. No mention was made of new bleachers and it is probable temporary bleachers will be used next spring. There was some talk of reconditioning the tennis courts near the Old Gym as there is a shortage of good courts at present, because the cement ones near the Library are torn up while a heat tunnel is being constructed.

Olander, new chairman of the board, won four football letters here, the freshman rule being suspended at that time because of the war. He played end on the Big Ten championship elevens of 1918 and 1919. After graduation he coached at Western State Teachers for two years and then came back to Illinois as freshman grid coach. He was later made assistant varsity coach but left that position to accept one as personnel director of the Owens-Illinois Glass Co. in Toledo, Ohio, a post he still occupies.

Track Win Over Danville

Jim Smith at Top of Scoring With 13 Points

Local Frosh Defeated by 67½-48½; Smerdel Leads Visitors.

By MARK COX

Urbana high trackmen rode in on the crest of a strong westerly wind to a 65-51 victory over Danville in a dual meet Tuesday afternoon at Urbana-McKinley field.

In a freshman-sophomore meet held in conjunction with the varsity affair, Danville reversed the decision on Coach Ray Gwillim's Bengal Cubs. 67½-48½

The Tigers breezed in to their second straight triumph by annexing nine firsts, including a sweep in the high jump by Jim Smith, Phil Thompson and Dave Sharp.

It was this trio, together with the assistance of Harold Franklin and Jack Sanders, who led the Tigers to their wide margin of victory over a favored Silver Streak contingent

Smith Headman

"Workhorse" Jim Smith calmly paced the scoring with 13 points including undisputed firsts in the high and low hurdles and a three-way share of the high jumping laurels.

Thompson, the locals' other double winner of the day with his broad jump blue ribbon and corner of the high jump, tied with Harold Franklin for Tiger runnerup honors with eight points apiece Franklin whipped home in front in the century but got boxed on the curve in the 220 due to a mixup and gathered only second in his favorite event.

Jack Sanders, sophomore competing with the big boys, heaved the shot 41 feet 9½ inches to win that event and added thirds in the discus and javelin for seven counters. Dave Sharp had his biggest day with a leg of the high jump, a tie for second in the pole vault, and third in the high hurdles, for six tallies.

Smerdel Leads Visitors

Danville was headed by Capt Tom Smerdel, who turned in the best time of the chilly afternoon with his 55.8 in the 440 took advantage of the miscue in the furlong to win, and added a third in the broad jump to tally 11 points. Jack Clark collected a pair of seconds and thirds to follow Smerdel with eight points.

Steve Speck in the discus, Don Gladding in the mile and Freshman Bill Olliverson in the pole vault contributed the other firsts for the Stephens-coached clan authough the weather conditions prevented them reaching the marks hung up in their opening competition last Saturday.

Only other first earned by the visitors came when veteran Clark Cookingham nosed out Bob Weeks over the half-mile route.

The summary:

100-yard dash—Won by H. Franklin (U); second, B. O'Kane (D); third, Clark (D). Time, 10.6 seconds. Frosh—Won by W. Franklin (U); second, Adams (D); third, Smalley (D). Time, 11.3 seconds.

220-yard dash—Won by Smerdel (D); second, H. Franklin (U);

E. I., Cornbelt Players Named

Final Arrangements Are Made for Baseball League Openers; Ray Eliot Entertains.

Final arrangements for the opening of the Eastern Illinois and Cornbelt baseball leagues, April 23 were made Tuesday night at a joint meeting of the managers of the two leagues at Bailey & Himes. Nearly 70 attended, the largest business meeting in the history of the two leagues.

The highlight of the program was a short discussion of inside baseball by Ray Eliot picked up as a player at Illinois, coach at Illinois college, scout for the Cincinnati Reds baseball club, and assistant coach at the university under Wallie Roettger.

Eliot recalled he played ball in the old Twilight league in Champaign, one of the predecessors of the present independent circuits. Ray also played on the same university team with Ray Weise, manager of the Tuscola club, and Noel Pike, star of the Monticello team.

Chief business of the evening was the drawing up of player lists for the teams in both leagues. Announcement was also made to the Cornbelt league managers that the Rantoul club had transferred to Gifford and will play in the old Flatville park. John Flesner will remain as manager of the team.

Sent Through Long Workouts

Prepare for Big Ten Opener; 39 Plebes Report.

By BERT BERTINE
(Courier Sports Editor)

What price pitching and fielding if you don't get a run? That appears to be the feeling at Illinois baseball quarters this week for Coach Wallie Roettger has been sending his regulars through extended batting drills in the hopes the Illini will burst forth with solid base knocks when they open their Big Ten season against Indiana Friday and Saturday.

With the Bradley Tech game definitely dropped because of bad weather Roettger took advantage of the open day to send his athletes through two long batting workouts. In the morning they wielded the willow against practise pitching but in the afternoon were called upon to face bonafide twirling as presented by Joe Alexander, Al Grant, Howie Stuebner, Harry Ruyter and Johnny Drish. Alexander, who may hurl against Indiana in the opener Friday, worked five innings.

12 Allowed to Bat

Roettger assembled 12 leading candidates for positions and allowed them to bat all the time in this practise affair with the second string players fielding the ball. Those who were chosen to bat were Tom McConnell, Chuck, Miller, Chuck. Farrington, Bill Hapac, Tony Mazeika, Russ Drechsler, Al Tyler, Ernie Cavallo, Tony Pyrz, Chet Ziemba, Al Vitacco and Lenny Kallis. The starting posts Friday outside of pitcher will be filled by eight of this group.

The return of Hapac was encouraging. The big outfielder was a little rusty after his layoff due to illness but showed he hasn't lost his eye at the plate when he came up with a couple of long drives to the outfield, one of which went for a double and the other which was caught far back in left field.

39 Plebes Report

Meanwhile the first call for freshmen baseball players was sounded by Ray Eliot and 39 plebes responded by drawing equipment. However this is just a part of the total for close to 125 freshmen are expected to enrol. Included in Tuesday's turnout was Harold Grierson, former Champaign high all-around athlete, who will try for an outfield post.

Those who reported Tuesday were: R. Vrish, J. Welsh, M. Ginalich, J. Burkot, Fred Townhend, G. Vaughn, R. Kruzan; B. Kufus, J. Worban, J. Egleton, J. Wilson, R. Pollard, A. Fisher, B. Seabolt, E. PITTSBURGH — F o r charity's sake, 10 of Pitt's 1938 varsity first stringers will battle once more on the gridiron under Dr. [illegible]

ple Leafs who have their backs against the wall now in hockey's final play-off series for the Stanley Cup and championship of the hockey world.

They came home two days ago after an even break on Boston ice and figured to triumph on their home rink. But last night the Boston Bruins skated to a decisive 3-1 victory in the third game of the series. And to make it worse, the Leafs lost Harvey (Busher) Jackson, star left winger, probably for the duration of the playoffs.

The teams meet again here tomorrow night, but even if the Leafs win, they'll only be even again and two of the three games scheduled after that will be played at Boston.

Squad of 16

Coach Seaton Tuesday indicated that a squad of approximately 16 men—if that many able-bodied athletes can be found—will be selected to make the trip. The squad will leave Champaign via the Illinois Central Friday.

An interesting sidelight to the long practise through which Seaton put his squad Tuesday afternoon was the visit of Lloyd Siebert, champion pole vaulter of the Little Nineteen conference. Siebert, in town to purchase poles, showed various members of the Illini team a few marks at which to shoot. Working with entirely new poles he cleared the 13-foot mark easily. The North Central star's record jump is 13 feet, 7 inches.

McClure Leads 220

In the 220-yard dash Milt McClure continued to lead the field as he turned in a .22:5 yesterday. Close behind him was Bill Lehman in .22:6, while crippled Bobby Grieve, taking it easy registered third in .23.

As in the past the field events with the exception of the high jump and broad jump events continue to be the weakest point of the Illini. Bob Riegel turned in the outstanding performance among field competitors when he cleared the bar in the high jump at 6 feet, 5 inches. Best mark in the broad jump among the varsity competitors was that of Dick Brunton who leaped 22 feet, 8 inches.

Frary Leads Shot Putters

The longest toss in the shot put was registered by Dean Frary who hurled the iron ball 42 feet, 8 inches. In the javelin the best attempt was made by a freshman, Rudolph, with 168 feet.

In the 220-yard low hurdle trials Bob Wright continued in his stride that brought him a place on the team for the Kansas Relays at the start of the outdoor season. Wright won the race with a time of .23:6. Second place went to Jack Robinson with a .24:1. Running third and fourth, respectively, were Johnny Gill and Brunton.

In the 120-yard high hurdles Wright was forced to give away to Robinson who covered the distance in the fine time of .14:8. Wright ran second in .15, with Brunton finishing third and Doc Huntley winding up in fourth.

L. Salyards, Harper Elected Captains of Drummer High Teams

GIBSON CITY —Nineteen Drummer high athletes were honored here Tuesday evening at the annual sports banquet. A total of 38 letters were awarded by Coach Paul Hensel to the 19 who participated in football, basketball, baseball, and track. Loyal Salyards was elected captain of next fall's football team while Charles Harper, cage and baseball captain this entered in the Eastern Illinois league.

Mahomet Willing

Johnson was merely acting as a representative for the Mahomet group. A manager is yet to be named for that town's team. Things will have to be whipped in shape rapidly at Mahomet as the team is not yet organized nor is a suitable diamond yet available. However, Johnson assured Corn Belt managers that business men in Mahomet are interested in the team and will back it and that plenty of ball players are handy and ready to play.

Mahomet New League Member

Will Be Tenth Team in Champaign Corn Belt Circuit; Play Opens on Five Fronts Sunday.

By BERT BERTINE

Mahomet was accepted as the 10th member of the recently formed Champaign Corn Belt hardball league in a meeting held Tuesday night in Bailey and Himes sporting goods store. The acceptance of this team completed plans of the circuit and the new organization is now ready to start operation Sunday when five games are scheduled.

A week ago nine teams applied and were accepted as members of the new league, leaving a 10th position open. At the meeting Monday Claud Saatahoff of Royal and Roy Johnson of Mahomet made bids for the vacant spot. After a discussion by managers a vote was held which resulted in a 5-4 decision in favor of Mahomet's entry. The five who voted Mahomet in came to their conclusion because Royal already has a team entered in the Eastern Illinois league.

Mahomet Willing

Johnson was merely acting as a representative for the Mahomet group. A manager is yet to be named for that town's team. Things will have to be whipped in shape rapidly at Mahomet as the team is not yet organized nor is a suitable diamond yet available. However, Johnson assured Corn Belt managers that business men in Mahomet are interested in the team and will back it and that plenty of ball players are handy and ready to play.

The schedules, which call for a home and home arrangement between each team in the league, was drawn up. The games and dates will be found below. Play opens Sunday on five fronts. Player lists were handed into Jack Waldron, league president, at the Tuesday meeting and deposits paid.

Each manager will send a dollar to the commission consisting of Waldron, Shelby Himes, and Doc Leedy for each home game. This practise will raise an amount of $90 by the end of the season which will then be split up among the first three teams in the final standings. Title winners will get 50 per cent of the cash, runners-up 30 per cent, and third placers 20 per cent.

Roy Johnson brought up an important point at the meeting. His questions concerning eligibility of high school players moved the commission to write C. W. Whitten, head of the Illinois high school athletic association, regarding the status of prep players who still have semesters in school before graduation. It was decided to bar high school players from competition in the Corn Belt league until a definite answer was received from Whitten.

Reserves Take Another Game From Regulars

Illinois Varsity Baseballers 8-3 Victims as They Prepare for Two Badger Tilts.

Illinois' baseballers continued practise for their two games against Wisconsin here Friday and Saturday by going through another intra-camp battle Tuesday afternoon which resulted in the second straight victory for the reserves, 8-3. Gus Cherry took the hill for the varsity but was wild and retired in the fifth inning after allowing eight hits, five walks, and hitting two batters.

Tom Quinn labored on the mound for the reserves and did a fair job of holding the varsity hitters in check. The regulars were hitting the ball solidly but were sending it directly at reserve outfielders. Encouraging was the work of Freddy Reinhart who pounded out four hits in that many trips to the plate and turned in a sparkling catch of Stans Melino's long drive in the sixth inning.

Pitchers Relieved

Both pitchers were relieved in the fifth inning. Leo Sainati, sophomore southpaw, took up Cherry's duties with the regulars while Ray Poat, frosh hurler, stepped into Quinn's place. These two men proved far more effective than their predecessors.

Sainati blanked the reserves in both the hit and run column and was only in danger in the ninth frame when an error, walk, and a man hit by a pitched ball filled the bases. Leo got out of this hole by fanning Melino and forcing Vic Hinze to pop to third.

Varsity Score Two

The varsity scored two runs in the fourth. Red Duffner led off with a single and went to second on a passed ball. Murray Franklin grounded to Louie Boudreau at third who trapped Duffner off second. Red got to third safely, however, when Melino chased him into the bag. Eddie Weber was out third

New Hardball League Formed

Circuit to Be Known as Champaign Corn Belt League; Nine Teams Enter, Tenth to Be Named.

Plans which have been in the making for the last three weeks resulted in the formation of a new hardball league at a meeting in Bailey and Himes sporting goods store Monday evening. The new circuit, composed of 10 teams, will be known as the Champaign Corn Belt league.

Although the schedule is yet to be completed play will open May 10. Eighteen games will be played by each team thus providing for home and home tilts between each team in the loop. The same commissioners which rule in the Eastern Illinois league will also preside in the new league. They are Jack Waldron, president; Shelby Himes, vice-president; and Doc Leedy, treasurer and secretary.

Need Tenth Team

A tenth team is yet to be named but Shelby Himes says there are several applicants. The remaining member will be named at the next meeting which will be held next Tuesday night in the same place.

The nine members for the league named Monday and their managers are: Rantoul, Edgar Bryant, Jr.; Sidney, Forrest McGowan; Ludlow, W. E. White; Tolono, John Polk; Myra Station, O. B. Poore; St. Joseph, Harry Reese; Dewey, Russell Crowley; Champaign Independents, James Wilson; and Champaign Builders Supply, James Witherow.

Himes Explains Rules

The Dewey team will be known as the Deweyville Sluggers, a parody on the well-known bats, Louisville sluggers. At the meeting a constitution was drawn up and rules were explained by Shelby Himes to the officials and managers present.

The formation of the league is a result of plenty of work by Himes. Several weeks ago when the Eastern Illinois league was formed to supplant the Champaign county loop there were so many extra applicants for membership Himes decided another league could possibly be formed from the many towns who were disappointed by not getting in the Eastern Illinois league.

Consequently he wrote letters to the managers of these teams. The enthusiasm shown at the meeting Monday augurs well for the survival of the new circuit. It is now hoped a championship game or series may be played between the two champions of these leagues late in summer.

Behind The Scenes

By Bert Bertine

Chuck Farrington, reserve outfielder, and Lenny Kallis, third baseman, are Illinois' leading hitters today. Each is slugging away at a .500 clip although Kallis with five has the most hits of anyone on the squad. Irish Callahan and Leo Sainati with four apiece are next in line as far as quantity is concerned. Farrington, of course, hasn't had as many opportunities to bat as the other lads.

No Illini has driven in more than two runs yet so Tom McConnell, peppery catcher, ranks right along with the leaders for his only hit of the season, a double, drove in two runs against Wesleyan. The team as a whole is batting but .242 and while Illinois primarily puts a strong defensive team on the field each year and is usually short on hitting power, this year's nine seems destined to be one of the lightest hitting assemblies in some time. Here are the batting statistics to date:

Lew Stephens, Urbana coach, warns coaches figuring on entering the experimental Urbana open track meet Thursday that they should send in eligibility lists. The meet does not require entry fees and will have no limitations as to number of men in events, but Lew points out that it must still be held according to IHSAA rules and thus the eligibility lists.

Announcement that Lowell Spurgeon will receive only $1,900 for coaching football at Rockford high next fall is not as bad as it sounds.

Rockford operates an automatic pay advance system and if Spurgeon, Illinois' grid captain last fall, makes good he will receive an annual increase up to a certain point around $3.000. Spurgeon will have a good nucleus for his first eleven at the Northern Illinois city, many of the lettermen from last year's strong team returning. Spurgeon will coach lightweight basketball in addition to his football duties.

Chuck Flewelling, Urbana's star halfback, is just about sewed up by Washington U. in St. Louis, so they tell me. Chuck was destined to enrol at Illinois next fall but Jimmy Conzelman has beene working mightily on the Urbana star and from what we hear just about offered Chuck the Washington campus with a fence around it (and if he doesn't like the campus a car for his own use with which to leave it).

Champaign Plans New Baseball and Recreat

Flynn to Name Commission to Supervise Work

Plan Covered Grandstand To Seat 2,000; Draft Plans to Finance $5,000 Project.

Champaign - Urbana is to have a new and better baseball park.

Plans were made Monday evening at a meeting of a group of fans and players interested in baseball in the Twin cities, to construct a fenced in baseball field at the site of the present Dixie park, which has been used for kittenball in Champaign for the past four years. The playing field will be of approximately the same size as Wrigley Field in Chicago and is to be ready for use at the beginning of the coming baseball season.

Public Recreation

The field is planned as the site for Boys league hard ball and soft ball this summer. The play of the younger group will take place mornings and early afternoons. This will be sponsored as part of the local recreational program with organized supervision. The size of the playing field will allow two diamonds besides the main one to be in use for boys play.

Hard ball will probably be played in the form of a revived Commercial league, playing two or three afternoons a week. The park will also be used on Sundays and holidays for inter-city games. Most evenings will find regular league kitten ball games going on at the park.

To Cost $5,000

The cost of the construction of the new field which is to include a covered grandstand with a seating capacity of 2,000, will be about $5,000. This money is to be raised through the sale of advertising on the 10 foot fence about the outfield and by an athletic association sponsored by the City of Champaign to promote recreation for the youth of the city.

Consent for a five year lease on the land which the new Dixie Park will occupy has been obtained from the owner. A committee, appointed at the first meeting of those interested in kittenball in Champaign last Wednesday night, of Mayor James D. Flynn, John O'Byrne, and Gilbert Brown, made those arrangements, it was announced Monday and the papers were to be signed Tuesday.

Further plans are to be made by an "athletic commission" which Mayor Flynn is to appoint. This group will have charge of all of the business of the park, both in construction and in supervision after it hs been built. This group will also investigate the possibility of gaining PWA assistance on the project.

Allison, Budge, Grant, Van Ryn Advance to Third Round of Mason-Dixon Matches.

By Asspociated Press

WHITE SULPHUR SPRINGS, W. Va.—The American Davis cup contingent rolled merrily into the third round of the Mason-Dixon tennis tournament today, victorious in all the early frays.

The veteran Texan, Wilmer Allison, captain of the Davis cup team and seeded No. 1, was handed a bye for the first round yesterday and in the second had little trouble beating A. M. Jitkow of New York, 6-2, 6-1.

Don Budge of Oakland, Calif., got through the first with a default and then trimmed W. Hall 6-2, 6-4 to move on. Bryan (Bitsy) Grant, the Atlanta ace, also had a first round rest and turned on Charles Turner of Roanoke, Va., for a 6-3, 7-5 victory.

John Van Ryn, of Philadelphia, the doubles ace, won an easy first match and had little trouble defeating Fred West of Lynchburg, Va., 6-2, 6-4. Gene Mako of Los Angeles, with a first round bye, spent little time getting rid of David Grey, West Virginia Wesleyan, 6-2, 6-2.

Behind The Scenes

"They've got to lead a fast life," is the way Joe Copps, publicity agent of the Indianapolis speedway, describes the entrance requirements of the 100-miles-an-hour club. Four new members were added last year — Kelly Petillo, Floyd Roberts, Doc MacKenzie, and Chet Miller.

Only fourteen others have had the driving stamina and racing luck to move into the charmed circle since the Indianapolis race was inaugurated a quarter century ago. Petillo heads the club as his time of 106.240 miles per hour made last Decoration day is the fastest time ever turned in.

Narrow Range

Volume of Trade Light; Drought in Southwest Causes Uneasiness.

CHICAGO (UP) Wheat futures fluctuated within a narrow range today in quiet trading on the Chicago board of trade.

At the end wheat was unchanged to ⅛ cent higher, May 94¾ cents; corn was up ⅛ cent, May 59½ cent; and oats were unchanged, May 25¼ cents.

Volume of trade in wheat was light, and prices fluctuated within a moderately narrow range. Although light snow was reported in sections of the Southwest, traders felt that it was insufficient and began to worry over the future of the winter crop.

A restricted interest in the corn market formed the background for a slight easing in prices. Commission and cash houses were on both sides of the market.

Oats and rye were without will of their own and tagged behind wheat most of the day. Lard futures borrowed some firmness from hogs.

CHICAGO PRODUCE — Eggs: Market firm. Receipts 34,790 cases. Fresh graded firsts 18½; extra firsts 19; current receipts 17½; dirties 16¼; checks 15¾.

Crack Colored Nine Pounds Four Local Hurlers For 13 Hits; All Stars Get Five.

By ALONZO "DOC" TAYLOR
Courier Sports Editor

Champaign's Commercial baseball league mustered its best talent for a feature engagement with the American Giants Monday afternoon at Dixie park, but its best was not enough to overpower the crack colored nine from Chicago. As a result the clowning and hard hitting invaders carried off a 6-4 decision as some 1,500 spectators looked on.

Joe Lilliard, former Chicago Cardinal football star, shared the Giant pitching assignment with a fellow named Cornelius and between them held the Commercial leaguers to five hits.

All-Stars Score

The first of these came in the fourth inning off Lilliard and was followed by two more which with a sacrifice and two hit batsmen out, culminated in the All-Star's first two runs. Art Patterson, who plays with the Loop Wreckers, began the rally with a single, Boswell sacrificed him to second and Fleety Curson drove him home with a single to left. Hines was hit by a pitched ball and Pfeffer followed by lamming one of Lilliard's slow ones to center to reunite Curson and Hope also was nicked by a pitched ball, filling the bases. However Baxter, batting for Peterson, was called on strikes and Webb struck out.

The next two runs came in the sixth as Cornelius assumed the Giant pitching task. Curson started it with his second hit of the game and Allen, batting for Webb, struck out. A hit batsman, Pfeffer hit by the pitcher who threw wildly to first and Curson scored. Blaisdell hit to third base and Allen tallied as Pfeffer was nailed down between second and third. Curson's three trips ended the All-Star's scoring threats, however, as Cornelius choke potential rallies.

Locals Use Four Hurlers

Meanwhile, the All-Stars parade the cream of the league against the Giant batters. Those included Langhoff, Weld, Hines and Hines, who while all had their troubles some moments, it was left for Langhoff, the starting pitcher, to have the worst and most protracted inning.

Hines Leads Giant Attack

Hines was the batting ace for the visitors, clouting two singles, a double and a triple in four times at bat. Radcliffe had three hits, including two doubles.

Incidentally, the fans witnessed considerable spit balling during the fray and at one time had spit ball hurlers opposing one another when Webb opposed Lilliard. They also had a number of the players who took part in the East-West All-Star colored baseball classic at Chicago Sunday. The East won 1-0.

Champaign's Commercial hardball league mustered its best talent for a feature engagement with the American Giants Monday afternoon at Dixie park, but its best was not enough to overpower the crack colored nine from Chicago. However, Baxter, batting for Peterson, was called on strikes and Webb struck out.

The next two runs came in the sixth, as Cornelius assumed the Giant pitching task. Curzon started it with his second hit of the game and Allen beat out a bunt. Pfeffer hit to the pitcher who threw wildly to first and Curzon scored. Blaisdell hit to third base and Allen tallied as Pfeffer was being run down between second and third. Outside these two innings, the All-Stars were held very much in check. Two double plays helped choke potential rallies.

Locals Use Four Hurlers

Meanwhile, the All-Stars paraded the cream of the league against the Giant batters. These included Langhoff, Wood, Fuzak and Husby and while all had their troublesome moments, it was left for Langhoff, the starting pitcher, to have the worst and most prolonged inning.

Hines Leads Giant Attack

Hines was the batting ace for the visters, clouting two singles, a double, and a triple in four times at bat. Radcliffe had three hits, including two doubles.

Incidentally, the fans witnessed considerable spit balling during the fray and at one time had spit ball hurlers opposing one another when Webb opposed Lilliard. They also had a number of the players who took part in the East-West All-Star colored baseball classic at Chicago Sunday. The East won 1-0.

Cooley Kempf's smashing double in the last half of the ninth with the bases loaded and one out provided the margin of victory.

Bill Loeschen, former Platville hurler, did the work for Gifford Sunday and lost to Pete Wagner, Platville's imported hurler, but it was Wagner's fault. The tall southpaw held Gifford to a pair of hits both coming in the second inning, and fanned 11 batsmen.

Fransen's Pinch

Roy Guttschow caught hold of Hank Milleham's last ball in the third to beat the News Agency at Bloomington Sunday.

BOSTON RACES TOWARD FIRST

Red Sox Climb Upward In American League Pennant Race.

New York—(UP)—Connie Mack warned the rest of the American league some weeks back that the Boston Red Sox were very much in the race.

Boston was in sixth place at the time. Now the Red Sox are in third, close herding the leaders a scant half dozen games behind the Yankees and moving along at a .600 clip.

Sunday the Bostonians won their last two games of the series with Philadelphia, making it two straight series, having beaten the Yankees last week. They won four out of five against the Athletics and two out of three against the Yanks.

A group of ex-Yankees are helping to make things hum in the Hub camp. Dusty Rhodes is clicking again, and Bill Werber and Lyn Lary, both turncoats of New York, are picking up hits regularly. The fact that Lefty Grove has won only four games this year is all that keeps Boston from being a half dozen games higher—which would be on top.

Boston beat the Athletics in the series Sunday, 7-4 and 7-2. Jimmy Foxx hit two homers, raising his total to 26 and breaking up a three-way tie with his teammate, Bob Johnson, and Lou Gehrig.

Ethel Moore, new Phillie pitcher, repulsed the Braves, 5-3. Dolph Camilli's homer with a mate on base in the sixth won the game.

Lorch Wreckers Defeat Colored Giants In Mix

Ten innings of hard fought baseball were necessary for the Lorch Wreckers to administer the Colored Giants their first league defeat, 7 to 6, Saturday afternoon.

In the tenth inning Hays opened with a single. Kempf laid down a perfect bunt both being safe on the play. Naughton sacrificed both runners to third and Fuzak singled to win the ball game. Fuzak led the hitting for the winners with three hits for six tries. Joe Burke led the losers with a homer and a single in five attempts.

Yanks Gain On Tigers In Loop Pennant Mix As Detroit Drops Go

NEW YORK. (UP) The champion New York Giants will meet a couple of hard hombres from Luc-, Ark., at Sportsman's park, St Lou s during the next day or so, and the champions are not at all certain about the outcome.

In fact, if the Giants are certain about anything, it is that the outcome will be bad for the Giants. The two fellows are the Dean boys, Paul and Jerome Herman, or Jay Hanner, as the case may be. They pitch for St. Louis, and when they pitch against the Giants they practically always win.

During the present season, the Deans have won eight games against the Giants — four each — which is one less than the whole St. Louis club has won. St. Louis is the only club holding an edge in games over New York, nine to six, and the Giants have not licked a Dean this year.

The probability is that Jerome Herman (or Jay Hanner) Dean will be entered Thursday against the New Yorkers and counting on that, the Giants have about decided to lose this one. They reckon on being beaten twice in St. Louis (there are only two Deans) and twice next week in Chicago. That will give them only three victories out of seven against the Cards and Cubs.

The Giants will figure themselves lucky if they get out that way. It will put them three up on the nearest club—which is likely to be St. Louis, and not Chicago—when they return to the Polo grounds to run out their string. There is little hope that any club can spot New York that margin and crowd them out on their own soil.

No National league games were played Wednesday. In the American circuit, Detroit dropped a decision to Washington, 7-5. The Tigers' lead over the Yanks was cut to five games.

New York scored over Cleveland in the opener of a bargain offering, the eminent Senor Gomez delivering a two-hit shutout, 9-0. In the second game Trosky, Hale and Burnett hoisted homers, the Indians winning, 10-4.

Wesley Ferrell, a former Cleveland performer, brought his new outfit, the Boston Red Sox, to within five points of the third-place Indians. He pitched a seven-hit game and beat the Chicago White Sox all by himself with a homer in the eighth which tied the count at 2-all, and another in the 10th which cleaned up the business, 3-2.

The Philadelphia Athletics beat the St. Louis Browns in the first of a five-game series behind Bill Dietrich's eight-hit pitching, 2-0.

Bierman Expects Minnesota to Have Powerful Gridiron Group For Big 10 Play This Fall.

MINNEAPOLIS. Bernie Bierman, tanned, and healthy looking from a month in northern Minnesota, dropped into his office on the Gopher campus this week for a final checkup on his Minnesota football squad before resuming his duties in earnest Sept. 1.

Although practice will not open officially until Sept. 15, the two weeks previous will find Bierman at his desk every day carefully considering the plan of campaign by which the 1934 Gophers will operate.

During his brief visit to the campus Bierman frankly admitted that he is finding it more and more difficult to relax as each day brings the season closer, but he claims that "a football coach always feels that way about this time of the year."

Strong, Rugged Team?

When asked how Minnesota's prospects looked to him at this time Bierman summed up his ideas on the matter quickly and briefly. "We expect a strong, rugged football team," he said. "A few candidates have scholastic matters to clear up and their standing will affect us either way.

"Practically all of our opponents will be stronger this year than in 1933 so that any championship talk is rather far-fetched," the Gopher coach stated. "We should be on an [illegible] most of our opponents

POOR HURLERS ARE BOUNCED BY BASE HITS

National Leaguers Get Dizzier Than Their American League Cousins With Bats.

New York.—(UP)—The bat boys had a day off Friday and probably a name for it in at least two games in the National league. Friday. The two exhibitions, one at Philadelphia and the other at St. Louis, produced a grand total of 72 hits and 64 runs.

St Louis used all but two of its entire playing list, including seven pitchers in a vain effort to beat Cincinnati. The Reds won, 16-15. They got 15 hits, the Cards 16.

Jesse Haines started and quit in the first inning. He was touched for three hits. Jim Lindsey gave up three more and lasted until the third. By that time the score was nine to eight the Cards having jumped on Rudy Frey. Dazzy Vance, Dizzy Dean, Bill Walker, Jim Mooney and Tex Carleton all tripped hopefully to the hummock, and all but Tex tripped back again.

Cut Off

In the ninth Carleton singled with Durocher on base with the tying run, but Lippy Leo tried to stretch it too far and was snapped off at home, ending the game.

Boston and Philadelphia put on the other half of the act. They crossed 41 hits and 29 runs. The Braves won, 16-13. The mortality rate on pitchers was not so heavy each using only four. Hal Lee bounced three home runs and a [illegible] trips to the batting

County Hardball Loop Opens Second Half Of Campaign Sunday

Champaign county hardball teams will start the second half of their 1934 campaign Sunday afternoon with games scheduled for five diamonds. The U. Loans Wreckers, Urbana, defending champions, are leading the league with seven wins and one loss. They have a postponed game with Gifford from the first half of the season to be played at a later date.

Sunday's games bring Rantoul to Urbana to play Lorch's, Gifford to Flatville, Bondville to Pesotum against Art Moore's, Sadorus to St. Mary's and Troop E to Chanute Field.

The Gifford-Flatville game had aroused quite a bit of interest and some considerable betting and hard-feeling. Much of this, however, was ironed out Friday evening of the managers of the two teams and the league executives at Dock Leedy's place, Ogden.

The managers had been accused of purloining players from one another and of helping engineer some slight arguments. However, all bets for the game have been called off and the pilots are in near perfect harmony. Al Nelson and Chris Goldstein will umpire the game.

Giants, Lions Are Defeated In City Loops

Commercial, Service Club Leagues Tied Up By Surprise Victories Thursday.

Harry Curzon and Wally Kimberlin upset the Colored Giants' apple-cart in the Commercial league Thursday evening by handing them a blistering 7-4 defeat. The beating tied Art Moore's club with the Giants for the league leadership, each club having five victories and two defeats.

Curzon, who has been hitting a powerful gait all summer, was on the spot in the seventh inning Thursday. There was one out, the bases were full, the Giants were leading, 4-3, and he was batting. His screeching triple somewhere in the outfield scored all of the runners, and won the game.

Kimberlin had a world of stuff throughout and outside of a bad first inning, kept the Giants back on their heels ducking his fast ones and chasing his sharp hook.

MANAGERS VOTE TO STOP GAMES AFTER PETITION

Hope to Resume Loop Shortly; Knifing Started Trouble.

By WILLMORE B. HASTINGS
(Courier Sports Editor)

Commercial league baseball managers, gathering in a special meeting at Johnston's Sport Shop last night, went went on record as favoring suspension of play for the coming week, due to the after-effects of the knifing of Ralph Knudson by Arthur Bounds, at the Ben Hur-Colored Giants game on Thursday afternoon.

Two petitions were circulated in the district surrounding West End Park, one of them asking the league to drop the Colored Giants from the loop as they and their followers were a nuisance while the second petition just asserted that the whole league was a practical nuisance, creating a disturbance in a residential district.

Lots of Wrangling

The games scheduled for Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday of next week have thus been definitely postponed with the remainder of the schedue still up in the air.

Last night's meeting saw plenty of wrangling and arguing with both sides of the question being thoroughly threshed out before the postponement was ultimately decided upon.

It is possible that the league may move from the West End park and continue play in some different locality. Also, it is possible that the Colored Giants may be dropped from the loop and another team substituted.

Will Separate People

The general consensus of opinion however, seemed to be that the players were innocent of any connection with the trouble, and that it was unfair to condemn them. However, it is nearly certain that if the Giants are permitted to remain in the league some thing will be done about separating the white and the colored spectators and keeping them separated.

Seely Johnston is president of the Commercial league with T. O. White serving as commissioner. The league consists of six teams which are as follows: Art Moore's Tire Shop, Colored Giants, Ben Hur Lodge, Dowling's Grocery, Lorch Wreckers and Champaign Plumbers.

This afternoon's game between Art Moore's and the Lorch Wreckers was to have been played as scheduled.

The Industrial league schedule, in which games are played on Wednesdays and Fridays, has also been affected by the threatened upheaval. Their games will be postponed next week also.

MIXED UP

The Larking Home Bakery of Pekin, appeared at Dixie Park last night to play off their postponed Inter-City Softball Association game with the C. & U. News Agency. It was just a mixup in dates.

SHIRLEY GIVES NATIONALS BUT LONE SAFE ONE

Elks Beat Sport Shop in Neat 4-1 Game.

The Elks defeated the Sport Shop, 4-1, and the Champaign Nationals trounced the Lewis team, 17-1, in the softball league games at Dixie park last night. Neither game was particularly interesting or thrilling.

"Keno" Walker's long hit toward Walt Dowling in the sixth scored Overmier, who had doubled, and cinched the game for the Elks. The ball got away from Dowling.

The second game of the evening was nothing but a riot of hits and errors. The Nationals smacked out 11 hits and the losers made 13 errors, nearly a 50-50 break. Davis and Shirley, the two winning pitchers during the evening, had every thing well under control. Davis allowing seven hits and Shirley one hit.

Detroit Is Ready to Settle Battle For Top Position

New York, June 16.—(UP)—Mickey Cochrane, bar-eared chuge d'affaires of the Detroit Tigers, will bring his squad of athletes into Yankee Stadium today to find out what is keeping the Yanks from falling.

The Tigers started eastward last week, intent on settling the hash of Col. Jake Ruppert's riflemen. They stopped off in Boston, and, much to their consternation, the Yanks reeled off three straight over the Browns and squeezed Detroit out of the American league lead. The week-end series will be regarded as crucial.

Each team boasts a set of heavy-duty stick men. Detroit, with Gehringer, Rozell, Goslin and Greenberg, can match New York's Ruth, Gehrig, Rolfe and Hoag. Pitching is another matter. Each owns three good throwing men, but the rest haven't been good for batting practice. It was with surprise and satisfaction, therefore, that Yankee boss, Joe McCarthy observed, dangerous Dan MacFayden, who hadn't won a game since April 25, humble the St. Louis Brownies yesterday, 6-3. MacFayden makes his fourth pitcher.

Detroit, with Schoolboy Rowe, one of Cochrane's three good ones, right-handing the Red Sox into submission, also won yesterday, defeating Boston, 11-4. Cochrane's bib bombers hammered three Boston pitchers.

Three of Illinois' Graduated Pilots Boasted of Soldan, St. Louis, As Alma Mater For Their High School Degrees

DAVE COOK

HUDDIE HELLMICH

Soldan high school of St. Louis can point with accurate pride at the accomplishments of three of its graduates at the University of Illinois this year, all of whom were varsity captains and all of whom were champions. One was a champion in track and in football, another was a champion in basketball and track and the third was a champion wrestler.

David Fouts Cook was the footballer and trackster, Hudson Arnold Hellmich was the basketeer and trackster and Barney Cosneck was the wrestler. Cook and Hellmich are now enroute to the western coast to compete in the National Intercollegiate track and field meet and Cosneck is making a name for himself in professional grappling circles. The boys also participated extensively in athletics at Soldan, St. Louis, where great athletic teams are the rule rather than the exception.

Cook graduated from Commerce and was a member of Phi Delta Theta. He has been Big Ten shotput champion in track and was named as the most valuable man on the Illinois football team last fall. He won three track letters and two football, missing an award on the gridiron his junior year. He was a member of Ma-Wan-Da, Sachem, Skul and Crescent, Tribe of Illini and Band of X.

Hellmich, unquestionably the finest defensive basketball center to play in the Western Conference the past three years, was the spark plug of the Illinois cage squads and always scored a respectable number of points himself. He is also a crack outdoor sprinter, having placed in both the 100 and 220 yard dashes in the conference for three campaigns. H graduated from Commerce and Banking-Finance and was a member of Kappa Sigma, Ma-Wan-Da, Sachem, Student Council, Skull and Crescent and Tribe of Illini.

Cosneck, the third of the trio, won two wrestling championships during his three year tenure at the University, taking the 165-pound title when a sophomore and the heavyweight crown this last season. He combined extraordinary strength with considerable agility and skill. He studied Physical Education and was a member of Tau Epsilon Phi, Sachem, Tribe of Illini, and was a First Lt. in the University Military Brigade.

Fullis Traded for Davis

St. Louis, June 16K(UP)—Outfielder Charles "Chick" Fullis, regular of the Philadelphia Phillies last season, will come to the St. Louis Cardinals in exchange for Outfielder George Davis it was announced here today by the Cardinal management. Jim Winford, pitcher, was released to the Rochester internationals yesterday.

Minnesota Expects Its Veterans to Pull Grid Squad Through Campaign

MINNEAPOLIS. Minnesota will base its 1934 football hopes largely on veterans when the squad gathers at Northrop field, Sept. 15, thus reversing the situation that prevailed a year ago.

This season lettermen will be available for every position on the Minnesota eleven. In 1933 sophomores were being groomed for more than half of the first team positions when the season started.

With the exception of Roy Oen, captain and center of the 1933 team, the Gopher starting lineup for major games last year, will return intact Sept. 1. Last year the first team contained six sophomores, four juniors and one senior.

Availability of several experienced players, plus a smaller group of sophomores also adds to the prospect of a somewhat better-balanced squad than that of 1933.

Giants Keep on Slugging

Wallop Reds Sunday as Cubs Take Pair of Games; Tigers, Yanks Take Two.

NEW YORK (UP) Sunday's timely hitting again brought the Giants safely through a nasty mess at Cincinnati. With the game virtually wrapped up, leading by three runs going into the last of the ninth, Foreman Terry lifted Hal Schumacher, who has wielded a magic hand against the Reds for three years, never having been beaten by them. Instantly the Redlegs set upon Al Smith, Hal's understudy, and biffed over a triple, double and single to tie the score. Mel Ott singled Salveson and Moore home in the 11th to win, 6-4.

Bill Lee and Guy Bush turned in two great pitching performances, giving off five and six hits respectively, as Chicago took the Phillies twice, 3-1 and 4-2. The double victory cut a half game from the Giant lead.

Benge In Form

St. Louis got an even break with Boston, dropping the first game, 10-9, after Paul Dean had been summoned in the ninth, last of six Card pitchers to trek to the mound. Paul got the demerit. Joe Medwick and Jimmy Collins smote successive homers in the first heat of the nightcap to send Bill Walker away with a three-run lead, which he made good, St. Louis winning, 3-1.

Ray Benge highballed the Pittsburghers, giving only four hits as Brooklyn scored a 2-1 decision.

Detroit and the Yankees matched steps in the American, the Tigers spanking Boston twice, 8-0 and 4-3, while the Yankees knocked off the Browns in a twin-killing. Cochran's Cats boosted Lefty Grove off the hummock in the fifth inning of the opener with a five-run spree.

Johnson Hits Homer

Boss McCarthy sent his two collegiate Johnnies, Murphy and Broca, to the hump against the St. Louis Browns and they did very nicely, turning in 9-3 and 2-1 victories. The Yanks stayed four and a half games behind the Tigers.

Philadelphia beat Cleveland 9-5. Jimmy Foxx, Athletics' home run star, was carried off the field after a crack on the leg, but Bob Johnson filled in, hoisting his 29th homer over the rain to wind up a six run rally in the second.

Late rallies gave Chicago a 9-8 victory over Washington. They chased out the hewhiskered Hoss of David man, Allan Benson, making his first start for the Senators.

By T. O. WHITE
News-Gazette Sports Writer

The Giants finished up a great week in the Commercial League Saturday afternoon at the West End Park by dropping the Lorch nine after a hard battle, 5 to 4. It was the second win of the week for the league leaders, and put them two and a half games ahead of the second place Mooremen.

Despite the wet grounds, which forced the players to wait until 4:30 o'clock to start the game, the players on each team disported themselves creditably. The base-runners of course did some funny sliding about, and now and then an infielder would sit down abruptly in pursuit of a ball, much to the regalement of the crowd, but all in all it was one of the better games of the season.

Jim Webb was the winning pitcher and his losing rival was Bill Fusak. Webb gave up 13 hits and Fusak 11, but in defense of the hurlers it must be said that several of the hits of each team would have been easy putouts for a Boy Scout under normal conditions.

Giants Score First

The Giants got away to a one-run lead in the last of the first inning after two were down. Lewis grounded to Bill Fuzak and Scoby's short liner skidded away from Bill Davis for a scratch hit. Hopkins skied to Jack Fuzak, and then Joe Burke drove a hard triple to left, scoring Baxter while Burke slewed from base to base in the heavy going.

Bill Fuzak tossed out Baxter to end the inning, but the Giants got under way again in the fourth, this time with two down. Baxter started things where he left off in the first by doubling to center. Sharper Hope beat out an infield hit sending Baxter to third. Pyle singled to right to score Baxter, and then Hope raced home on Lloyd Head's bingle. Webb fanned for the last out.

Two Double Plays

The Lorchers got a gift run in the sixth. Patterson reached first with one down on Joe Burke's error. He went to second on a passed ball, and to third and home on a pair of wild pitches. Applegate fanned. Jack Fuzak and brother Bill singled in succession, but Bill Davis grounded to Scoby to end the inning.

In the Giant sixth Baxter scored again. In the first of the seventh Naughtin, Patterson and Applegate singled without a break, and a pair of errors a little later coupled with those hits tied the score at four all. The Giants scored the winning run in the seventh when Scoby doubled, went to second on a passed ball and scored on Hopkin's base knock.

Two double plays, Lewis to Burke to Hopkins, and Scoby to Lewis to Hopkins cut down Lorch rallies in the second and the eighth. Bobby Blaisdell, back for the first game since his arm was broken earlier in the season played a great game in the field and smacked a double in the eighth which was wasted.

Knott Checks Sox Rally as Browns Win

CHICAGO, Aug. 11.—(AP)—Although he needed some assistance from Jack Knott in the ninth inning, when the White Sox rallied for three runs and had the tying marker on second base, Dick Coffman of the Browns was credited with a 9 to 8 victory over the Chicagoans today, his fifth triumph of the season, four of which have been over the Sox.

The Sox, however, outhit the Browns, 14 to 12.

Harland Clift hit a two-run homer in the fourth inning to boost the Browns' lead to 6 to 0, but Ted by Evar Swanson, Johnny Conlan and Jack Hayes, each of whom hit safely three times, the Chicagoans closed in during the final innings.

The second game was called off on account of rain.

Foxx got his circuit clout off Monte Weaver in the fourth inning when the bases were empty. Weaver was pounded for 10 hits during his eight innings of duty. Benton, on the mound for Philadelphia, kept the Senators in check with three hits.

BOSTON, Aug. 11.—(AP)—Twice the Yankees hit home runs today to go ahead of the Red Sox proceedings but Boston finally won a 13-inning pitching duel between Fritz Ostermueller and Jimmy Deshaes, 3 to 2.

Boston tied the score in the ninth after Babe Ruth had belted his 19th homer of the season in the eighth. Tony Lazzeri hit for the circuit in the 13th only to have Boston come back with two runs in the same inning when Carl Reynolds and Julius Solters connected for a double and Frank Crosetti made a wild throw that let Reynolds tie the score.

TIGERS, 7; INDIANS, 0

DETROIT, Aug. 11.—AP)—The Tigers blasted seven runs off Willis Hudlin in the first two innings today and, with young Elden Auker holding the enemy to six scattered hits, ran their string of consecutive victories to 11 by defeating Cleveland, 7 to 0.

It was the 10th victory of the season, against four defeats, for Auker who is in his first year as a big league regular. It also stretched the Tigers' American League leadership to four full games as the second place Yankees lost.

A Tiger spurt in the second inning accounted for six of the Detroit runs, which came with two men out. Hudlin survived the attack only to be lifted in the third. He uncorked two wild pitches during the heavy shelling, letting in two runs. Weiland and Clint Brown finished the game.

Only one Indian got as far as second base. Galatzer doubling in the sixth inning. Auker had all but perfect control, allowing not a single pass and fanning seven batters.

HADAGAL WINS HANDICAP ON MUDDY TRACK

PAWTUCKET, R. I., Aug. 11—(AP)—Warren Wright's Hadagal, often close but seldom a winner this year, flashed the form that ranked him among the leading juveniles of 1933 as he scored a front-running victory in the King Philip Handicap over a muddy track at Narragansett Park today.

After finishing third to Cavalcade and Discovery in the Arlington Classic and fourth in his only previous start in the East, the three-year-old son of Sir Galahad III picked up the top weight of 117 pounds and ran the distance in 1:48 to finish with six lengths to spare. Dark Secret from the

Former Urbana Greats

By Kempf

A blond of Swedish descent and possessing big blue eyes, an athlete who moved quickly with much agility. That is the description of an athlete, who played guard in football and ran the 440 yard run and high-jumped in track, at Urbana high in 1926-1927.

This burly boy was track captain in 1927.

He spent two years each on the gridiron and the cinders.

After leaving Urbana, the blond flash entered the University of Illinois.

Glen tried out for track at the university, but school and class work was the greater urge, so he gave up the cinders.

The Glen is none other than "Ollie" Dunkle, Urbana, '27.

The bat slipped out of a left-handed batsman's hands and struck Gagnon, heavy end first, behind the right ear, felling him and cutting a gash. Despite the fact that Gagnon pitched the game later, it was obvious that he was far from his usual self.

"Slim" Keagle will hurl for Paxton against the State Farm Mutual of Bloomington at Paxton tonight. Gagnon will hurl for the Champaign All Stars against Waverly, Fla.

Two more players were added Friday to the all-American college team which will meet the Chicago Bears professional champions, at Soldier field Aug. 31 when Fred Crawford, Duke tackle, and Ralph Graham, Kansas State halfback, accepted invitations to play. Crawford replaces Whitey Wistert, Michigan tackle, who was unable to play because of his baseball career. The squad of 33 collegians will report for practice at Northwestern university next Wednesday.

Bob Zuppke, Illinois football coach, was in fourth place in the poll for coach of the All Star team Friday Zuppke had 136 428 points, trailing Kiser, Purdue; Henley Northwestern, and Crowley, Fordham. Crowley, the leader, had 145,492 points.

Bill Lehmann and Lyle Cushing, Pontiac's two great athletes, are planning on matriculating at the University of Illinois this fall according to information coming out of the central Illinois city. Cushing was unquestionably one of the best scoring forwards in the state the past two years, while Lehmann qualified for the finals in the 100 and 220 yard dashes at the state interscholastic two years in a row, and was down here three times.

Tom Rickman, former University of Illinois baseball pitcher, is athletic director of the west parks system in Chicago.

Big Jim Weaver, who is six feet six inches tall and looks even taller, will pitch for the Cubs in one of the games of the twin bill against the Cardinals Sunday. Weaver, who hails from Fulton, Ky., will be honored by a group of his fellow townsmen and Manager Charley Grimm of the Cubs has promised to start him in one of the games.

Weaver started the season with the Browns and won two games for the Hornsbymen. But there was a $12,500 tag on him if he was kept after a certain date. The Browns decided to spent the twelve-five elsewhere, returning Weaver to Newark. The Cubs lost no time in making a deal for him, and Big Jim won seven straight ball games before having a defeat pinned on him. He is a right-hander.

Mike Ryba, catcher and manager of the Springfield Cardinals in the Western Association, has won 10 straight ball games as a pitcher. Mike started his career as a pitcher but wasn't considered a major league prospect. He could hit. So

Softball Is Two Years Old

cClellan, Glen Shepard Helped Form First ague in Urbana-Champaign; First League ayed At Victory Park.

By CONRAD KEMPF

Victory park, which is located on East Green street in Urbana, was the birth place of the first softball league in Urbana, and according to many it was thought to be the first circuit in the community.

In the spring of 1932 Fun McClellan and Glen Shepard of Urbana conceived the idea of kittenball, after watching the faculty of the University of Illinois play play-ground ball on the faculty diamond at the university.

With this in mind, the two gentlemen brought together some of the boys from the American Legion, the Webber Street church, Troop E and the City, and a league was formed. A diamond was made out and put into service at Victory park.

Move Park

Such personalities as Elmer Langhoff, "Red" Stowe, Francis Hornfeld, "Fat" Hayes, Paul Kelly, Fallie Hart, Walter Fulton, Tom Slade, Frank White and many others made up the league.

In the middle of the summer the officials of the league moved the playing field to the Twilight league diamond on North Broadway where the present softball diamond is located.

Waldron Brings Idea

Jack Waldron brought back stories from Paxton of the wonderful lighting system and games that were played at night. Urbana investigated the possibilities of such a system. Champaign, however, under the leadership of Lloyd Keep-

Leaders Face Fight to Hold League Leads

Lively Games on Schedule For Hardball Loop This Week; Dull Card For Softball.

Cracking under the strain of maintaining the league leads, loop leaders in the various ball circuits of the Twin-Cities, County and Inter-City competition lost ground as several of them were upset by opponents in the last week's play.

In the Champaign softball league the I. P. L. team rose to the occasion to beat the News Agency, the Survey team upset the Blatz team in the Urbana loop and Gebhart's of Decatur stopped Peoria in Inter-City play. In the County baseball circuit the Lorch Wreckers lost to Flatville and Bondville was dropped by Sadorus.

Leaders to Meet

This week's Urbana play brings together the two first division teams on Tuesday night when the Phio and H-P Davis meet.

The schedule for the week is as follows: Tonight, Kennery's-Survey, P. W.-Vets; Tuesday, Philo-H-P Davis; Wednesday, Mallows-DeMolay, Blatz - Troop; Thursday, Survey-Vets, Blatz-DeMolay; Friday, Blatz-Kennedy's, DeMolay-H-P Davis.

The Inter-City schedule this week finds Normal at Peoria, Pekin at Bloomington, Staley's at Champaign, Urbana at Gebhart's on Wednesday and Gebhart's at Staley's, Peoria at Pekin, Urbana at Champaign and Normal at Bloomington on Sunday night.

Ice Company Safe

News Agency is pressed hard by the I. P. L. and the I. B. T. in the Champaign class A softball loop. In the class B competition the Ice company is leading with not much of a chance for a change in leadership.

The games for the week bring together News Agency-Kuhns, Merchants-T. C. P. on Monday. I. P. L.-All Stars, Cotters-Souders on Tuesday; Elks-I. B. T., Nationals-T. C. P. on Thursday; and Moose-Sport Shop, Reliable-Lewis on Friday.

The Colored Giants still lead the Champaign Commercial baseball league, but this week they are threatened by the second place Moore team which they must face on the west side park Thursday afternoon. The Giants will again be challenged Saturday afternon by the third place Lorch Wreckers.

Ben Hur meets Lorch's on Tuesday for the other game of the week. Rippy's still set the pace for the teams in the Industrial loop. Wilson's meets Rippy's on Wednesday and Seymour tackles Cudahy's on Friday afternoon.

The Lions club meets the Urbana Rotary on Wednesday in the feature service league game of the week. The other games to be played bring together Kiwanis and Champaign Rotary Tuesday and Champaign Exchange and Urbana Exchange Thursday.

GIANTS SPANK PLUMBER NINE

Teams Put On Weird Game At I. C. Park Yesterday Afternoon For Practice.

Champaign Plumbers and Colored Giants went out to the I. C. park Thursday afternoon with the serious and well-worthy intention of playing a baseball game. A game was played, but no one seemed capable of figuring out what kind of a game it was.

The Giants ended up by being on the long end of the score, 11-10, but were still undecided as to whether or not it was their good playing that won or the Plumbers' "unusual" playing that lost.

However, it was an interesting exhibition and the fair crowd went home well satisfied with the mixup, which saw plenty of weird occurrances happen.

The score by innings:

Cronin, Terry Are Named Pilots Of Teams For The Annual Inter-Loop Game

Chicago—(UP)—Joe Cronin, Washington pilot and the youngest manager in baseball, has been named to manage the American league's all-star team for the inter-league game at New York July 10.

In making the announcement President Will Harridge said that he planned to name the manager of the pennant-winning team the previous year to manage the American league's all-star team each season.

Cronin will be vested with full authority, and will pick the club's two coaches, trainer, batting practice pitcher and catcher as well as make all decisions regarding the direction of the American league team.

New York—(UP)—Acting on a proposal to draft the winning manager in each league to skipper the all-star team in the annual inter-league game, Bill Terry of the New York Giants, was named manager of the National leaguers for the all-star game July 10.

NCAA Track Meet Opened Up At Los Angeles Today

Los Angeles—(UP)—The 13th annual N. C. A. A. championships, featuring the greatest gathering of track and field stars since the 1932 Olymyics, opened today with 300 athletes from 88 colleges and universities competing for honors.

Chief interest centered in Louisiana State, Stanford, and Southern California for they were closely bunched for team honors, and certain to finish one-two-three.

The fans that swarmed the Coliseum were interested most in the contests in the 440, the mile and the shot put. These events promised the most thrills, the probable turning points of the team title and, perhaps, new world records.

Jack Torrance, of Louisiana State, and Johnny Lyman, of Stanford, were favorites in the shotput since each has broken the world's record this spring. Torrance's best heave exceeded Lyman's so the southerner was figured to win.

Southern California's hopes dropped a point with the scratching of Bob Lyon, Trojan star in the high hurdles. Lyon failed to return from fishing trip in Mexican waters.

Sharper Hope, Giant pitcher, won a 3 to 1 decision over Ted Husby of the Ben Hur team at the West End Park Thursday afternoon. Sharper really should have had a 1 to 0 victory, for the Giants had two unearned runs and the Ben Hur tally was tainted by an error as Pete Peterson cashed in at home plate.

It was an important win for the Giants, because it clinched the Commercial League pennant. They can now lose the rest of their games and still nobody can catch them. The best the second place Lorch Club can hope for is to finish a game behind the leaders when the suits are laid away.

Bob Scoby and Joe Burke were the number one public enemies as far as the lodgemen were concerned. Scoby got two hits for three and scored the first two runs for his team. Burke got but one hit, the same being a blast into University Avenue which went for a home run.

Scoby Scores First

Scoby scored the first Giant run before the second hitter had completed his turn at bat. He opened the first inning for the winners with a Texas league single to center. He was caught off first, but scampered back safely when Harry Honn dropped the ball.

Scoby then stole second, and a little later was trapped between second and third. Husby threw to Chuck Manning, who let the ball elude him and roll around until Scoby was over the plate. Allen skied out. Pickens singled and stole second, but got no help whatever from the next two batters.

In the Ben Hur second Pete Peterson walked with one down and went to second on Homer Kimbrell's scratch single. John Seymour rolled one to LeRoy Pickens, who botted the ball around while Peterson scored with the only run the losers scored during the afternoon. Husby forced Kimrell at the plate and Dill Seymour grounded to Pickens to end the inning.

In the Giant third, Scoby tripled to deep center with one gone and scored while Manning fooled around with Allen's slow grounder. Pickens fanned and Baxter grounded to Honn for the third out. In the Giant sixth, Pickens and Baxter were easy victims, but Burke slapped his home run for the good of his team, and the game was practically over.

A Triple Killing

The losers can claim one distinction arising out of the game, and that was the honor of perpetrating the only triple play so far this season. It came in the Giant second in time to avert a possible Giant scoring spree.

George Pyle singled to start things off, and went to second when Lewis duplicated. Hopkins grounded to Dill Seymour at short, who tossed to Manning to force Pyle at third. Manning threw across the

North Moor Municipal Course in Peoria S... Meet; Jimmy Fehl Is Favorite

By BILL MARSTELLER
News-Gazette Sports Writer

Of course, many a mashie will be swung in these parts after Sunday, but for Central Illinois the competitive golf season is about wound up with the Intercity Golf Association's annual tournament, which this year will be held at the North Moor public links in Peoria, morning and afternoon, Sunday.

Champaign-Urbana will send a strong 12-man delegation. Like representations will be on hand from Bloomington-Normal, Decatur, Peoria and Springfield. In most of these cities the teams are chosen on the basis of the 12 best scores in the city tournaments. Where match instead of medal play is used to determine the city championships, a team is arbitrarily picked.

Decatur won the first meet, which was held two years ago in Decatur. The tournament came to the Champaign County Club last year and Springfield took first place home.

Peoria Has Chance

The Peoria team has a good chance to win its own meet. Jimmy Fehl is the Peoria ace, and he is a good competitive golfer for all his youth. He has just touched 20.

The championship is decided by adding the 10 low scores of each team.

A last-minute change has been made in the local team. Rand Cosby, who tied with Rooney Stipes for 13th place in the Twin City tournament, will replace Hal Spalding in the Intercity play. Spalding is unable to make the trip.

Local Hopes

Champaign's hopes rest mainly on Elton Hill, Dolph Swenson, and Bill Percival, who were heads above the field in the Twin City meet. Percival was his old competitive self Thursday in shooting a par 72 over the Champaign layout. The rest of the local cast is Lyle Gallivan, Austin Dyson, Dick Trevett, Bob Webber, Vern McDonald, George Bennett, Charley Thompson, Kenneth Baldwin, and Cosby.

Decatur banks on a veteran team including Cliff McKelvey, the Dawson boys, Sunny Hedges, Jack Wright, and Bill Berring. Springfield's hopes rest on the Charitou boys, Maddox and Noonie Pease. Keither Johnson, former interscholastic champion and medalist in last year's meet, is the Bloomington-Normal leader.

The teeing-off times and pairings, announced by Howard Millard, are in an adjoining column.

By EDDIE JACQUIN

THE Peoria Star pays tribute to Howard Millard, sports editor of the Decatur Herald-Review as a former Peorian who has made good. Howard has conducted his column, "Bait for Bugs," in the Decatur newspaper for 12 years. Like Perspective, Millard was a sports writing neophyte in the offices of the Peoria Star.

The Star says among many other nice things:

"At one time in his officiating career Millard refereed six basketball games in six different states in six nights, starting out at Creighton University at Omaha and winding up at Westminster College at Springfield, O. Last year he was one of the officials in the intersectional game between Fordham University and the Oregon Aggies at the Polo Grounds in New York City and this year is in good way to set a record. Howard is scheduled to officiate in the Illinois-Wisconsin Homecoming game at Champaign the afternoon of Oct. 14 and that night is to referee the Marquette-Mississippi game at Milwaukee. A fast plane will enable him to fill both engagements."

RED WAGON IS WINNER HOTEL STAKES FEATURE

SARATOGA SPRINGS, N. Y., Aug 5.—(AP)—Further scrambling the two-year-old turf championship, Red Wagon, speedy son of Canter from Mrs. Charles Amory's Saga stock, scored his second straight victory today in the $10,000 Hotel Stakes feature at Saratoga. Red Wagon, ridden by Jockey Wayne Wright, was the favorite in the field of seven starters and paid $3.60 to win, $3.20 to place and $3.10 to show. Mrs. Amory's Sagamore, ridden by Jockey Eddie Arcaro, was second and paid $3.40 to place and $3.20 to show. Mrs. Payne Whitney's Greentree Stable's Bostonian, ridden by Jockey Raymond Workman, was third and paid $3.20 to show.

Red Wagon, who won the Saratoga Special last week, defeated Sagamore by a length and a half. Bostonian was a length and a half behind Sagamore. Red Wagon ran the six furlongs in 1:12 flat. Red Wagon, who has won seven of his nine starts, has been a consistent performer. He won the Flash Stakes at Arlington Park and second in the Flash here Thursday, stepped away from some of the best juveniles yet to show colors to win the purse of $6,625. He was the second choice in the betting at 13 to 5 with the entry of Black Buddy and First Minstrel from Mrs. Payne Whitney's Greentree two starts at Arlington Park and

Plumbers and Tiremen Head Batting List

John Vaskie, the new-found ace of the Champaign Plumbers' pitching staff is at the top of the Commercial League batting lists but he has only made 15 appearances at the plate. Ed LeClaire of the Art Moore club is still the official leader. Vaskie has a mark of .333 while LeClaire hit .317 for the season. Vaskie has a chance to improve or lower his average.

C. D. Smith of the Dowling outfit is third with .500 followed by Claude McCabe of the Plumbers with .485. Right now is the first time Claude has been below the .500 mark for some time. Lyman Grant, the Marion slugger is fifth with a tidy .433. The Mooremen as a team lead the league in batting with .288.

Second honors in team slugging is held by the Ben Hur Auditorium with .289. Walt Dowling's crew is tied with .276, and the Plumbers are fourth with .265. In fifth place a peculiar situation is in effect, with the Merchants, Giants and I. P. L. tied. Each club is hitting .246. One of the reasons for the poor showing of the Bill Birds during the season to be voided by their batting percentage of .216.

Wednesday—Red Sox vs. Odd Fellows.
Thursday — Unemployed vs. Post Office.

The past week was a rather short one in the Industrial League. Only one game was played, The News-Gazette staying a full game in the lead in the standings by defeating the Red Sox. The Red Sox failed to appear for the game with the Post Office and the game was forfeited.

Since the Troop E boys are encamped, their game was not played, and the Rippey Unemployed contest was rained out. It will be played off on Tuesday, Aug. 8. The Post Office Club continues to menace the right of The News-Gazette to stay out in front.

WEEK'S SCHEDULE
Today—Ben Hur vs. Plumbers.

By T. O. WHITE
News-Gazette Sports Writer

Ben Hur club slipped a 7 to 4 victory over the Giants at the Westend Park Friday afternoon and went into second place in the league standings, displacing the Merchants. The Ben Hurmen now have games left to play with only one game left on the schedule, while the Giants dropped to seventh.

This win was a personal matter with Hank Armintrout. The Ben Hur hurler held the Giants to six hits and drove in two runs with a pair of timely singles. While he was doing all this his mates finally got around to scoring five runs in the fifth to salt the game away.

Manager Head was the startling pitcher for the Giants. He did well enough for four innings, but in the fifth he yanked himself in favor of Cornell. Cornell failed to get under way and after he had retired one batter out of four and given up three hits, Submarine Crockett came onto the mound. Crockett pitched 2 and 1-3 innings and made a very creditable showing. Hope and Pyle did a lot of outfielding to help the Giants' pitching.

The Giants got one in the first with Allen doubled and scored on Lierman's muff of Seymore's throw of Pieken's grounder. They got a couple more in the second and seemed on the way to a win. The victors got away with one tally in their half of the third, which the Giants promptly nullified in their portion.

In the Ben Hur fifth nine men batted, and five runs scampered across the plate. At least two Giant rallies were crimped by a couple of snappy double plays engineered by the lodgemen. One of the double plays might as well have been a triple play, but it was slowed up too much. Half of the 10 hits of the winners were doubles, and one was a triple.

won the 90 meters in 46.3 seconds, easily leaving Eastman at the finish to shatter the world record.

Probably the worst blow given to a world's record was the performance of Bill Graber, U. S. C., in adding nearly three inches to Leo Barnes' pole vault mark. Graber hoisted himself 14 feet 4¾ inches.

Metcalfe and Tolan

In the sprints, two negro youths, Ralph Metcalfe of Marquette and Eddie Tolan of Michigan, blazed over the 100 and 200 meters in front of Kiesel, Wycoff, Dyer and the others. Metcalfe finished first in each event, trailed by Tolan and with George Simpson, Ohio, third.

Finla d's superiority in the distance races may be contested by Joe McCluskey, Fordham, who lopped 7.3 seconds off the 3,000-meters steeplechase record of Loukola of Finland, set at the Paris Olympics.

The Olympic Committee created a buzz of rumors by its action last night in removing Levi Casey, Los Angeles hop, step and jump artist, from the team "for reasons best known to the athlete." Casey won third in the event Saturday. His place will be filled by Sol Furth, Millrose Athletic Club, who placed fourth.

Legion-Elks Break Even in 2 Games July 19, 1931

Featuring tennis champions of the caliber of Yamagishi and Shildneck and golf stylists Clement, Al Thomas, and Longley, the All-University tennis and golf tourneys are raising lively campus interest as they approach the finals next week.

In the finals of the tennis doubles Shildneck and Yamagishi will meet Enochs and Ireneus at 4 o'clock Friday afternoon on the clay courts on Springfield Avenue beside the Old Gym. At the same time Butchart and Honey will play von Lebsten and Allen Roseberry for first place in the mixed doubles.

National Stars Featured

The play-off in the finals of the tennis singles with Yamagishi, the Japanese Davis Cup team alternate, and Shildneck, the tri-state champion from Nebraska, seeded one and two respectively, who are doped to meet in the finals, is scheduled for Saturday afternoon at 4 o'clock on the same clay courts by the Old Gym.

Both stars romped to victories Saturday afternoon to reach their brackets in the semi-finals. Yamagishi defeated Gottshalk, a strong faculty netman, 6-0, 6-1 while Shildneck won over Goss, 6-0, 6-0. Zillmer, Robertson, Dunn and Ireneus in the quarter-finals. Of these four perhaps Ireneus, former Illini varsity player, and Robertson, former Wabash tennis ace, are outstanding.

A. Thomas, Barber Star

In the golf play which has been bitterly contested every round with upsets becoming almost the rule, the finalists will compete in a play-off of 36 holes match play on Saturday. The tourney which was evenly divided into three flights is now in the semi-final round although Al Thomas by his victory over W. Johnson Thursday has reached the final bracket for flight A, while Barber gained the final round by defeating Stafford.

In the semi-finals in class A, Clement will meet Longley; in class B, Cassell will meet C. Thomas; in class C, Claypool will meet Ireneus and Roberts will meet Smith. Scores from the round play thus far indicate that the finalists of class A will shoot under 70 for each 18 holes, class B near 78, and class C below 86.

Al Thomas enters the finals of Class A as a possible favorite since he still retains the lowest tournament score made, a 68 for 18 holes in his qualifying round. However, indications are that Clement is dangerous and Longley is capable of giving him trouble.

Ireneus Versatile Ace

"Doc" Ireneus attains the distinction of surviving all competition in no less than three events, the finals in tennis doubles and quarter-finals in tennis singles and in golf.

The tournament trophy awards will be placed on display in Bailey and Himes' show window on Green Street. While the major interest is being centered on tennis and golf yet an All-University horseshoe tournament is proceeding in full swing, according to Hugh Enochs, manager. Bleachers may be set up to accommodate spectators for the finals in tennis Friday and Saturday afternoons.

HITS; WINS 4-0

ST. LOUIS, July 18.—(AP)—Bill Walker, New York Giant southpaw, had the Cardinals well tamed today and the visitors won the first game of the series, 4 to 0, to reduce the Cards' lead in the National League to four and a half games.

Walker allowed only two hits, one in the second inning and another in the sixth, and never was in serious danger of being scored upon. The Giants scored three of their runs off Burleigh Grimes and added another off Jim Lindsey, who pitched the ninth inning. Melvin Ott drove in two of the winners' runs with a home run and a single.

Manager John McGraw of the Giants was ordered off the bench by Umpire Clarke in the eighth inning for protesting a play.

The Elks and the Legion staged a double-header at Commercial League Park Saturday afternoon, and after 14 innings of play honors were all even. The Legion played like champions to win the first game, 4 to 1, and in the afterpiece the Elks blasted out a 9 to 3 victory, with the aid of some timely errors by the Legionnaires.

Ted Reid was on the mound for the Legion in the first game, and pitched a beautiful game. He throws from his port side, and turned back 12 Elks with three strikes on them, and limited the losers to a meagre four hits. Cornie Cornell was touched for eight hits, and in addition the Legion used the squeeze play to bring in two runners from third.

All Reid

Reid also displayed prowess with the bat, singling in the second with two men on the bases, to get in all the runs that were really needed. Then in the fifth, with Heinie Sauds on third, the lefthander laid down a perfect bunt, Heinie scoring with wraps on. The Legion looked as good in the first game as any team has looked this season, but slipped badly in the second game.

The Elks scored their only run of the first game in the first frame. With one away, Allen walked and scored on Lefty Saunder's line single into center. Things looked dreary for the Legion for the moment, but it was only a flash. The losers had but one man left on bases.

As enterprising as was Reid's showing in the initial game, Sharper Hope matched it in the second. The diminutive hurler allowed six hits, fanned five and walked none. In addition he drove in two runs, scored as many, and hit three times in three trips. What else could one ask of a pitcher?

Newcomers

Earl Walters started the second game for the Legion, and kept the opposition popping up with regularity, but his support faltered in the fourth after he had allowed five hits, which number coupled with two errors and a base on balls had netted six runs. Dyron Sheddonheim finished and allowed four hits and three runs in three and two-thirds innings.

Bob Scoby and Hope were the hitting stars for the winners. Bob hit two for four, and what Sharper did has already been recorded. Gabby Morris made his debut as catcher for Marion Green, and threw out base stealers with reckless abandon.

Ev Davis caught the second game for the Legion, the first effort he has made in league competition this season. His fine performance belied his years. Sarge Klinger was another newcomer this year, the doughty athletic officer gathering two hits, and fielding the shortstop position without a bobble.

SPLIT TWIN BILL

PITTSBURGH, July 18.—(AP)—Boston and Pittsburgh split even in a twin bill here today, the Pirates winning the first, 9 to 7, and the Braves blanking the locals in the second, 1 to 0.

In the opener the visitors used four pitchers in an effort to stop the Pirate bats. In the second Cantwell puzzled the buccaneers, allowing only six scattered hits, while his single, Maranville's walk and Worthington's double scored for the only run of the game.

EXPECT SHARKEY AND WALKER TO DRAW $300,000

NEW YORK, July 18.—(INS)—James (Kabbering) Johnston, who will promote the Jack Sharkey-Mickey Walker bout in Brooklyn next Wednesday in conjunction with the milk fund, predicted today that the receipts would exceed the $339,000 "gate" at the Schmeling-Stribling championship bout in Cleveland two weeks ago.

The advance sale totaled something like $70,000 this morning. Johnston estimated that the gate would be "upwards of $300,000." The winner will receive 30 percent of the net and the loser 20 percent.

"If the receipts come up to expectations the winner will receive more for his end than Schmeling got for defending his title against Stribling," observed the dapper boxing impresario. "You must consider that there will be no federal tax on the fight and that the training expenses will be less than they were for the Cleveland bout."

[illegible] recorded $166,600 for [illegible] by title. The govern[illegible] collected $17,000, training ex[illegible] paid [illegible] and [illegible] back [illegible] $70,000, the manager got one-third and Schmeling put the slug on [illegible] for another chunk as soon as [illegible] landed in the old country. # PASTIME AND PLAYMOR LOCK HORNS MONDAY

The Playmor nine and the Pastime team will furnish the attraction at the Twilight League park Monday afternoon. The Playmor boys have been going great guns lately, while Fallis Hart's squad has been having difficulities from time to time.

Ted Husby is the likely starting pitcher for the Playmors, and from past performance is the likely man to finish as well. Lyle Jochim or Bud Piper will probably do mound duty for the Pastimers. Bud has been having trouble with his control of late, but perhaps can overcome this as the season advances.

DETROIT FAILS TO HALT 'S; LOSE TILT, 6-5

DETROIT, Aug. 10.—(AP)—Despite an apparent revival of batting strength in Cleveland, the Tigers were unable to stop Philadelphia's pennant march today, losing by 6 to 5.

Bill Shores came to the rescue of Lefty Grove when the speed ball expert became wild in the sixth inning and received credit for the victory. Grove is finding his eighteenth elusive. Earl Whitehill, pulled for a pinch batsman in the eighth, was the loser.

The Athletics' victory was due to Al Simmons' twenty-fifth and twenty-sixth home runs of the season. His first came in the fifth with the bases empty and his second in the seventh with Cochrane on first. Both crossed the left field wall.

FINAL STANDINGS

| | W. | L. | Pct. |
|---|---|---|---|
| Green Street | 9 | 2 | .818 |
| Legion | 7 | 5 | .583 |
| Elks | 4 | 6 | .400 |
| Milk Co. | 2 | 9 | .182 |

Final averages released this week by officials of the Commercial League show that this year's teams were more closely matched than last year, despite the fact that the Green Street Merchants won the pennant by a margin of two full games.

The Merchants finished the season with a team batting average of .309, which was the best in the league and the Milk Co. team was last in club slugging with a mark of .205. The tailenders also made the most errors, 34, but the champions made 39, so in this respect there was not so much difference.

The Elks were second in team batting with an average of .290, and boasted the two leading hitters of the circuit in Pickens and Scoby. Ragged pitching and erratic fielding held the Elks back from the great showing of 1928, when they won the championship.

Few Miscues

The American Legion club made by far the fewest errors, with only 16 miscues in the entire season, but packed the wallop of the champions. .267 was the mark of the Legion, which was sufficient to carry the soldier club into second place for the second straight year.

The Milk Co. was a much improved team over 1928, batting 40 points better as a team and making nearly half as many errors as in the preceding season. The team won only two games, but tied one contest and was beaten by one run in three others. Victories were rung up over the champion Merchants and the second place Legion.

The standard of play over the season was excellent, and many games smacked of the quality of professional play. The Green Street Merchants, after a poor start, developed into the strongest club ever assembled in the history of the league, and rolled in ahead by a slim, but definite margin at the close of the season.

Following are the official averages:

Post Office Nine Loses Tilt, 11 to 4

The Urbana P. & E. team, with only seven regular players in the lineup, won out over the Post Office Friday evening, 11 to 4. Both teams played airtight ball for three full innings, Langhoff and Williams who both went the full route allowed but two scattered hits during that time. The Post Office got a hit in both the first and second frames only to be set down each time when they hit into a double play. The Post Office boys not to be entirely outdone likewise set the railroaders down with a double play after Stowe had led off with a single in the first.

Only nine men faced either hurler in the first three innings, but the Post Office got out in front for a brief time in their fourth with two runs when Chapman and W. Medrow hit safely, Funk and W. Medrow counting with the additional aid of two misplays.

Better Times

The railroaders went some better in their half when with two hits, a walk and a hit batsman they counted four tallies. They bunched four hits for three runs in their fifth and four more counted to make it a day, from four hits, a walk and two errors.

Clark Shobe sprained his left ankle sliding for the plate in the sixth and was sorely missed from the Typo lineup in their game with the Wildcats Saturday afternoon. He had been hitting over .300 the past several games and hit .666 in this game, Langhoff taking the honors.

The Post Office made two runs in their last bats when Langhoff showed up saving himself for the All Star game at the Three Eye league park at Danville Sunday afternoon.

INVITATION GOLF MEET CHAMPAIGN CLUB, AUGUST 29

The annual invitation golf tournament of the Champaign county Country club will be held August 29, John Prettyman, chairman of the affair, announced Saturday.

This tournament is open to golf players of Champaign-Urbana who are not affiliated with the Champaign or Urbana country clubs and any players outside the city.

This tournament usually attracts players from Farmer City, Paxton, Gibson City, Clinton, Tuscola, Monticello, Mattoon, LeRoy and many other towns. Then there is usually a large group of local players who use the University and Kenwood courses who enter the meet.

Mr. Prettyman urges that all players present their club handicap when signing up on August 29. "The players must obtain from their clubs a handicap to be used in this meet," said Prettyman. "If they are unable to obtain a handicap they may turn in their five best scores and we will arrive at a handicap."

There will be prizes for low net individual, low gross individual, low net team and low gross team.

PIRATES SPLIT DOUBLEHEADER WITH BROOKLYN

BROOKLYN, Aug. 10.—(AP)—The Pirates divided a double-header with the Robins here today, winning the first game by 6 to 4, but yielding to Dazzy Vance in the nightcap by 6 to 3. Jess Petty was batted from the box in the seventh round of the opener, but got credit for the victory. Watson Clark pitched four hitless innings before weakening.

Vance was in trouble frequently, but tightened in the pinches, the Robins drove Henry Meine from the box in the fourth and retained a lead to the end. Heatline hit a homer in the first game and Sheely in the second.

Comorosky was all-around star in the first game with three hits, two steals and sensational fielding. He leaped high into the air to rob Bressler of a home run.

The Cubs defeated Boston and increased their lead by half a game to seven full contests. The Pirate loss was really greater, however, as Chicago gained a game in the losing column, where the margin now is eight games.

The Colored Elks and their dangerous war clubs rest at the top of the Commercial league standings after a season of hectic, eventful baseball. The Elks took the championship in an impressive fashion at West Side park yesterday afternoon, downing Montrose Hull's Legionnaires, 7 to 0 in the one game that decided the 1928 race.

Elks Take Early Lead

Many times in the past, the Elks have blown sky-high when they were represented with a chance at the championship. Yesterday, however, they got off in the lead and when the Elks lead, they play like the Yankees or like McGraw has had his Giants playing during the past month.

After making two errors in the first half of the opening inning and causing apprehension among the 2,000 fans who crowded about the field, the Elks came back in their half and pounded four runs across Frank Hull helping things along with an error at the plate. Monty Hull was holding the pitching.

Monty was also pitching the second inning. The Elks started out again and drove in three more runs before the Legion pilot decided that his stuff was too weak to cope with the Elk war clubs. Finally, Monty vacated the hill and Mr. Carroll took over the work. Carroll proceeded to hold the Elks scoreless during the rest of the game.

Legion Hitters Stopped

Legion had many chances to score but the Elks fielded well behind their shut-out pitcher, Head. Scooby swiped three bases and made a throw while flat on the ground which eclipsed all Commercial league fielding stunts. Drake also played well for the new champions.

BIG BILL AIRS HIS VIEWS ON NET QUESTION

New York, Aug. 23.—(United Press)—William T. Tilden II, captain of the 1928 Davis Cup team, will not appear before the executive committee of the United States Lawn Tennis association Friday night when the committee considers that he violated the player-writer rule.

In a letter to Samuel H. Collom, president of the association, made public yesterday by Collom, Tilden said he would be unable to be in the city because business demanded his presence elsewhere, and asked Collom to present his side of the case to the committee.

The charge that he violated the player-writer clause of the amateur rule arose after two newspaper articles bearing his signature appeared during the tournaments at Wimbledon, England.

"I state that I did not intentionally violate or attempt to evade the spirit or letter of the rule, and that to the best of my knowledge the articles under dispute did not violate the

URBANA P. & E. OUTCLASSED BY I. H. BELTERS

In a New York Central lines semi-final elimination series game at the P. & E. park yesterday afternoon, the Indiana Harbor Belt railroad nine of Hammond, Ind., completely outclassed the Urbana P. & E. nine, winning by the decisive score of 5 to 0.

Patterson started on the mound for the local nine and altho he was hit rather freely, he did not receive the support from his mates that he deserved. After two were away in the first, Sanderson was safe at first on an error, Stevenson singled and Williams followed with a long double to score Sanderson and Stevenson.

They scored another in the second when Griffin led off with a single and Zimmerman followed with a double.

Adding three more in the third, they put the game on ice when Sanderson and Stevenson led off with singles, McFarland threw out Williams at first, but Wente came thru with a double to score the two mates ahead of him. Wente scored later when the P. & E. nine blew up, committing two errors in this inning.

The Hoosiers concluded their scoring in the fourth by adding two more runs on two singles and an error. A fast double play by the P. & E. nine stopped the I. H. B. in this inning.

In the fifth and sixth innings Patterson pitched nice ball, allowing only one hit, while six men faced him. Langhoff took up the burden at the beginning of the seventh and finished the game by allowing only one hit.

The Urbana men were unable to hit the offerings of Sanderson. Six was their total number of hits and Tom Koontz connected for two of them. In addition, he was the only man to get as far as second base.

On the defense, both shortstops had a busy afternoon, Tryban handling seven chances while McFarland made two putouts and ten assists.

Zuppmen Seek Hard Work to Prep for Grid

Whatever advantage hard manual labor can furnish as a body conditioner will be possessed by prospective University of Illinois football players when they report to Coach Robert Zuppke at the first practice session on September 15. Ice wagon constructing jobs, farm and other more or less strenuous forms of labor attracted their share of gridders who wish to be in the pink of physical condition.

Frank Walker, the elusive little half back from Urbana, who showed his heels to Big Ten foes last year, is following the profession Red Grange made famous by delivering ice to the housewives of his home town. J. H. Clements, a prospective end, has a similar job at Taylorville.

Stuessy Fixes Autos.

Dwight Stuessy, the diminutive Woodstock gridder, who is expected to call signals again this season, has been employed in an automobile factory in Detroit. Jud Timm, perhaps the best ball carrier in the Big Ten last year, has been developing a strong straight arm for would be tacklers by wrestling a heavy truck over the roads at Twin Falls, Idaho.

Russ Crane, Illinois' all-American guard, and K. E. Fields, a reserve back of 1927, have been spending the summer in camps in the Wisconsin woods. L. S. Burdick, a sophomore, who made good at tackle last season, has been strengthening his broad shoulders by carrying a hod on a construction job in Champaign, and Fritz Humbert, Zuppke's fullback, did the same at Galva. L. J. Wicks, guard, and D. W. Roush, a prospective lineman, have been employed with a construction gang at Harvey and Champaign.

Jolley a Farmer.

Bud Jolley, end, has been employed on a farm near Monticello, Ind., and other farm workers have been S. L. Bodman and G. T. Bicanich, last year freshman players, who are considered as varsity material.

Ken Delmling, another end, worked his way to Amsterdam to see the Olympics. A. E. Wolgast, another wing man, worked in a steel locker plant at Aurora. E. S. Winsper, a back, hardened his running muscles by delivering mail in Cleveland, O.

Doug Mills, Zuppke's punter, surveyed for the state high way commission. Pete Yanuskus, freshman back, worked as a shipping clerk at Kewanee. E. P. Chattin, freshman quarterback, worked with a gas pipeline gang in Kentucky, and T. N. Huddleston, a 243-pound yearling guard, attended summer school here and operated a filling station on the side.

Hundreds of baseball fans are expected to pack the Commercial League baseball park Wednesday evening when the Colored Elks and American Legion nine play for the 1928 championship. The teams go into their last game tied for the lead, Legion having beaten the Sanitary Milkmen 13 to 3 on Saturday to pull up even with the Elks who had beaten Green Street three days earlier to take a lead of one-half game.

Both teams are expected to use ace pitchers in the titular contest. Dunbar, will probably take the mound for the Legion, while Head, winner of many a commercial league tilt for the colored athletes, will oppose him.

Green Street and the Sanitary Milkmen will wind-up the season on Saturday. Nothing will be at stake, however, for the Milkmen are already assured of finishing last with a standing of one game won and ten lost.

The Milkmen had no chance in Saturday's game. They were tied with the Legion 1-1 going into the sixth, but in that frame the Veterans pounded over two runs. They followed with six in the next inning and two in each of the last two frames. Frank Hull and Dunbar led the hitters with three safeties apiece.

(By United Press)

Danville, Ill., Aug. 20 - Piloting his "Century 69" over the four mile course in five minutes and 55 seconds, to win the second heat of class D for outboard motorboats, Ralph Harrington, Wilmette, Ill., thrilled the thousands that gathered along the banks of Lake Vermilion here yesterday to witness the annual regatta sponsored by the Walnut Hill Motorboat club. Herrington's time in the second heat of the event, which he won in straight heats, was the fastest of the day.

Ray Dergen, Peoria, Ill., raced "Miss Chief" to victory in the class C event for outboard motors, nosing out "Sassafras Kid" in the second heat to earn the win. "Sassafras Kid" led the way in the first heat, but finished behind the Peoria entry in the second heat, developing motor trouble.

"The Spirit of Cincinnati," controlled by J. C. Fisher, roared to victory in the class B division for outboard motor boats in straight heats, with "Miss Chief" of Peoria finishing second.

"Dinky Spray," piloted by Clarence Carter, Chicago, won the "QTQ" division without much trouble. "Miss Danville" was the only other boat to push the Chicago racer, finishing second in both heats.

The outboard motor boats raced over a four-mile course while the boats in the "151" division traveled a ten-mile route.

Charles Peacock, Danville, racing in his "Bullet" in the outboard motor races, was the only one to encounter serious mishap during the day. In the first heat of the class D event his boat turned over and in the second heat the boat again turned over, breaking the steering wheel. Peacock suffered a few minor bruises, but was brought to shore by the launch patrolling the lake in the wake of the racers.

The Champaign Colored Elks continued their furious hitting in the comercial league yesterday afternoon and bowled over the Green Street Merchants 6 to 3 while 1,200 spectators looked on. The victory gave the Elks the undisputed leadership of the league, their margin now being one-half game over the Legion baseballers.

Green Street received unsteady pitching from Pos Lewis and three infield errors did no great good for the losers. The winners scored in every inning but the third, Pickens counting the first run in the opening frame by clouting out a long homer.

McDonald paced the hitters with three singles in four trips to the plate.

The Legion nine can go into a tie for the league lead on Saturday by defeating the Sanitary Milkmen. In case the Vets win, the league championship will be at stake next Wednesday when the leaders meet for the last time this season. Box score:

Dear Hattie,

I write today with a special request for help related to baseball history and your father As you know, over the past 10 plus years, I had the good fortune to work closely with Doris Hoskins on her history projects and as a result, she asked me to organize her archive of material and continue her work. Without her guidance however, I am dependent on people like you to help me identify faces and fill in the blanks.

We plan to once again publish two African American history newsletters this year and our focus this year will be on the players and teams of the Corn Belt League and the Eastern Illinois League. From my work with Doris' archive and with the newspaper microfilm at the Urbana archive, I am learning so much and enjoying my discoveries. Enclosed you will find two photos that I believe include your father. As I try to match faces, I believe the men on each end of three players is Robert Taylor and Rubavent Utley, but I do not know the middle man – maybe Eddie Baker?

It is my hope that you will be willing to help me broaden my search by allowing me to copy any articles and pictures you might have related to your father and his baseball career and identifying other players and relatives who might be willing to talk to me as well.

I will give you a call in the coming days and look forward to an opportunity to talk to you personally.

Respectfully,

Cheryl Kennedy

Dear Rosalind,

I write today with a special request for help related to Snapper Johnson and local baseball history. We plan to publish two African American history newsletters this year focusing on baseball. From my work with Doris Hoskins' archive and with the newspaper microfilm at the Urbana Archive, I am learning so much and enjoying my discoveries. Enclosed you will find the photo of Snapper with the Red Sox however I know he had a long career with various local teams and in various positions.

It is my hope that you will be willing to help me broaden my search by allowing me to copy any articles and pictures you might have related to baseball and identifying other players or their family members who might be willing to talk to me as well.

I would also like to talk to you about Mr. Young's photos and history. We scanned these photos a number of years ago for Doris and I discovered the photo album was still with her other materials. She asked me to finish her work and thus I would like to return the photo album to you and make sure that we have the background information to tell Mr. Young's story.

I will give you a call in the coming days and look forward t an opportunity to talk to you personally.

Sincerely,

Cheryl Kennedy

Pete is an excellent person and well known for his involvement in Kiwanis little league in the black community. He started a league on the north end called First String. He grew up in Champaign/Urbana and has played baseball since he was a kid. I'm not sure about his experiences as a young kid, but I played charity ball with him for many years when I was at Channel 3. He and his wife, Debra, have been committed to providing kids with the chance to play baseball in north Champaign for many years.

He works as an engineer at WCIA. His home phone number is 344-7303. His work number is 356-8333.

HI Sharla,

So good to see you yesterday. Everyone misses you! Could you again share your thoughts on Pete McFarland? I think this is a great idea.

I am really approaching this effort from a lot of different directions – seeing lots of community connections past baseball - and learning and enjoying it a lot. I see tremendous potential for involvement at many levels.

Hi Alicia,

I have created a list of names from the pictures and articles I have discovered in Doris' archive and at the Urbana archives. I'm looking for people who are familiar with these family names - through work or through Church, for example. If they see a name they know, would they follow through to find out if there is a connection and does the family have pictures or articles on these baseball players? For example, on Saturday, Betty Hassell told me that Phyllis Clark was a Powell and one of the men in the photo was her father. We also talked about Snapper Johnson - he is the father of her brother's wife.

If they are willing to loan their material to us, we can copy any articles and scan any photos to become a part of the Archive and information for the newsletter.

Thanks,

Cheryl

Sunday evening, Feb. 26, 2003

Dear Cheryl;

I have talked to several individuals now about your baseball project and have had good response, I'm happy to say.

I've asked each one for permission to share their phone numbers with you and received their consent. That way you can talk to them directly, rather than me being a " go-between". I have four so far, and their names are:

1. Ralph Loschen Ph. 694-4137 2472 Co. Rd. 2100 E, Thomasboro, Il. 61878

2. Ehm Franzen Ph. 469-2615 1935 Co. Rd. 2000E , St. Joseph, Il. 61873
Note- Ehm is pronounced "Aim".

3. Mitchell Osterbur Ph. 694-4349 2235 Co. Rd. 2300E, St. Joseph, Il. 61873

4. Herbert Osterbur Ph. 583-3063 303 Benjamin, Box 74, Royal, Il. 61871

These gentlemen have many stories to share, as well as photos, clippings, etc. I'm sure they can also lead you to people from other communities such as Buckley, Tuscola, Ivesdale and others who were involved, and who may be able to help you even more.

A friend in Royal has already given me some photos and clippings, and I need to look through our own scrapbooks also. Sometime I will get those to you.

I really feel this could develop into a sizeable and worthwhile project for you, and as I make more contacts I will report to you.

I have some reservations about sending this information via E-mail, so am sending it by letter.

Irene and I were upset to read about the court proceedings regarding those responsible for our dear friend Otto Haack's death. We feel the sentences are much too lenient. What a shame!

Sincerely,

Ernest

Yes, you can give her my email address. Here's a few more memories of Snap and myself and the times we spent in sports.

I remember how "Snap" got his introduction into officiating youth sports, in particular baseball I remember very clearly, during my Little League days, I was play for a team called "Webb's Drive Inn." In one game, on a close call, the umpire had called me out but Snap thought I had beaten the throw and should have been called "safe!" After arguing with the umpire, (rather profusely and loudly), the umpire turned to him and said, "Snapper, if you think you could do better job of umpiring, the job is open." Of course, during that time, and still today, all positions of supervision and leadership (including umpires) was a voluntary position. At any rate, the first time Snapper umpired a game in which I was playing, (and every subsequent time thereafter) he always reminded me that if the pitcher threw the ball anywhere near the strike zone, I had better be swinging at it because he was going to call it a strike. He commented, "I don't want your opponents thinking I'm giving you a break just because you are my son." I used to hate it whenever he was umpiring the games I was playing in, but I have to admit, it made me a much better hitter. Snap's philosophy for ballplayers was its more desirable to go down swinging than to be called out on a third strike.

In the mid-60s, after being discharged from the Navy, Snap introduced me to umpiring baseball. I remember one Sunday he told me to put on a pair of black slacks a white shirt. I thought we were preparing to go to church. We hopped in his old jalopy and rode for hours, finally pulling up in a cornfield. We walked for what seemed like a mile through the corn field until we came upon a sprawling baseball field. He instructed me to go down to first base and if the runner made it safely to first base, I was to move to the area of second base and may my calls from that position. I took a lot of heat from the players and coached, because I would stop after each call I had made and run to Snap to get his assurance that I had made the correct call. Snap told me I had to stop that, because the coached would begin criticizing every call I made. He was absolutely right? I decided even on questionable calls I made, I wouldn't change the call.

Usually, we were paid a hefty sum of $50.00 for every nine inning game we worked. After several games of officiating with Snapper, I asked him why did he keep $35.00 while he only giving me $15.00. It his answer was brief. "Because I work every game behind the plate. When you are ready to work behind the plate, you can take 35 dollars and I'll get the fifteen." Needless to say, it wasn't long after that, I boldly took the job of umpiring behind the plate.

At that particular stage in my young adult life, I was concerned more with how I looked rather than how well I officiated. I would comb my beard incessantly, after every play, especially on hot and windy days. One coach remarked, "Hey Snapper, what's Abe Lincoln going to do? Is he going to call the game or comb his beard all day?"

Roz, let me say that the Eagles team manager/owner was the infamous Waddell "Jack" Jackson. Known in the day for his control of illegal gambling operations in the CU area. Visiting crowds and local spectators would came to see game, would also be entertained by the infamous "Jack," walking up and down first and third baselines, wearing a extra long sports coat with Captain Kangaroo pockets filled to the brim with hot, delicious fried chicken, cooked at the park by his sister, Flossie. Jack would occasionally stop long enough to bet anyone within earshot that his beloved Eagles baseball team could out hit, out run and outscore any other team in the Central Illinois Baseball League. Jack's truly believed that the Eagles Baseball team was unbeatable.

"Snapper," also referred to on the ball field as "Clam Hands, had the ability to catch a hard hit baseball with his bare hands as easily as most could catch it with a glove. There was a noticeable sense of pride in displaying his withered hands to anyone who questioned why every knuckle on both fingers were broken or crippled.

Snapper played both as a baseball infielder and outfielder. As his children were aging and themselves becoming actively involved in sports, Snap promised Mom that he would retire and hang up his cleats for good. The truth is, when the fellows would come by the house encouraging him to play "just one more," he would invariably ask me or Kenneth to sneak in the house to get his glove and baseball cleats that were hidden in the closet. The reward for pulling such a caper was that we would be allowed to travel with the team, trekking to one of the small farm towns for the day and land the best jobs available, the batboys.

Snapper and his teammates would play nine innings of baseball in the daylight hours, often double headers, until darkness forced them to quit and then he would pitch softball until late in the evening, under a lighted field. Although we were not old enough to understand or grasp the meaning at the time, after the games it was routine procedure for Snap and the guys to stop for a cold beer at the American Legion or one of the local bars. On one occasion, I remember Snap and his all-white teammates trying to decide which bar they wanted to stop at to have a drink. When the majority decided, I remember Snap proclaiming, "I can't go in that bar!" Speaking as if it was one voice, each team member simeuttaneousely remarded, "Well, Snapper, if you can go in, we wont go in

Hi Rosalind,

I am sort of like a bad penny - as I just seem to keep rolling back, but I am looking for some help.

First, I have attached the text as it is evolving for the newsletter. I have some interviews set with some of the E. I. League players from the Flatville Royal area to get details on the E. I. League and the Corn Belt League. All played with the League - one is 90 and the man who is 80 began playing with the League when he was 15 (1925). The plan is to include some history on the league - the towns that played in the league and the parks where they played in Champaign, i.e. West Side park, Dixie park - I will need to research Dixie park - and then Cheryl, from sunny Yuma, Arizona, good mornings! First, let me say how appreciative we all are that you have taken on this humungous task and how proud we are to be asked to provide our memories of Snap and contribute our recollections of his involvement in the sports arena. I didn't realize how many thoughts I had stored somewhere in my subconscious. It gave me the time to reflect and really think about how involved and influential he had been in my life. So, anything I can add (or clarify) as you go along, please feel free to let me know.

My heartfelt thanks to you, Rosalind, for harassing your brothers and sisters for information and stories - this is exactly what I am looking for. I chuckled all night long.

I will use the story about Snapper catching the ball with his bare hands, sneaking out to play ball, etc. in the first newsletter as we begin telling the story and use later memories and experiences in the next newsletter as we move in to the 50s and 60s. As I pull together more of the pieces, I will email the content to you for your review.

I am also working with a group that will put on a baseball game - young kids - on Father's Day to raise funds to help with the First String program and to clean up the diamond at Douglass Park. We plan to have a small exhibit at the Center or library at that time - so everything you share will be used in some format, and then we plan for a much larger exhibit about the E. I. League and team play throughout this area at the museum in 2007. Our work on this effort will continue all year.

I look forward to receiving many more memories and an opportunity to meet you all in person some day. Thanks again for sharing your personal stories.

P.S. Is "Snapper" a name earned through baseball like "Clam Hands?"

Would I be pushy if I said I would like to talk to them if they are willing as well. Maybe we could set a day, time, and place to meet and talk. I could bring our tape recorder. I believe Lincoln Square seems to have open tables off to the side of the walkway leading to the hotel that could put us out of the traffic area – if there is such a thing as traffic at Lincoln Square these days.

We plan to publish two African American history newsletters focusing on baseball this year – and we are continuing to build on Doris Hoskins' archive of African American history. We want to do an exhibit at Douglass Center or Library. We will be doing a presention on the play Fences – about a Negro League player and we are working to put together a youth baseball game at Douglass Park in recognition of the baseball history there. Hattie Paulk talked about trying to get pictures of the early players embedded in a sidewalk at Douglass Park. But to begin this effort we must gather stories, pictures and articles.

We certainly appreciate any and all help you can provide!
